THE EARLY FISHERMAN GETS A TROUT

India Recognizes Rebel East Pakistan Government

Victory Claims By Both Sides; Fighting Steps Up

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

India recognized the Bangla Desh rebel government of East Pakistan today and reported its troops, with almost total air supremacy, were moving rapidly through East Pakistan in hopes of a quick victory.

India reported major victories in southern Kashmir where it said a Pakistani tank force was defeated with destruction of 23 Pakistani tanks and said its air force struck the harbor at Karachi again today and found the waterfront in flames.

Pakistan Radio reported it had captured up to 20 Indian border posts and carried out widespread air attacks against Indian military positions and air fields and reported victories in the Poonch sector of western Kashmir.

Radio Pakistan said its air force and navy had shot down a total of 77 Indian ajrcraft since the war began on Friday. It reported attacks against 10 Indian bases during the night and said planes today attacked the Indian naval base at Okha, near the Rann of ,Kutch. Pakistani sources in Karachi said 71 civilians had been killed and 215 wounded in Indian air raids.

All-India Radio said five Pakistani planes approached the city of Bombay tonight and that Indian antiaircraft guns went into action and drove them off. The broadcast said two alerts were sounded for 20 minutes tonight but that there had been no attack.

Most of the victory claims came from India, especially in East Pakistan where it reported new bombings of Pakistani ports and said East Pakistan was now isolated from resupply by West Pakistan. The capital city of Dacca has been cut off from its supply routes, India reported.

Two waves of Indian planes carried out low level bombing and strafing attacks of Dacca's international airport today, imperiling but not hurting a group of 10 British women and children who had just arrived there for evacuation aboard a United Nations mercy flight.

Another group of 250 American and other refugees in the Inter-continental Hotel in Dacca took refuge in the hotel corridors and were not hurt. The U.N. has asked for a two-hour cease-fire to permit two chartered U.N. planes to fly in from Bangkok.

India's decision to recognize the rebel Bangla Desh government was announced in Parliament in New Delhi. Members began cheering and thumping their desks even before Prime Minister Indira Gandhi finished her announcement.

The India-Pakistan war stems from the decision of Pakistani President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan last march to bring in West Pakistani troops to put down a rebellion by the Bangla Desh movement which declared itself independent of West Pakistan. The Awami League in East Pakistan had won a majority in the Pakistani Parliament in elections late last year but Yahya Khan prevented the League from taking its seats.

There was rebellion, civil war and the flight of 10 million refugees into India. India called the flight of the refugees a threat to Indian security and gave moral support to the Bangla Desh.

Today, Mrs. Gandhi told Parliament: "Now that Pakistan is waging war on us, the hesitation which the government was feeling in according recognition to the Bangla Desh government has lost significance."

She did not break relations with the military government in Rawalpindi but Pakistan immediately broke off diplomatic relations with India. Although they had been fighting a major war, neither had severed diplomatic relations.

U.S. Is Neutral — Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon stressed today a U.S. position of strict neutrality in the India-Pakistan war.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said following a meeting with Nixon that the President emphasized the United States must maintain "absolute neutrality" and not become "physically involved in any way."

Nixon briefed congressional leaders at the White House on the fighting between Indian and Pakistani troops in both East and West Pakistan. Scott said Secretary of State William P. Rogers would give lawmakers a further briefing at the Capitol Tuesday.

The leaders gave newsmen a cautiously couched account of their meeting with Nixon amid reports from the battle areas that Indian and Pakistani rebel troops were rapidly overrunning Pakistani government defenses in East Pakistan.

Mansfield, emphasizing he was speaking for himself and not the President, expressed hope that the Soviet Union and Communist China could help bring about a cease-fire. While the United States is remaining neutral, China is supporting Pakistan and Russia supporting India.

Attorney Group Charged In Causing Prison Unrest

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Rafael attorney, who earlier this year was sent to jail for five days for contempt of court, has been named by the state attorney general as one of a group of leftist attorneys fomenting unrest in prisons.

Lawrence G. Weiss's conduct has been referred to the State Bar Association for possible action, according to Attorney General Evelle Younger.

In a 69-page brief filed with the State Supreme Court, Younger said a small group of lawyers has been violating the law by getting unauthorized mail to prisoners.

Much of this is revolutionary in nature and its effect, Younger said, is like putting a match to a situation with "the explosive potential of a tinderbox California hillside in the autumn. . ."

Younger also named attorneys Faye Stender of Berkeley, Patrick Hallinan of San Francisco and several of Mrs. Stender's associates and accused them of personally delivering contraband mail to prisoners.

Weiss's name figured in discussion of a letter Younger said was delivered to Louis N. Talamantez, one of the San Quentin inmates accused of murder in the Aug. 21 escape attempt, in which three guards and three prisoners were slain.

Younger said the letter was from someone named " Estella" and read in part:

"After the court session, I was speaking with Larry (Lawrence Weiss, Younger suggested) about your possible release and he told me quite militantly that the only way you would come out is through a kidnap-ransom situation."

Weiss had asked for and been given a court appointment to represent Talamantez in a case in which the inmate is accused of assaulting another prisoner in March 1970.

At the beginning of an abortive start to try Talamantez on this charge, Weiss unsuccessfully sought to remove Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court from the case.

When Talamantez interrupted the proceedings, the judge threatened to remove him from the courtroom. The lawyer then said the judge shouldn't be hearing the case and stormed out of the courtroom.

Judge Gardiner removed Weiss from the case and held the lawyer in contempt, fining him $500 and sending him to jail for five days.

Younger filed the brief naming the attorneys in a lawsuit brought by a Folsom Prison inmate, Robert Charles Jordan Jr., last year, charging that new prison regulations prohibiting sealed letters between inmates and their attorneys were unconstitutional.

The case is being appealed to the Supreme Court.

Younger said the regulations were necessary because they were the only way to prevent correspondence involving plots or other "improper correspondence."

As proof, he attached a list of exhibits including letters he said were improperly delivered to prisoners by Mrs. Stender, Hallinan and several of Mrs. Stender's associates.

Both Mrs. Stender and Hallinan vigorously have denied they improperly delivered letters, and Weiss was not available today for comment.

$2.5 Billion Pared Aid Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Appropriations Committee, hoping to break a logjam that has delayed congressional adjournment, approved today a foreign aid bill carrying $1 billion less than the administration requested

At the same time, the panel offered the possibility of further cuts by including an amendment that would bar economic and military assistance to India and Pakistan until they stopped fighting.

The committee recommended to the House $2.57 billion be provided for overseas aid during the fiscal year that began last July 1. President Nixon had

Orr Hearing Told Clerk's Orders Broke Police Command Chain

Fired Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr frequently used police clerk Marsha S. Kittelman — rather than his watch commanders — to issue orders to officers, thus breaking down the department's chain of command, a police sergeant testified in the latest hearing into Orr's dismissal. (Story on Mrs. Kittelman, page 12.)

Sgt. Melvin Dollahite testified Saturday that standard operating rules in effect when he joined the Fairfax force seven years ago included a chain of command, but that Orr often ignored it, issuing orders through Mrs. Kittelman instead.

Dollahite said, however, that Mrs. Kittelman had never tried to give him orders because "we had an understanding. She doesn't tell me what to do and, to my knowledge, never supersedes my orders."

The sergeant also said that Mrs. Kittelman's frequent absence from her desk left officers in the field unable to communicate by radio with the office.

Dollahite was among witnesses Saturday during inquisition into the operation of the police department before the Fairfax Board of Review to which Orr has appealed his firing.

The quasi-judicial proceedings in the wood paneled auditorium of the Fairfax Women's Club were a blend of informality and deadly earnestness as Dollahite and another witness, Patrolman James Davis, submitted to direct examination by City Atty. Wallace S. Myers and cross-examination by Orr's attorney, Leonard Shaw.

Dollahite backed up Davis's complaint that Davis had once been threatened by Orr, but — like Davis — Dollahite was unable to furnish details of the threat or of what gave rise to it, merely presenting a tableau in which Orr stood over Davis with his fists clenched.

Dollahite said the chief did not appear to be intoxicated, but he could not recall what Orr said to the patrolman. Davis asked him, Dollahite said, "what it was all about" after the episode ended.

Earlier Saturday, Davis had said he couldn't recall what Orr

Four San Francisco Unions Place Pickets At I-J Building

Four San Francisco unions that walked out in January, 1970, in sympathy with the typographical union which struck the Independent-Journal, began picketing the newspaper today, asking to return to work.

Seven pickets appeared outside the I-J building shortly before 9 a.m. vowing that picketing would continue until contracts are signed with the four unions that supported the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

They carried signs and passed out statements accusing the paper of trying to wipe out the unions. "The I-J chooses conflict instead of harmony. It substitutes its own dictatorial, high-handed treatment for fair even-handed, across-the-table negotiations," the document from the Newspaper Unity Committee of the unions charged.

The paper's general manager, Norwin S. Yoffie, said the paper will not negotiate with the four unions because they no longer represent employees.

The four are stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Union 29, Lithographers and Photoengravers International Union, Local 280, San Francisco Web Pressmen's Union 4 and Newspaper and Periodical Drivers and Helpers Local 921. All are located in San Francisco.

The unions received strike sanction Saturday from the Marin County Labor Council, according to John A. O'Leary, secretary of the stereotypers' and electrotypers' union. Today's picketing was the first since September.

The four unions asked to return in early October, shortly after the 20-month typographical union strike was declared ended by the National Labor Relations Board. (The board's Sept. 27 ruling followed unanimous rejection of the union by the I-J's composing room employees in a representation election.)

Yoffie's response to the October requests was: "As you know, all strikers have been replaced, and these include your members who went out on strike along with the LTU (typographers). There are no openings at the present time."

Pickets today circled the I-J building with signs claiming the unions had been locked out and censuring the paper for refusing to negotiate.

"We'd like to get back to work," one picket said. He said the unions are asking for contracts similar to those signed with other papers.

Contracts with the unions would have expired last winter, had they not already been abrogated when the unions' members had not walked off the job the year before, Yoffie said.

Yoffie said that due to changes in the operation of the paper, jobs held by the drivers and the stereotypers no longer exist.

The paper's figures indicate that of the total payroll of 185 persons, about 14 drivers, 10 or 11 pressmen, five stereotypers and one photoengraver refused to work during the typographical union strike. About six members of the four unions continued to work.

Some of the strikers from the four unions resigned following January of 1970 to take other jobs.

O'Leary and Frank Willie, secretary of the web pressmen's union, each said the unions walked out almost two years ago in sympathy with the typographers, not because of any grievance.

Members of the four unions and the typographical union appeared at the paper Aug. 19 to ask for their jobs back. They said then they were responding to a presidential call to end strikes and lockouts.

STRIKERS — Two pickets representing four striking San Francisco unions march around the Independent-Journal building. They were among seven pickets that began circling the paper today saying they want to recover jobs for about 30 union men who had been honoring the picket lines of San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

had said, other than, "If you feel I've insulted you, stand up."

Both witnesses described morale in the department as "low" during Orr's regime, and both criticized the way orders were relayed, evidence was held for safekeeping, radio procedures, training and alleged favoritism shown by Orr to Mrs. Kittelman.

During Dellahite's testimony, it was revealed that Orr unsuccessfully had sought city funds to rebuild the evidence room, even ordering photographs made of it to show the city council. Firemen and "every city employee" had access to the room, the board of review was told.

After Orr was fired by City Administrator Robert E. Crowe on Sept. 30, the evidence room was demolished and is being rebuilt, the city review board learned to its surprise. Board member Alfred F. Daubenfeld asked, as the session neared its end, if Dollahite could show the board the room.

"The evidence locker is being torn down," Crowe explained.

Dollahite said he might be able to locate the photos in department files.

During Dollahite's first stint on the stand — he will return when the hearing resumes at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow — the board for the first time got into another of the 26 charges Crowe brought against Orr. The chief had left the scene of a stake-out against a rumored shoot-out "at an unspecified time" for half an hour, and then returned and told other officers he'd had two or three drinks at a nearby home, Crowe said.

Dollahite could not recall the date of the episode, but said about seven Fairfax policemen including Orr had set up the stakeout to nip rumored plans for a burglary by a gang armed with shotguns."

Orr had left the hidden officers to visit the home of George Pagni, Dollahite recalled. At that time, Pagni was either mayor or a councilman, it was pointed out by Leonard B. Shaw, Orr's attorney.

"I did not observe any evidence of alcohol" when Orr returned to the stake-out, Dollahite said.

The officer, a seven-year veteran of the force, was promoted to sergeant in August. Asked to cite reasons for his claim of low morale in the department, he replied, "Failure on the chief's part to praise officers who'd done a good job," citing the case of Officer Jack Cooper who had received a commendation.

Since Orr's firing, Dollahite said, operating rules have been rewritten by the acting chief, Lt. Charles Grasso, and the three sergeants. The patrolmen received the new rules Friday, Dollahite said.

Black Intellectuals In Marin Conference

About 20 black intellectuals and activists from all over the U.S. as well as one from Canada gathered during the weekend at a three-day retreat in Mill Valley.

A spokesman for the Black World Foundation, headquartered in Sausalito, which called the conference, declined to name the exact location of the retreat but said it was in a private home.

The discussion centered around "where we are now and where do we want to go," the spokesmen said. She added that persons with knowledge in fields such as economics, politics, culture, ecology education, the family and military-technology, gave their views.

Following the retreat, one of the participants, Chuck Stone, told a press conference that "we're now in the phase of black consolidation."

Stone said the development of a collective black leadership was in "healthy" contrast to the "previous phase. . . of the single charismatic leader like Martin Luther King or a Whitney Young."

Dr. Nathan Hare, former black studies director at San Francisco State College and now president of the Black World Foundation, hailed the retreat as "one first step in a new and emerging role for black intellectuals toward a black cultural renaissance."

sought a $3.6 billion appropriation.

House leaders said the bill would be brought to the floor later in the week, despite the fact that Congress has not yet enacted a foreign aid authorization. Normally, an authorization —which sets a ceiling on spending —must come before an appropriation.

However sources said the Senate was unlikely to go along with what was generally interpreted as an attempted end-run around a battle being waged by Senate opponents of the administration's Vietnam policy.

The doves are insisting on keeping an end-the-war amendment in the foreign aid authorization. Besides tying up that legislation, the conflict has stymied adjournment plans and imperiled prospects for passage of the first major election campaign reform in 46 years.

Reed Schools Will Name Panel Members

The Reed School District board will appoint members to two committees — the sixth, seventh and eighth grade and the small schools fact-finding committees — when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Bel Aire School.

The board also will consider a request by the City of Tiburon which wants to use the music room at Del Mar for city council and other meetings.

Novato Will Get Report On Airports

The Novato City Council will hear a report on airport studies by the Association of Bay Area Governments at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown suggested the report because the study relates to the future of aviation in Marin and Novato is concerned with both Hamilton Air Force Base and Gnoss Field.

Angela Due In Court Wednesday

I-J Special Report

PALO ALTO — Angela Davis is due in court for the first time in this university city Wednesday, presumably for participants in the case to discuss a trial date.

The former university instructor was transferred last week to a jail here after Judge Richard E. Arnason ordered a change of venue to Santa Clara County. Her lawyers had unsuccessfully sought a switch to San Francisco.

Sheriff's officials here said today they did not know whether Wednesday's session would be in chambers or in open court.

It also was unknown whether the actual trial, delayed for almost a year, will be in Palo Alto or in San Jose. Arnason, the sixth judge in the case, has been assigned to continue with the case in Santa Clara County.

Miss Davis was jailed in Marin for almost a year after being arrested in New York in connection with the August 1970 shoot-out at the Marin Civic Center.

He was a member of the Screen Actor's Guild and Stuntman's Association.

In addition to his mother, a Bay Area musician, he is survived by a son, Christopher Bullock of Glendale, and three sisters, Patricia Pickart of San Rafael, Barbara Bullock of Hawaii and Mary Kay Bullock of San Anselmo.

McDermott was born in Dorchester, Mass. He was in the radio advertising business prior to World War II. He served in the Air Force in Africa and Japan during World War II. He retired in 1962 as a major from Hamilton Air Force Base. LAUNCH DELAY — The explosion shortly after launch of an Air Force rocket carrying a top secret spy satellite caused NASA to postpone the launch of this rocket, the second Intelsat 4 communications satellite, which was to have used an identical booster. The Air Force Atlas-Agena rocket was destroyed when it veered off course late Saturday.

NASA Waits Word On Missile Failure

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Space Agency awaited word from the Air Force today on what caused the failure of a secret spy satellite launching to see if a further delay is needed in the launch of a communications satellite with a similar rocket.

The radio relay spacecraft had been set for launch tonight, but the shot was postponed when the Air Force disclosed Sunday that an Atlas-Agena rocket blew up shortly after launch late Saturday.

The explosion of the military rocket was hidden by dense clouds and Col. Davis Parrish, the launch director, declined to say what happened. There was no explanation for the Air Force's 16-hour delay in announcing the failure.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is using an Atlas-Centaur rocket to launch the 3,000-pound Intelsat 4 communications satellite. The Atlas first stage is identical to the one used by the Air Force and NASA officials want to make sure their booster does not have the same defect.

"We just don't know if there is an effect on us, we're not going to fly until we find out," a NASA spokesman said. "We're waiting to hear from the Air Force."

The military rocket was destroyed by radio command when it veered off course. Parrish said the fault was in the Atlas and that its debris fell into a "broad ocean area" and did not damage anything on Earth.

Unusual secrecy was placed on the mission and the Air Force did not even announce the launch had occurred until questioned by newsmen. The rocket's rumbling roar could be heard for miles around and its brevity indicated the failure occurred within a minute or two after launch at low altitude above the Atlantic.

The military spacecraft was the fifth in a series testing experimental sensors designed to detect and track missiles launched from Russia.

Sierra Club Votes Trim New Budget

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The conservationist Sierra Club has voted on a new trimmed budget and called for "extensive ecological planning" in housing developments and recreational facilities.

The Club's executive director told the weekend meeting of the board of directors that the group was spreading itself too thin and that a new statement of goals and priorities should be developed.

"The world needs to be saved, but the Sierra Club should not be gripped by the illusion that it can do it alone," said Michael McCloskey.

McCloskey's warning was made during a two day meeting in which directors nearly cut a three-year-old campus liaison program and $30,000 from its book programs in an effort to save money.

The club's membership has doubled in six years to 135,000 persons, MCcloskey said, but the agenda has multiplied "five or ten times" and "we are like an army trying to man a longer and longer front line."

McCloskey suggested massing forces and developing a program of priorities, looking at least five years ahead.

After the fiscal portion of the session, some 20 policy declarations were made, including opposition to the placement of housing developments or new towns on wild and relatively uninhabited areas.

Former Actor Neal Gets Out Of Jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—In 1951 Tom Neal was a succesful actor who had appeared in 180 films and had a movie-star mansion with swimming pool. Three years later he was a gardener in Palm Springs.

Today he becomes an ex-convict.

Violence brought him there.

Neal figured in one of Hollywood's most celebrated fistfights, and then was convicted of manslaughter in the death of his wife, who he said he accidentally shot and killed as they made love.

Neal's career collapsed after he battered Franchot Tone in 1951 in a brawl over sexy, young actress Barbara Payton. Tone was knocked out and had to be hospitalized for treatment of a brain concussion.

Neal said he was fighting for the woman he loved, and to defend himself. Tone threw the first punch, Neal said, but it missed. Miss Payton had been rotating her affection between them and he was angered to find them together, Neal said.

Miss Payton married Tone after the fight, but the marriage broke up only months later.

Although Tone went on working in movies until he died, the careers of Neal and Miss Payton were ruined. Before she died several years ago, Miss Payton had been arrested for prostitution, drunkeness and passing bad checks.

Neal found he had been blacklisted because of the scandal. He had learned something about gardening from two Japanese who cared for the two-acre grounds of his Bel-Air estate when he was a success.

He wound up clipping hedges in Palm Springs, took a third wife, and eventually worked up a landscaping business.

On April 1, 1965, his estranged wife Gail, 29, was killed by a .45-caliber pistol bullet in the head and Neal was brought to trial for murder. He testified that she held the gun at his head as they made love, angered because he had accused her of sleeping with other men, and that she was accidentally killed as they struggled for the pistol. Barbara Payton was a spectator at the trial one day. They waved at each other.

Neal was sentenced to 1-15 years for manslaughter, and was to be released on parole today, according to the California Institution for Men at Chino.

Neal has a job with a real estate and construction firm, but said recently he had seen his old agent while free on a pre-parole furlough.

"I've lived a lot. I've got more character now than in the old days," said Neal, 58. "And I've mellowed. When I see a fight nowadays I walk away from it. I'd like to take up acting again."

Cluster Housing Issue On Agenda

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider cutting the required acreage for cluster housing developments from 25 acres to one at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall.

The proposed ordinance is in conformance with a recommendation by the ad hoc committee which drew up the housing element to the town's general plan. Only a handful of parcels of more than 25 acres remain in town.

Also set for discussion is a request by the Mariner Cove Improvement Association calling for additional firemen to man both town fire stations on a 24-hour basis.

S. Sonoma Districts To Study Unification Vote

Representatives from 10 Southern Sonoma school districts will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Petaluma School Administration Building to review plans for a unification election to be held June 6.

Districts involved in the unification vote are Petaluma Elementary, Cinnabar, Dunham, Laguna Joint, Liberty, Old Adobe, Two Rock, Union Joint, Waugh and Wilmar.

New Theory On Cancer Cells

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seeds of cancer apparently are within the cells of all animals and the problem is to learn how they are triggered, how to find them and how to control them, a researcher declared Sunday.

Dr. George J. Todaro of the National Cancer Institute of Bethesda, Md., told a symposium the seeds are viruses and produce an enzyme that changes body cells' DNA into a malignant form.

He was speaking at a symposium on genetic chemicals and tumors which was sponsored by the American Society of Hematology and the Leukemia Society of America.

Center Is Listed For Nursing Home Complaints

The San Rafael Social Security office will serve as the Marin County center to receive complaints about substandard conditions in nursing homes.

Persons with information about instances of poor quality care, neglect, unsanitary or unsafe conditions can report by letter or telephone to the office.

The local office will see that the complaint is referred to the proper agency for investigation.

If desired, the name of the person filing the complaint will be kept confidential, according to Ed Leuin, district manager.

Auto Shop Theft

Cash totaling $14 was taken in a burglary of S and S Auto Body shop, 180 Gary Place, San Rafael, Saturday or yesterday.

Ojai Church Burns — Arson

OJAI (UPI)—A large portion of the Ojai Methodist Church was destroyed in an arson-caused fire which officials said bore similarities to three recent fires in a 25-mile radius.

Fire Capt. James Smith said the arsonist piled cardboard cartons beside the church and ignited them with matches. Damage to the Ventura County church was estimated Saturday at $50,000.

The blaze was set early Friday morning. Fires set the same way erupted Nov. 27 at an Ojai Safeway Market, at another Methodist church and a Safeway store last month in neighboring Santa Paula.

Councilman Quits In Rohnert Park

Rohnert Park City Councilman James W. Rogers has resigned because of increased responsibilities in the real estate business.

Rogers, a councilman for eight years, submitted his resignation Thursday. It was effective immediately. He said he had been promoted to managing broker for the Bart Mitchell Real Estate Agency and would no longer have time to devote to civic affairs.

Rogers, 39, served as mayor in 1965 and 1969.

Apartment Units To Be Studied

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting Tuesday at 8:30 a.m. at Civic Center, again will consider a proposed 334-unit apartment development for the ridge overlooking Strawberry.

The project, considered by the board two weeks ago, was returned to the architect after supervisors criticized the plan as "ridiculous and frightening."

The architect was requested to bring back additional renderings of the project — called Sea Port Hills — showing its size in relation to surrounding open space.

The two-stage project would concentrate development of the first phase on the ridgetop overlooking the Strawberry Shopping Center. When viewed from Highway 101, the apartment buildings would give the appearance of one long building across the skyline.

The second phase would be constructed on the slopes below.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

NIGHT MEETINGS —Will consider staff recommendations that the once-a-month night meeting schedule be changed to allow supervisors to call such meetings based on public interest on agenda items. The meetings have been criticized for a concentration of "boring" or noncontroversial items.

AGRICULTURAL ZONING — Will consider a request from the county planning department for authorization to hire a consultant to study the effect of low density zoning on lands in the county's agricultural preserve.

ROAD ALIGNMENT — Will consider requests from Bayside Acres residents that the county reconsider plans for the Point San Pedro Road widening project, expected to begin in April. Residents have complained that the county-approved plan —as opposed to an alternate — does not provide for safety.

DAVIS-MAGEE — Will hear a report on new legislation enabling the county to apply for state reimbursement for Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee court costs.

AMBULANCE FEE — Will consider revising ambulance fees charged persons using the county fire department's ambulance at Point Reyes station. The fee is currently $80 per trip, with new proposals reducing that amount in some cases to $37.50 plus $1.50 per mile.

TRANSIT — Will meet as the Marin County Transit District board at 8:30 a.m. to discuss implementation of commuter bus service by the Golden Gate Bridge District on Jan. 3, and the status of negotiations with Marin Transit Systems.

Pompidou May Use Net Jet

PARIS (UPI) — President Georges Pompidou is considering flying to the Azores for his meeting with President Nixon next week aboard the prototype Concorde supersonic airliner, a French radio station said today.

A spokesman for the Elysee Palace said he had no information on the report, but an official of the Aerospatiale Company, which is building the French version of the Anglo-French airliner, said "it is not impossible."

The report, by the state-run France-Inter Radio Network, said Pompidou wanted to demonstrate that he could get to the Azores twice as fast as President Nixon flying in a subsonic White House plane.

Opposing Views On Jet Supply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad contradicted each other Sunday on the effect U.S. delivery of Phantom jets to Isael would have on the Mideast balance of power.

Mrs. Meir said the failure of the United States to provide the jets for the Israeli air force has created a "dangerous" situation" because Egypt is being supplied constantly with more and better arms while the delivery of planes to us has stopped."

But Riad said shipment of the jets would prolong the Mideast arms race. "They have asked for more Phantoms . . . and we will ask for more weapons and arms in order to liberate ourselves."

Both were interviewed on television. Mrs. Meir on NBC's "Meet the Press" and Riad on CBS's "Face the Nation."

Riad also charged that Israel is to blame for the failure of the Gunnar Jarring peace mission for the United Nations and the breakdown of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers' efforts to bring peace.

Mrs. Meir repeated Israel's position that it is willing to negotiate anything with the Arabs, particularly Egypt, but without and preconditions.

Jailed Teachers Vow To Stay Until Archdiocese Negotiates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Eleven striking lay teachers from Bay Area Roman Catholic high schools remained in city jail over the weekend and vowed to stay there until the Archdiocese agrees to binding arbitration.

The teachers were among 22 arrested Friday during a sit-in at the Archdiocesan chancery.

The eleven chose to be booked into jail rather than accept citations as did 10 others following the sit-in.

A 12th teacher booked, John Breen, 37, of San Francisco — a Marin Catholic High School teacher — was released on his own recognizance Friday night after he paid a $46 traffic warrant, bailiffs at San Francisco City Prison reported.

Breen and the others were to be arraigned on trespassing charges today in San Francisco Municipal Court.

Eight pickets were reported outside Marin Catholic today as the lay teachers' strike began its fourth week.

A spokesman for the Secondary Teachers Association, which struck seven high schools three weeks ago, said the AFL-CIO affiliate would file unfair labor practice charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

Bob Crosier, an official of the parent American Federation of Teachers, said the charge will be based on the premise that the Archdiocese has the money to meet the teachers' demand for higher pay. He said the teachers will seek permission to examine financial records.

"We are staying in jail to make it clear to the Archdoicese it cannot continue to sit back," said Jerry Killian, president of the association.

"It has to negotiate with us," he said.

The teachers were taken to the County Jail for Mass Sunday but walked out when they learned that no other City Prison inmates were attending.

"We didn't want any special privileges," Killian said.

A prison spokesman said the teachers were not afforded any provileges.

"No one else wanted to go," he said.

More than 50 striking teachers protested peacefully outside the Hall of Justice Saturday. Among the signs they carried was one reading: "Millions for cathedrals, but not one penney for teachers."

New Drugs Developed To Combat Viruses

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. George Gee Jackson finds the scientific prospect for really effective anti-virus drugs in general and anti-influenza drugs in particular to be quite good.

That's hopeful for future influenza seasons but not for people who come down with flu this winter. As of now, no drugs for curing the flu, once caught, exist in practical form.

The improved prospect is relatively new. As Jackson remarked, "for many years virologists held out little hope for development of a specifically anti-influenzal therapy or, for that matter, of specific antiviral agents of any kind."

Viruses become so intimately a part of the body cells they infect, it seemed impossible to attack them without attacking their hosts. But now, Jackson said, virology knows of five "mechanisms" for interfering with viral multiplication without undue harm to cells.

The quest is for drugs which do the trick readily against a wide range of infectious viruses. For each of the five theoretic "mechanisms" there now is an experimental druv or drugs of varying promise in varying stages of development. Hence the optimism of Jackson, an authority on infectious diseases and a professor of medicine at the University of Illinois.

One "mechanism" is to prevent viruses from synthesizing their nucleic acids. Another is to mess up the assembling of proteins derived from those acids into complete viruses. A third is to inhibit the ability of viruses to enter body cells. The remaining "mechanisms" are to inactivate viruses and to increase the resistance of cells to invasion.

Jackson warned physicians against looking forward to a "magic antiviral bullet." The very variety of possible approaches means a tedious development of a series of antiviral drugs each with a comparatively limited range of activity, he wrote in the technical journal, "Hospital Practice."

One of the drugs is available to all doctors by prescription. In Jackson's opinion doctors are not making enough use of it because they are "waiting for the ideal drug."

It is amantadine, a synthetic, which seems to prevent "A" type influenza viruses, including the Hong Kong variant, from entering body cells, but is not at all effective against the "B" type.

Another limitation is that it must be present in the body at the time of virus challenge. This means its chief value is that of a preventive of "A" influenza.

A person standing 45 feet above sea level can see about nine miles.

Flag Ban Fight Taken To Belli

CUPERTINO, Calif. (UPI)— A produce man says he will fight a city ordinance that prevents him from flying the American flag over his vegetable stand.

Walter Kohn recently was ordered to haul down 12 flags that cost him $400. He has taken his case to San Francisco attorney Melvin Belli.

Belli predicted the ordinance would be struck down in a court suit.

Kohn furled the American flag and 11 U.N. members' flags in defeat Saturday to avoid arrest.

"They're beautiful flags, don't you think?" He said. "I really hate to take them down."

The city ordinance for which he was cited prohibits "any moving sign surfaces or other advertising structures which are electrically or mechanically operated or wind activated, including flags, valances or streamers ..."

No Meeting

The regular meeting of the Marin County Housing Authority, scheduled for tomorrow, will not be held because the authority and redevelopment agency are this week engaged in negotiations with California Development Co., authority executive director Wallace K. Shepherd reported.

Soldiers Flush Out Irish Outlaws

By DONAL O'HIGGINS

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Mrs. Margaret Brannigan pulled her black wool shawl tight around her shoulders. She ignored the greetings from passersby, their heads bent against the sleet-laden November wind.

She was staring at a British army patrol moving slowly up Panton Street in the Lowr Falls, the heart of the Roman Catholic working class ghetto.

Suddenly she stiffened. The patrol had stopped. Combatclad soldiers rushed into a house. Others took up firing positions outside it, scanning rooftops and street corners.

Exactly seven minutes later, the soldiers came out. They hustled a youth along with them. They put him aboard an armored car and sped away.

Another suspected member of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) had been "lifted."

The old woman turned away, shaking her head. "How did they know?" she asked of no one in particular. "How did they know to stop there?"

The same scene has been reenacted in many streets—the same question has been asked by many people.

In the bars of the Ardoyne, along the dull, featureless streets of Ballymurphy, Springfield Road and Whiterock, men and women were asking "How did they know?"

Since internment was introduced Aug. 9 in Northern Ireland in an effort to stamp out violence,the British army has claimed a steady flow of information was reaching it.

Over the past several weeks more than 1,100 persons have been arrested—the majority of them released after questioning — in army swoops on Roman Catholic areas.

Many of them were picked up in house-by-house combouts in large-scale army sweeps. But the overall pattern of the army's "search squads have moved in against selected houses. Suspects have been picked up evidently in line with a prepared list.

The army seems to know what it is looking for and where to look for it.

Senior British officers are openly pleased with the turn of events. "Internment is working —the information is coming to us," one said. "The city is becoming unsafe for the IRA — we are squeezing their bolt holes."

In the hardcore IRA areas, there were many who did not dispute it. Some of them conceded readily the IRA was being hurt.

"Mass arrests and interrogation is bound to produce results," one IRA source said. "Our task is to counteract it as quickly as possible."

IRA leaders say their "volunteers" were bound to talk under army questioning. "We expect them to tell us quickly what they have told the military," one IRA leader said. "In that way we can take steps to counteract it."

The relentless army pressure has forced the IRA to change its structure from that of a conventional army to one of individual cells, operating more or less independently of each other.

Previously the IRA was constituted along the chains of command of a regular military force. The chief of staff, aided by his own headquarters staff, directed overall operations. Below him were a number of battalions, each again with its own headquarters staff, which were assigned areas of operation.

Battalions were divided into companies which, in turn, were subdivided into sections.

For special "jobs," the IRA had their "active service units" with members drawn from different units according to their specialities.

With the increasing flow of information reaching the army whose intelligence services have built up what they believe to be an accurate and detailed dossier with names and addresses, the IRA has turned to the "cell method" as practiced in Algeria and elsewhere by urban guerrillas.

In addition to the manpower loss under the army's "search and arrest" policy, the IRA has been hit in its painfully acquired arms supply.

"In the falls and in the ardoyne, they will tell you their weapons stocks are well hidden, well dispersed and virtually search proof."

But Mrs. Brannigan wonders if they are.

Second Largest Foundation

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — The Robert Wood Johnson foundation, established in 1936 by the former chairman of Johnson & Johnson medical products firm, has become the nation's second largest foundation with assets of more than $1 billion, it was revealed Sunday.

A spokesman for the foundation said the founder, Robert Wood Johnson, left the bulk of his estate when he died three years ago, and that final accounting had only been completed recently.

The foundation had been relatively small, giving away only some $5 million since its inception mostly to support several local hospitals. Its huge addition from the Johnson estate makes it second only to theFord Foundation in total assets, and the only other foundation ever to have more than $1 billion in assets.

The spokesman also said the foundation had picked David E. Rogers, dean of the Johns Hopkins University Medical School, as its new president, to take office Jan. 15. The current president, Gustave O. Lienhard, will become chairman of the Foundation's Board of Trustees.

Johnson was the son of the founder of the medical firm, and has served as its president and chairman for more than 30 years.

Silver Dollars To Depository

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a four-month transfer operation that ends today, the Treasury finished moving 2.9 million rare silver dollars — some worth up to $200 each — to its silver bullion depository at West Point, N.Y.

Most of the coins were turned out at the old Carson City, Nev. mint between 1878 and 1891. They were moved as the first step in offering them for sale to the public about one year from now.

Public notice will be given before the sale and individual buyers will be allowed a maximum of one coin from each of the 10 categories. The sale prices have not yet been determined.

The last shipment will be made in a heavily guarded truck insured for $15 million.

"Gauguin under glass, and your finest bottle of Bonnard."

Okay. Are we a restaurant, or an art gallery, or what. This question often gives our customers the opportunity to make smart remarks like the one above. The answer is that we are whatever you'd like us to be. If you like fine art better than eating, we are a fine art gallery. If, on the other hand, you'd rather eat than look at a lot of silly pictures, we're a fine continental restaurant. It's just a matter of taste. In either case, the taste is good.

Leaps From Bridge; Week's Toll Is Three

Two persons, one a decorated World War II Veteran, leaped to their deaths Saturday from the Golden Gate Bridge, bringing to three the number of span leaps last week, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the body of Lee S. Hager, 57, a Bronze Star recipient in Europe during the war, was recovered by the Coast Guard at noon after he disregarded the plea of a 10-year-old boy and jumped from the east side of the span near the south tower.

The patrol said Hager, of San Francisco, climbed over the railing at 11:45 a.m. Jeffery Burns, 10, of San Francisco, pleaded with him not to jump but Hager ignored him and leaped anyway, officers said.

About four hours later Delores Bolstad, of San Francisco, was seen by witnesses to walk to midspan, drop her purse on the sidewalk and jump, the patrol said. Her body was not recovered.

A young man who apparently jumped off the bridge Thursday but whose body was not found remained unidentified today, the San Francisco coroners officer reported.

The highway patrol said it was notified of a man standing on the east railing of the bridge at midspan about 4:27 p.m. Thursday. Witnesses said the man,who looked to be about 27 years old, jumped before officers could reach him.

He was described as about 5 feet 8 inches tall, 140 pounds, with brown hair and wearing a blue windbreaker and blue denim trousers.

Tables Turned On Burglar

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—A burglar at an Omaha home this weekend had the tables turned on him. Einer H. Simonsen, owner of the house, said he walked into his front room Saturday evening and surprised the burglar—who ran out a back door and left behind the television, radio and several appliances he had gathered.

Simonsen said he chased the man, described as about 20 with a beard, until he caught up with him several minutes later, and a scuffle broke out.

Although Simonsen lost the battle and the burglar got away, he said he got the thief's sweater, flashlight, cigarette lighter, gloves and a package of cigarettes.

Fire Damages Two Apartments

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two three-story apartment buildings on California Street were heavily damaged early today in a four alarm fire. Two residents escaped by rope from one of the flaming structures.

Seventy-one-year-old Albert Mouton, a retired printer, slid from the window on a rope he kept under his bed for just such an emergency.

"There were some fires in a place I lived in once in Los Angeles, so I bought me a rope just in case," Mouton said. He suffered rope burns on his hands.

Jack Miller, 57, also escaped from the third floor window by using Mouton' rope.

Besides the two men's rope burns, a half dozen others suffered minor injuries. Thirteen occupants fled when the four-alarm blaze broke out at 5:40 a.m. it was brought under control in 45 minutes. The cause was not immediately determined.

Leg, Hip Broken In Auto Accident

A Folsom woman was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today with a broken leg and broken right hip suffered in an automobile accident in Corte Madera yesterday.

Police said Mary A. Hess, 51, was injured when her car ran off Paradise Drive near Robin Drive at 8:35 p.m.

Ex-Judge Is Sentenced In Bribery, Conspiracy

STOCKTON (UPI)—Former Superior Court Judge Maxwell Willens was sentenced to prison today on three counts of bribery and one of criminal conspiracy.

The 62-year-old former jurist, convicted on the charges by a jury last June 23, showed no emotion as Superior Court Judge Richard Patton passed sentence. But his family, watching from the spectators section, burst into tears.

Willens was remanded immediately to the State Correctional Board to be sent to Vacaville Medical Facility, which will decide where he will serve the sentence.

Patton turned down a request for a stay of execution and a request for Willens' release on personal recognizance pending execution of the sentence.

Willens had spent several months at Vacaville underoing examination. Probation officers subsequently recommended he be let off with probation. But the State Attorney General's office pushed for a prison sentence.

Willens was convicted by a jury of seven men and five women after a seven-week trial.

The charges stemmed from a period from December, 1967, through April, 1970, while he was a municipal and superior court judge.

He was accused of engaging in a string of bribery incidents with Stockton furrier Albert Weisinger as the middle-man. Weisinger was convicted in a separate trial of aiding and abetting.

The charges alleged bribes of an auto and cash ranging from $200 to $5,000, in return for granting lighter sentences than justified to criminal court clients.

The judge also was found guilty of one count of conpsiracy to receive a bribe.

Willens, once the youngest lawyer in California when he was admitted to the bar at the age of 21, once served on the State Crime Commission.

More Milk For U.S. Servicemen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has agreed to provide servicemen with ample supplies of milk following complaints that milk consumption was limited on some bases.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said during the weekend that he received a clarifying letter on the milk situation from the Army. Reuss said men at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., Ft. Dix, N.J., and Ft. Bragg, N.C., reported the limitation.

The Army said the complaints were caused by misunderstanding a purchasing guideline designed to limit mess hall consumption of carbonated beverages.

Orr Hearing Witness AWOL From Her Job

Marsha E. Kittleman, key figure in hearings on the firing of Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, has been declared by the Fairfax city administrator to be absent without leave from her post with the police department. (See story on hearing, page 1.)

City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said Saturday that Mrs. Kittleman had not reported for duty as police clerk and matron since testifying at the hearing Nov. 29 and had refused to furnish acceptable medical certification of unfitness for work.

The administrator said she had sent a note from her physician saying that she should not return to work before Dec. 20, but had not kept an appointment for a verifying physical examination with the city's own physician.

"As far as I'm concerned, she's AWOL (absent without leave)," Crowe declared Saturday. "I'd order my own secretary to have a city physical if I thought" she was malingering, the official said. "But I'm not prepared to take any action at this time."

Asked if he planned future action, Crowe said, "I don't want to put myself into another box. I've already got one box," referring to the long-drawn hearings concerning Orr's firing.

"SMEAR YOUR clothes" was the instruction given to Lisa Byerly and David Shain while they finger painted during a seminar on fabric care. Just as in the television commercials, the children did mess up their clothes with paint. Then into the clothes washer went their clothes, while the children stood by in swim suits. THE POLYESTERS

Development, Uses And Care Of Man-Made Fabrics Related

By JOAN LISETOR

SAN FRANCISCO — To clean up the confusion about the care of polyester fabrics, Whirlpool Corp. and the Celanese Fiber Marketing Co. have joined forces and are presenting a series of seminars in cities across the country.

Friday at the Mark Hopkins Hotel representatives from both companies discussed the development, uses and care of man-made fibers.

As the appliance company's director of public relations, Ronald Gow, greeted reporters and home economics instructors, a young boy and girl stood before the audience finger painting. Both had trouble following the directions to wipe their grubby hands on their spotless polyester clothes, especially the girl, who complied very gingerly.

SATISFIED THAT THE clothes were sufficiently stained, Virginia Van Nostrand of the company's home service department ordered the children to strip. Giggling uncontrollably, they skinned down to swim suits and gave the clothes to Miss Van Nostrand to put into the washing machine, installed for the occasion in a ballroom of the elegant hotel.

Geraldine Sparks, manager of consumer and retail information for the fiber company, said the new era of washable knits, which includes dresses, men's suits, curtains, draperies and slip covers, might lead to the two-washing-machines, two-clothes-dryer family.

"Our dry cleaning loads are getting smaller all the time," she said.

Advantages of the woven and knitted fibers include strength, stretch and recovery, resistance to wrinkling, shrinking, bagging and fading, she said but there are disadvantages.

"They can pull and snag and are cold in the winter and hot in the summer," Miss Sparks said. "But we are searching for one super fiber."

The goal of fiber scientists, she said, is to find the fiber that combines all of the good qualities, and "that would allow us to go back to being one-washing-machine, one-clothes-dryer families again."

THE BASIC information that consumers need to launder washable knits, Mary Meighan of the appliance company explained, is to set the washing machine for a warm water wash and a cold rinse, but a permanent press cycle is important because it has a cooled down time prior to the rinse, and the slowness allows gentle agitation.

She recommended smaller loads to allow freer movement for less wrinkles in the dryer, which should be set on a low heat, permanent press cycle. Very important, she said, is that clothes not be over-dry.

"Clothes will retain shape if taken out of the dryer with some moisture," she said. "Sorting is important for proper laundering care. Sort by color and by weight, separating heavier garments from light weight to avoid over-drying. Since static electricity is inherent in man made fibers, be sure to use a fabric softener in the final rinse."

Oil stains, which have plagued man-made fibers, can be removed by applying liquid dry cleaning solvent to the wrong side of the garment on the area of the spot.

Miss Van Nostrand demonstrating by turning a pair of trousers wrong side out over a towel, applying the solvent and then applying a heavy duty liquid detergent. The detergent, which can also be a powder type made into a paste, will keep the solvent from forming a ring.

FOLLOWING THE demonstrations, a fashion show of polyester clothes for women, men and children showed the variety of interpretations given to washable knits.

Most of the dresses shown were in the $50 to $60 price bracket, according to the commentator, and it is very difficult to convince a woman who has paid that price for a garment that she can put it into a washing machine, she said.

Fashions included a fully lined all weather coat and a heavily ruffled after-five dress.

During the fashion show the irreverant dryer buzzed loudly, signaling the end of the cycle drying the moppet's once grubby clothes. The clothes were whisked off to the children, while someone in the audience wondered out loud if the poor dears hadn't caught their death of a cold shivering during the hour's presentation.

But the children reappeared looking healthy and clean as the proverbial whistle.

HELEN HELP US!

Get Behind Wheel Of Your Car —That's Way Cracker Crumbles

DEAR HELEN:

When I visited our son and daughter-in-law recently, I was mystified at what happened on a shopping trip with her.

She bought a box of crackers, individually packaged in four sections. She took each of these sections, put them into separate plastic bags which you get in the vegetable department, then into paper sacks.

When she pulled into her driveway, she stopped, laid the four bags containing the crackers one in front of each tire. Then she hopped back in the car, drove over the crackers and into the garage.

I looked aghast at the crushed packages lying behind her car only to have her smile and say, "Instant cracker crumbs."

Well, I went home and sent them a blender for their anniversary. No dice.

Last week I was there again, and she made instant crumbs in her same old way. She says she likes the blender for other things, but her "car" way is faster and quicker for crackers, and besides there's no mess to clean up — and it's much more fun. Says she imagined the crackers were whoever she was angry with, and she got a lot of frustrations out of her system by smashing them. (Could it be me?)

I know there's a generation gap (she's 19) but this is an abyss. My husband is no help (his daughter-in-law can do no wrong). He just laughs and says, "If it works so well, why don't you do it that way too?" — M.I.L.

DEAR M.I.L.:

You've either got a wacky d-i-l or a wild imagination.

On second thought, maybe "tired crumbs" aren't such a bad idea. When a blender is too slow, a rolling pin too messy, just get behind the wheel — and that's the way the cracker crumbles. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You once reminded parents that their children aren't "owned" by them, but only borrowed for a little while.

For parents who need further reminding that they mustn't try to run their children's lives, here's a lovely bit of blank verse. Sorry, I don't know the author:

Your children are not your children.

They are the sons and daughters of life's longing for itself.

They come through you but not from you,

And though they are with you, yet they belong not to you.

You may give them your love but not your thoughts.

For they have their own thoughts.

You may house their bodies but not their souls,

For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow,

Which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams. — A READER

DEAR READER: (AND READERS:)

To print poetry without giving credit is like announcing "the winnah" as "whatzisname." I seldom do this, but liked the above piece so well I wanted to share it with all of you.

Will someone please give us the name of the author. Thanks. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can women ever really make it in politics when we're first-named so consistently? In our local elections, the men's names came out in headlines as "Smith, Green," etc., but the one woman who ran for office was consistently "Judith." I'll bet if Shirley Chisholm runs for President, it will be: "Nixon, Muskie, McCloskey, McGovern! . . . etc., etc., — and "Shirley." Why? — IRKED AGAIN

DEAR IRKED:

Because political writers are almost all male, too. Women in politics could stop this "pat on the head" approach, via friendly discussions with editors. — H.

'Typical' Diet Cause Of Heart Woes?

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Is the "typical" American diet the main reason behind the steady increase in heart and artery ailments that are killing people at a record rate?

In the absence of clearcut scientific proof one way or another, the question has been the subject of debate for many years. Like data on smoking and health, most of the evidence has been statistical, not sufficient to prove a direct cause and effect.

But the weight of the evidence is beginning to tilt in the direction of those who answer the question affirmatively. Recent reports from two organizations in the field, the American Heart Association and the American Health Foundation, support this point of view.

One report, presented at the annual meeting of the heart association earlier this month, concluded that monkeys fed the "typical" American diet for two years suffered three times as many heart and artery ailments as monkeys on a "prudent" diet.

The experiment was conducted by D. Robert Wissler at the University of Chicago. The "typical" diet included milk, eggs, roast beef, pork, chicken, cheese, butter, sugar, potatoes, carrots, cereal, fruit, cake and juice.

The "prudent" diet contained many of the same items but much less fatty substance and much less refined sugar. Calories were about one-third less.

Dr. Wissler said the monkeys in both groups loved the diets and gained considerable weight. He concluded that diets heavy in fats, sugar and calories cause a buildup of cholesterol in arteries and lead to restricted blood flow and eventual heart attacks and hardening of arteries.

A few days after the Wissler study was reported, the foundation issued a major statement urging extensive changes in the "average American diet" to help reduce heart disease. It urged that government, industry and health care organizations lead the way.

In a 37-page position paper, the foundation observed that coronary heart disease, an ailment rarely observed in 1918, now accounts for more than 50 per cent of the deaths of all males over the age of 40 in this country.

"In truth," says the foundation," an epidemic has struck. With sudden death as a major characteristic, prevention rather than treatment of coronary heart disease must be the goal."

The foundation then had these suggestions about diet:

—Decrease the total dietary fat to approximately 35 per cent of total daily calories.

—Change the dietary fat from predominantly saturated to unsaturated (most of meat fat is saturated, most vegetable fat is unsaturated).

—Reduce total calories.

—Reduce the intake of salt.

But the foundation also cautioned against changes in diet that are too drastic. It said "immoderate restrictions" on foods of animal origin "could adversely affect the over-all nutritional quality of the diet."

It explained that low-fat dairy products are as good sources of protein and calcium as full-fat dairy products. It added that lean pork is at least as good a source of protein and thiamine as fat pork.

The Classical Handbag Making Fashion Comeback

The front running style for the spring handbag is the classical bag, reports Women's Wear Daily.

The best looking are the feedbag and the shoulderbag shapes done in soft hopsacking touched up with heavy gold hardware and trimmed with contrasting calf leather.

They are also done in the shiny patents.

The shoulderbag is still a favorite, but others to gain fame for spring are the shirred pouched bag, such as grandmother used to carry, and the perennial clutch bag.

Newlyweds Will Live In Bolinas

The Mill Valley Community Church was the setting for the noon wedding Saturday of Barbara Mary Sanocki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Joseph McMahon, and John Milton Wooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Wooley, all of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Eric Wooley of Corte Madera, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, was matron of honor, and Eric Wooley served his brother as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sausalito Woman's Club. The couple will live in Bolinas.

Barbara and John were graduated from Tamalpais High School. Barbara holds a degree in social science anyd John a degree in civil engineering from San Jose State College. She is employed with the Automobile Mutual Insurance Company of America in Terra Linda, and he is self-employed as a builder in Mill Valley.

He is the brother of Alva and Toby Wooley of Mill Valley, Mrs. Loren E. Terzich of Angels Camp and Mrs. Peter Desalernos of Sacramento.

How To Dress Up Package Of Socks

How to dress up those packages of socks you will give for Christmas:

1. Take a clear glass beer stein and a small white styrofoam ball. Stuff the stein with a couple of pairs of mid-calf socks. Cut the ball in half and insert one of the halves into the glass, round side up, to resemble the "head" on a beer.

2. Get a large round ashtray for his desk. Buy him a half-dozen pairs of leisure socks in bright solid colors. Roll each pair of socks into a separate ball and pile them, pyramid-style, in the ashtray - as you would build a fruit arrangement. Stick gold leaves and della-robbia fruits between the sock balls, then envelope your creation in a large sheet of brightly colored cellophane.

3. Buy a new tackle box for your fisherman. Fill with an assortment of heavy-weight outdoor socks and casual "Saturday" socks.

FABRIC SECRETS

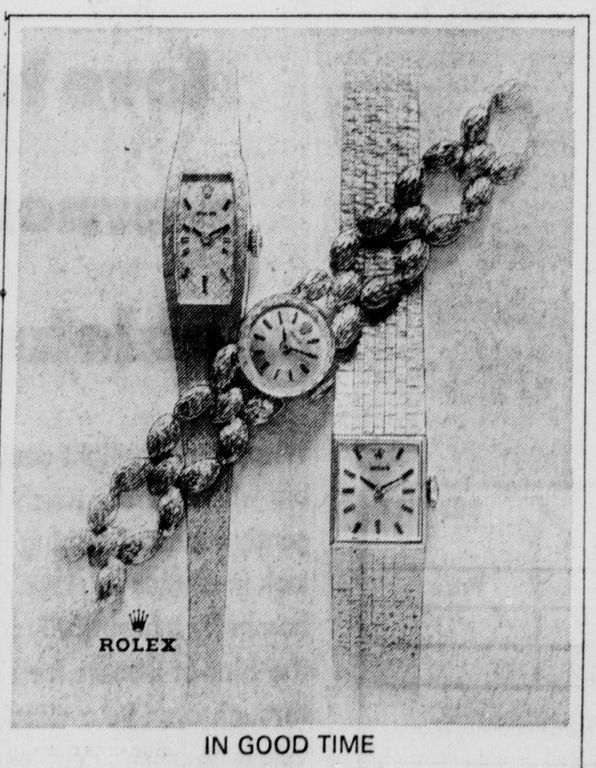

JOAN CROSSLEY

Sweaters or other knit garments of acrylic, nylon, or other man-made fibers are often completely machine washable. How successful machine washing will be depends on the bulk, construction, and decorations on a garment. To avoid tangling and catching on other items in the wash load, it is sometimes best to place really delicate knits in mesh bags. Most of these knits can be dried on rust-proof hangers.

Successful sewing starts at FABRIC LAND, 836 4th St. You will find a complete selection of fabric, accessories and sundries plus a complete drapery department. Sew gifts, trimmings and clothes for the Christmas Season. Open: 9:30 AM - 5:30 PM Mon-Tues-Thurs-Sat, 9:30 AM - 9 PM Wed-Fri, Noon-5 PM Sundays.

HELPFUL HINT:
Some sweaters of man-made fibers must be tumbledried to retain the beauty of their finished texture. Follow instructions on the garment for best results.

The New Reality

For the first time in a long time, fashion has a new reality, say fashion authorities at Celanese. The put-on, the pretense, have given way to definitive shaping, even though the shapes themselves are many and diverse. Lines are cleaner, clearer, purer. A new simplicity has taken over, making seasons past seem complicated, contrived, even chaotic by comparison. It appears that order has been restored.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

First-Class Playing Takes More Than Knowledge Of Probability

You need more than a knowledge of probability to play first-class bridge. The true expert notices all the table action, including the actions that don't take place. Today's hand shows the importance of noting what doesn't happen.

FIRST TRICK

South won the first trick with the queen of spades and felt reasonably sure that West had led from a long suit. Declarer's problem was whether to tackle the clubs or the diamonds first.

Either plan would work if East had the king of diamonds since a successful diamond finesse at any stage would give South four diamonds, three hearts and two spades. South therefore had to assume a losing diamond finesse.

A LOW CLUB

Leading a low club from the South hand would work if West had the ace of clubs because if West took the ace, declarer would get three club tricks and would not need the diamond finesse. If West played low, dummy would win a club trick and declarer could then go after the diamonds, abandoning the clubs. Even if East had the ace of clubs, South would make his contract if the suit broke 3-3.

PLAY FOR DIAMONDS

The play for diamonds first would work if East had the ace of clubs. The diamond finesse would lose, but West would have no further entry to his long spades.

Leading a club would give South a 2 to 1 chance for his contract; playing the diamonds first would give South only an even chance. A mere mathematician would therefore lead a low club from the South hand at the second trick.

SOUTH'S REACTION

But West had passed with utter unconcern over the opening bid of the one no-trump. South felt sure that this particular West would have considered a bid if he had held five spades to the ace-ten, the king of diamonds and the ace of clubs.

Therefore South led a heart to the king and led the nine of diamonds for a finesse. West won and set up his spades, but there was no further entry to the West hand: and South later knocked out the ace of clubs in safety.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 6
♥ - J 10 5 4 2
♦ - 5 3
♣ - A 10 9 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

Partner will probably pass, and you will be in a sensible part score contract. If partner raises hearts, you will go on to game.

ART REVIEW

Festival Fights Odds, Succeeds

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Despite weather, distance or competing events, an art festival lover will set forth undaunted, always hoping for a bargain from some favorite artist or craftsman, or for a delicious surprise in the way of a new talent and ideas.

Nor does having two festivals coincide mean having to make a choice. For in spite of the more familiar Sausalito Art Festival taking place concurrently, this weekend's second annual San Geronimo Art Festival drew even bigger crowds than the year before. Just how many came couldn't be determined because the festival charges no admission fee. But it was difficult to maneuver oneself inside the old school building. Classrooms and halls were thick with visitors, artists, homemade food, arts and crafts and the echo of happy, if not too accurate voices, gathered in an impromptu madrigal session accompanied by an old upright, cello and flute.

According to San Geronimo festival chairman Jean Berensmeier, it was also a freer spending crowd. Sales, she said, seamed more brisk than last year.

Before the festival began she and fellow directors were worried about the competition from the Sausalito festival.

"Ours was already scheduled for the same time as last year's when Sausalito decided to have theirs on the same weekend," Mrs. Berensmeier said. "The publicity was already out and people were primed for it. So we just went ahead."

She gave several reasons for the success in spite of the conflict. "Mostly it was word of mouth from happy people. We have things of genuine interest for kids, fantastic food and, above all, there are the little human things. For instance, if someone forgets their change from a sale, we run after them with it."

While the festival had all the things from stitchery to leather and from paintings to metal work that one might expect, some of the 58 contributors provided items which were different.

One exhibitor showed crash helmets covered-to-order in a ravishing range of velvets.

But most interesting was instrument-maker Richard Waters. He constructs "door harps," which are stringed chunks of wood designed to be bolted to doors. As the door is swung, swinging clappers play the strings. Even more unusual are his welded water drums into which rods of varying size are sunk. When struck or bowed they produce strange music which falls somewhere between Far East and far out. He thinks perhaps they might sound well coming from a haunted house.

Waters has sold several to musicians such as drummer Shelly Manne and to The Grateful Dead rock group. He has provided some for his own group, the Gravity Adjusters Expansion Band, uses them for its sessions of experimental sound.

It was probably just this kind of inventiveness, in addition to the good time, which lured many people back for San Geronimo's second annual event, in spite of the odds.

Bank Head Speaks On The System

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The nation's educational system "must produce individuals who have a basic understanding of how our society operates politically, economically and socially," the president of the world's largest bank declared today.

"Our children cannot hope to change the system or hope to create a better one without really understanding how the present system works," declared A.W. Clausen, Bank of America president.

In a talk before educators, Clausen also said a long-standing prejudice against vocational education has to be erased.

"We have to convince ourselves that it's better to be a good auto mechanic than a mediocre bank teller or, conversely, better to be a good bank teller than an indifferent mechanic—if that's your thing."

"We must upgrade the caliber and range of occupational education. And we must improve the quality of vocational counselling and teacher training."

Clausen's speech was prepared for a joint meeting of the Association of California School Administrators and the California School Board Association.

The banker noted that during the first half of this year 9,000 persons applied for jobs at the bank's employment office in the San Francisco headquarters.

"About two thirds of those who took our standard clerical skills test failed it outright," he said. "They lacked fundamental skills in reading, writing, mathematics and typing. And all too often, their lack of skills was coupled with a lack of understanding of what work was all about."

SOLOIST — Carole Castro Mauia, a second-year music student at College of Marin, will be soloist with the college's community orchestra Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. in the college Fine Arts Building. Music by Shostakovich, Mozart, Weber and Grieg is scheduled.

New 7-Cent Stamp To Honor Franklin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Benjamin Franklin, whose face has appeared on more postage stamps than any American except Washington, will be honored on a new 7-cent stamp to be issued next year.

The U.S. Postal Service said the new Franklin stamp is one of two to be printed for the new rate covering fourth class educational materials. Franklin, the nation's first postmaster, has appeared on more than 30 stamps since the government changed to uniform postage rates in 1847.

Intellectual Reach By String Quartet

By ROBERT NESS

The Marin Arts Quartet with pianist Robaline Meacham have shown that the string quartet can be one of music's crowning achievements. The concert yesterday afternoon at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club deserved its capacity audience of about 150 people.

Not satisfied with merely a polished performance, they reached far into the intellectual and emotional content of the Samuel Barber Quartet, the Mozart K. 575 Quartet, and the Cesar Franck Quintet for Piano and Strings.

The members of this quartet, Charles Meacham, Michael Gerling, violins; Lucien Mitchell, viola; and Jean Mitchell, cello, all possess rich velvety tones that were at all times perfectly balanced.

These musicians played with exceptional abilities in the Barber and Mozart, but it was in the Franck Quintet that they reached celestial heights.

Pianist Robaline Meacham joined the quartet for this extremely beautiful work. The quintet, cyclic in form, has an expressive theme that reappears in each of the three movements, each time becoming more and more poignant.

There is no question that Mrs. Meacham is a brilliant pianist and her ability to play ensemble music is phenomenal. At all times she was aware of the total sound — matching, blending, and protruding only when the music called for it.

The quartet responded in like manner. There was give and take between the strings and piano throughout the work. It was a total musical experience and everything worked.

The Barber quartet in itself is not terribly exciting. While the performance was articulate and well thought out, it could have had more drive.

The Adagio second movement, well known in its string orchestra version, actually worked less well with the more intimate group. There just is not the brute power to achieve the intensity needed for the climax.

The Mozart Quartet was exquisite. A transparency of texture was maintained throughout that was both sparkling and sublime.

Cellist Jean Mitchell's solo passage in the Trio of the third movement was exceptional in its expressiveness and was rightfully held within Mozart's strict rhythmic structure.

The allegretto fourth movement was a display of how well these musicians work together. Motivic passages are continually jumping about from instrument to instrument. It would be a disaster for a lesser group. With these musicians it became a unified and cohesive entity.

The Marin Arts Quartet will perform their next concert Feb. 6, 1972 with soprano Margot Power.

Mill Valley Concert Is Jammed To Rafters

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A big turnout of about 500 persons for yesterday afternoon's chamber music concert at the Mill Valley public library jammed the place to the rafters.

The estimate was difficult to make, for there were not enough seats, and in some sections of the library adults were standing or sitting on the floor and children were perched on bookcases.

Though the musicians were eight members of the San Francisco Symphony, they were not a well-known ensemble but a group assembled for this concert by clarinetist Philip Fath of Mill Valley. The others were Felix Khuner and Ervin Mautner, violins; David Smiley, viola; Andor Toth Jr., cello; Michael Burr, bass; Raymond Ojeda, Bassoon, and Ralph Hotz, French horn.

One of the concerts sponsored in the library periodically by the Mill Valley Library Association with the cooperation of local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO, this one was planned by Mrs. Virginia Shearer, president of Friends of the Library.

Possibly the big turnout was best explained by the success of the previous concerts in this free series, due both to excellent acoustics and a pleasant, informal atmosphere as well as the fine chamber music performed. Mill Valley is, in fact, becoming known for this kind of music.

The whole idea of breaking down barriers between audiences and performers by eliminating stages and formal dress is spreading and is to be encouraged in this kind of smaller and more intimate gathering. Both dressed comfortably, the musicians appeared to be enjoying themselves as much as the audience.

Highlight of the afternoon was Schubert's octet for string quintet, clarinet, bassoon and french horn, a long but entrancing work in six movements that held attention throughout. The work of this master lyricist was not only an ensemble of songful melodies but also gave almost every instrument its chance to sing individually. Balance was good with full-bodied string sound, but because of timbre the clarinet, marvelously agile, and the French horn in long sustained and singing passages were outstanding, even though occasionally the horn sound was not entirely pure and right on target.

The concert opened with a pleasing performance of the Haydn string quartet in E flat. For once the outer voices of the first violin and cello did not lead the inner voices of the viola and second violin, as so often happens in many otherwise good string quartets.

Spice of the program was one movement from Poulenc's Sonata for clarinet and Bassoon and one from Martinu's Duo for violin and cello.

Three R-Schools Taking New Name

The Three-R Schools will become Jameson Hall Schools as of Jan. 1.

The change in name was announced by James W. Kirchanski, director of the Three-R Schools in San Rafael, Santa Rosa and San Leandro, at a reception for parents of students Friday evening at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

The name "Three-R," Kirchanski said, will be retained for the summer tutorial and remedial programs conducted by the schools. The new name is loosely derived from Kirchanski's first name.

He said the name change was decided on because "Three-R. . . has become misleading in that it implies that we are not an innovative, flexible, outreaching school. That is not true. We are always innovating, experimenting, changing in an effort to achieve the best possible educational methods."

Kirchanski also announced affiliation of Jameson Hall Schools with the recently formed San Francisco Academy of Music and Fine Arts, which will provide scholarships at Jameson Hall in the arts and music and sponsor public appearances and tours for students.

The first two scholarship winners, Carol Tomlinson, 16, of San Rafael, and John Wittenberg, 20, of San Francisco, were presented in a violin concert at the reception. Both are students of William Pynchon, who heads the San Francisco academy.

A-Test Fallout In Barstow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—China's latest atmospheric nuclear explosion has produced slight levels of radioactive fallout in eight Western states, according to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

The highest level of fallout was measured at Barstow, Calif. but it was "less than 1 per cent of the annual amount that could be received from natural background radiation," the AEC said.

Other nuclear fallout was detected in Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Utah and Wyoming.

China exploded a 20-kiloton bomb at its LOP NOR test site Nov. 18. The radioactivity was detected in samples collected Nov. 21-27 by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Pollution Testing On Pitcairn Is.

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Air pollution tests are being conducted on Pitcairn Island, one of the most isolated places on earth.

The island is in the South Pacific, with Chile more than 2,500 miles to the east and Australia even farther away to the west. It is inhabited by 92 persons — descendants of Polynesian women and the British sailors who staged the famous mutiny on H.M.S. Bounty in the 18th Century.

The islanders last week began carrying out the tests on behalf of the atmospheric sciences research center of the State University of New York at Albany.

The purpose of the tests is to determine whether airpollution from the continents is invading the atmosphere above the oceans, reported the island's radio operator and acting head man, Tom Christian.

"I'll be taking the samples and tagging results for an indefinite period in the future. We will mail the findings each month, or as often as a ship bound for New York stops by here," reported Christian, a fifth generation descendant of Fletcher Christian, the British navy officer who led the mutiny by seamen of the Bounty against Capt. William Bligh.

San Rafael Man Is Booked On Charges

A San Rafael man was arrested Saturday after he allegedly scuffled with a Belvedere policeman who stopped him on suspicion of drunken driving.

Cornelius George Farley, 48, of 8 Sienna Way, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of drunken driving, interfering with an officer and battery. He was held in lieu of $1,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

His wife, Rolbina C. Farley, was booked on suspicion of being drunk in public and interfering with an officer. She was released on her promise to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Belvedere police said Officer James McCarty saw Farley's car run a stop sign at Beach and Main streets at 2:05 a.m.

When he stopped Farley on Tiburon Boulevard, McCarty said, the man became belligerent and began a scuffle. McCarty was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the right hand and foot, and chin, kneee and leg scrapes.

Police said Mrs. Farley also was arrested when she attempted to come to her husband's aid.

RCA Is Phasing Out One Field

NEW YORK (UPI)—As part of its phaseout of general purpose computer business, RCA Corp. announced Friday it was ending its magnetics products business, including disc packs, computer tapes and audio and video recording tapes.

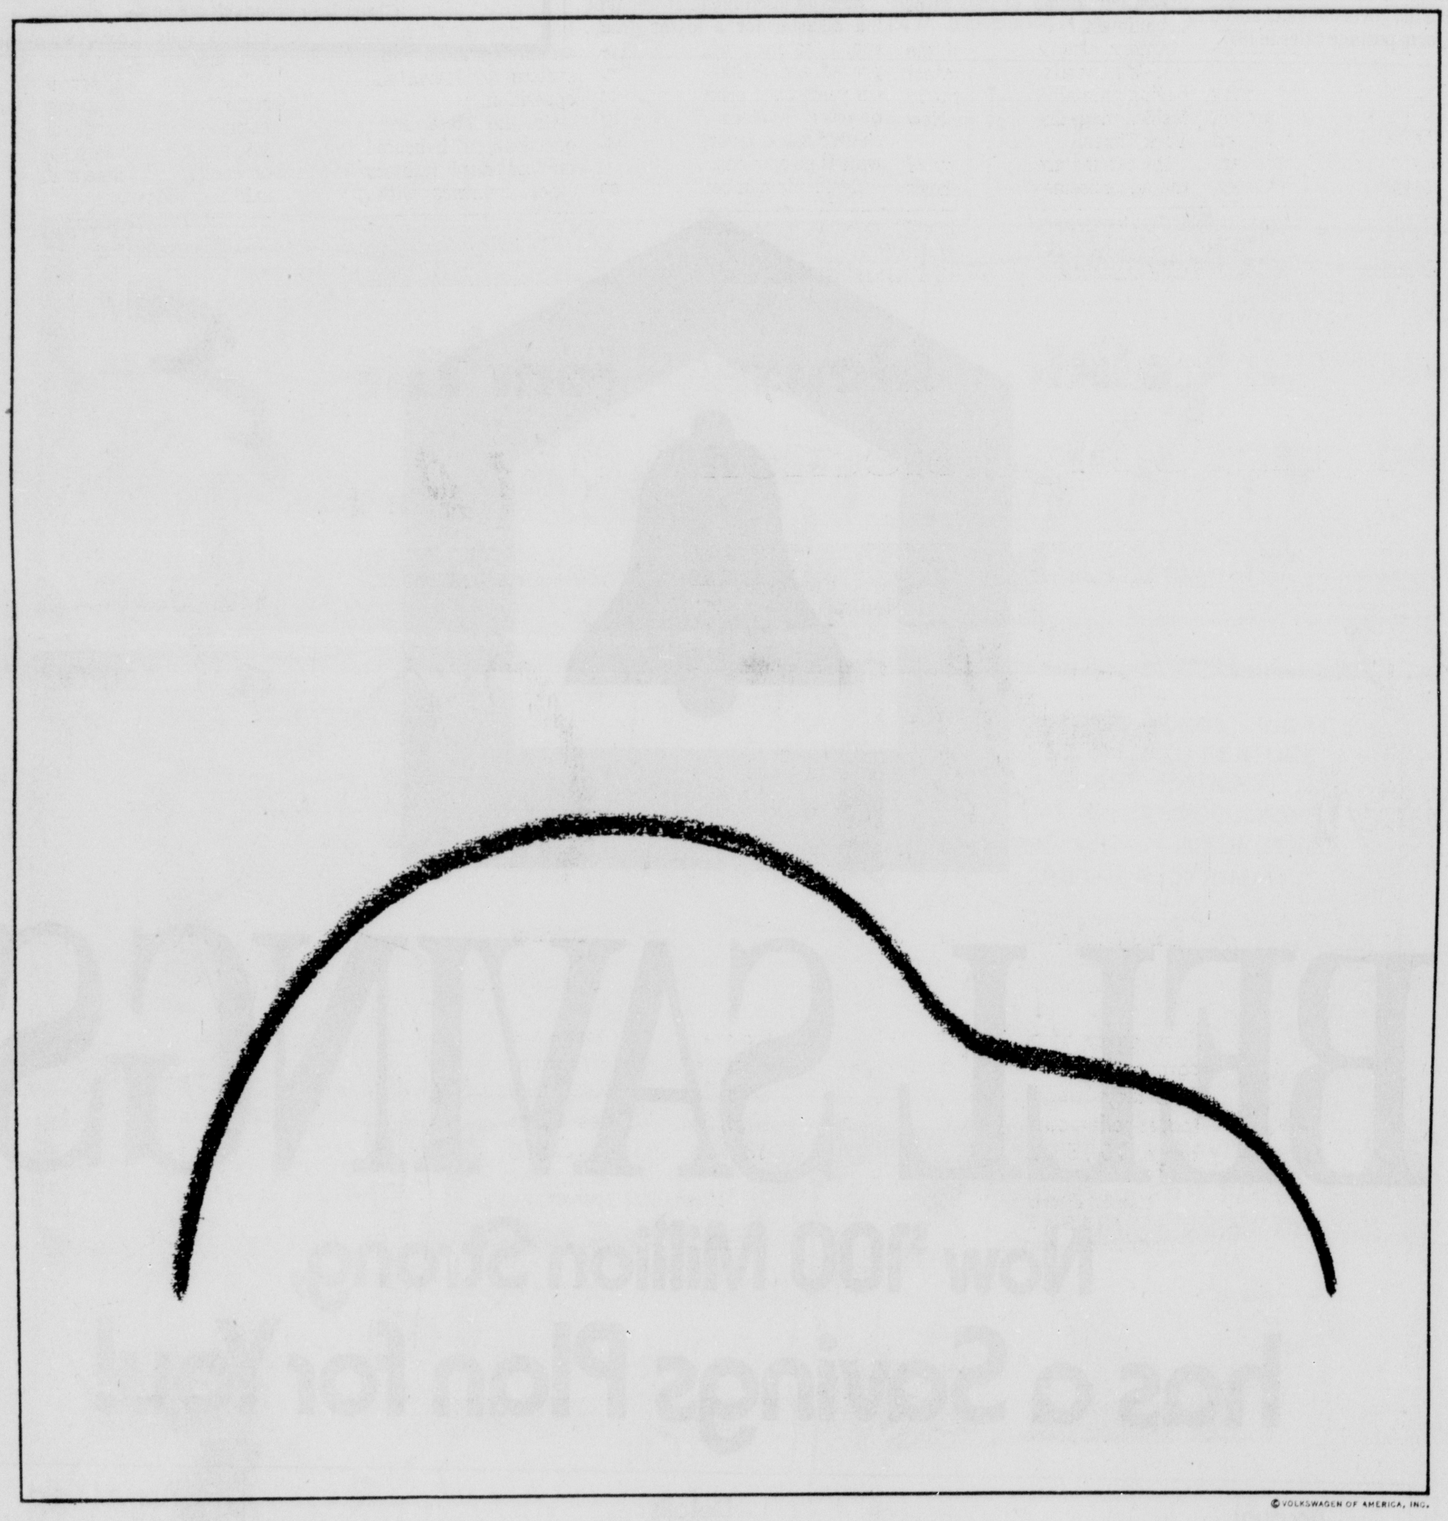

A total of 517 workers will be affected by Friday's action—213 at Indianapolis, 84 in other U.S. locations and 220 at Bryn Mawr, Wales. RCA also announced 85 persons had been laid off at the computer factory in Marlboro, Mass., reducing the work force there to 1,050.

Sign Uniformity Planners' Topic

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider regulations reguiring uniformity of signs at shopping centers in the city at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The commission will consider regulations for signs at seven shopping centers: Montecito, Northgate (units one through three), 175 Belvedere Street, Bret Harte and Loch Lomond.

With the regulations, to be enacted under the city's new sign ordinance, the city planning staff could consider sign applications without having to bring them to the commission for approval.

The shape of things to come.

Prediction
The Volkswagen Beetle will be around for years to come.

Prediction
Someone else somewhere will introduce a new economy car and there will be lots of excitement.

Prediction
The excitement will die down.

Prediction
As in the past, people who own old Volkswagens will trade them in for new Volkswagens because (we guess) they like Volkswagens.

Prediction
Our engineers will continue to improve the way the car works and our stylists will continue to be frustrated.

Prediction
Sometime in 1972, the Beetle will become the most popular single model automobile ever made in the world, bypassing the Model T Ford with production of over 15 million vehicles.

Prediction
We won't let that last prediction go to our heads.

THE EARLY FISHERMAN GETS A TROUT

Leo Clausen of San Anselmo squats patiently on the shore of Alpine Lake waiting for a nibble on his line while the sun rises among the clouds. Clausen found a break in the rainy weekend weather and went to the lake fully outfitted for a large catch. He caught only one rainbow trout, but at any rate the clouds soon departed leaving a clear day today for him and other fishermen to enjoy.

India Recognizes Rebel East Pakistan Government

Victory Claims By Both Sides; Fighting Steps Up

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

India recognized the Bangla Desh rebel government of East Pakistan today and reported its troops, with almost total air supremacy, were moving rapidly through East Pakistan in hopes of a quick victory.

India reported major victories in southern Kashmir where it said a Pakistani tank force was defeated with destruction of 23 Pakistani tanks and said its air force struck the harbor at Karachi again today and found the waterfront in flames.

Pakistan Radio reported it had captured up to 20 Indian border posts and carried out widespread air attacks against Indian military positions and air fields and reported victories in the Poonch sector of western Kashmir.

Radio Pakistan said its air force and navy had shot down a total of 77 Indian ajrcraft since the war began on Friday. It reported attacks against 10 Indian bases during the night and said planes today attacked the Indian naval base at Okha, near the Rann of ,Kutch. Pakistani sources in Karachi said 71 civilians had been killed and 215 wounded in Indian air raids.

All-India Radio said five Pakistani planes approached the city of Bombay tonight and that Indian antiaircraft guns went into action and drove them off. The broadcast said two alerts were sounded for 20 minutes tonight but that there had been no attack.

Most of the victory claims came from India, especially in East Pakistan where it reported new bombings of Pakistani ports and said East Pakistan was now isolated from resupply by West Pakistan. The capital city of Dacca has been cut off from its supply routes, India reported.

Two waves of Indian planes carried out low level bombing and strafing attacks of Dacca's international airport today, imperiling but not hurting a group of 10 British women and children who had just arrived there for evacuation aboard a United Nations mercy flight.

Another group of 250 American and other refugees in the Inter-continental Hotel in Dacca took refuge in the hotel corridors and were not hurt. The U.N. has asked for a two-hour cease-fire to permit two chartered U.N. planes to fly in from Bangkok.

India's decision to recognize the rebel Bangla Desh government was announced in Parliament in New Delhi. Members began cheering and thumping their desks even before Prime Minister Indira Gandhi finished her announcement.

The India-Pakistan war stems from the decision of Pakistani President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan last march to bring in West Pakistani troops to put down a rebellion by the Bangla Desh movement which declared itself independent of West Pakistan. The Awami League in East Pakistan had won a majority in the Pakistani Parliament in elections late last year but Yahya Khan prevented the League from taking its seats.

There was rebellion, civil war and the flight of 10 million refugees into India. India called the flight of the refugees a threat to Indian security and gave moral support to the Bangla Desh.

Today, Mrs. Gandhi told Parliament: "Now that Pakistan is waging war on us, the hesitation which the government was feeling in according recognition to the Bangla Desh government has lost significance."

She did not break relations with the military government in Rawalpindi but Pakistan immediately broke off diplomatic relations with India. Although they had been fighting a major war, neither had severed diplomatic relations.

U.S. Is Neutral — Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon stressed today a U.S. position of strict neutrality in the India-Pakistan war.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said following a meeting with Nixon that the President emphasized the United States must maintain "absolute neutrality" and not become "physically involved in any way."

Nixon briefed congressional leaders at the White House on the fighting between Indian and Pakistani troops in both East and West Pakistan. Scott said Secretary of State William P. Rogers would give lawmakers a further briefing at the Capitol Tuesday.

The leaders gave newsmen a cautiously couched account of their meeting with Nixon amid reports from the battle areas that Indian and Pakistani rebel troops were rapidly overrunning Pakistani government defenses in East Pakistan.

Mansfield, emphasizing he was speaking for himself and not the President, expressed hope that the Soviet Union and Communist China could help bring about a cease-fire. While the United States is remaining neutral, China is supporting Pakistan and Russia supporting India.

Attorney Group Charged In Causing Prison Unrest

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Rafael attorney, who earlier this year was sent to jail for five days for contempt of court, has been named by the state attorney general as one of a group of leftist attorneys fomenting unrest in prisons.

Lawrence G. Weiss's conduct has been referred to the State Bar Association for possible action, according to Attorney General Evelle Younger.

In a 69-page brief filed with the State Supreme Court, Younger said a small group of lawyers has been violating the law by getting unauthorized mail to prisoners.

Much of this is revolutionary in nature and its effect, Younger said, is like putting a match to a situation with "the explosive potential of a tinderbox California hillside in the autumn. . ."

Younger also named attorneys Faye Stender of Berkeley, Patrick Hallinan of San Francisco and several of Mrs. Stender's associates and accused them of personally delivering contraband mail to prisoners.

Weiss's name figured in discussion of a letter Younger said was delivered to Louis N. Talamantez, one of the San Quentin inmates accused of murder in the Aug. 21 escape attempt, in which three guards and three prisoners were slain.

Younger said the letter was from someone named " Estella" and read in part:

"After the court session, I was speaking with Larry (Lawrence Weiss, Younger suggested) about your possible release and he told me quite militantly that the only way you would come out is through a kidnap-ransom situation."

Weiss had asked for and been given a court appointment to represent Talamantez in a case in which the inmate is accused of assaulting another prisoner in March 1970.

At the beginning of an abortive start to try Talamantez on this charge, Weiss unsuccessfully sought to remove Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court from the case.

When Talamantez interrupted the proceedings, the judge threatened to remove him from the courtroom. The lawyer then said the judge shouldn't be hearing the case and stormed out of the courtroom.

Judge Gardiner removed Weiss from the case and held the lawyer in contempt, fining him $500 and sending him to jail for five days.

Younger filed the brief naming the attorneys in a lawsuit brought by a Folsom Prison inmate, Robert Charles Jordan Jr., last year, charging that new prison regulations prohibiting sealed letters between inmates and their attorneys were unconstitutional.

The case is being appealed to the Supreme Court.

Younger said the regulations were necessary because they were the only way to prevent correspondence involving plots or other "improper correspondence."

As proof, he attached a list of exhibits including letters he said were improperly delivered to prisoners by Mrs. Stender, Hallinan and several of Mrs. Stender's associates.

Both Mrs. Stender and Hallinan vigorously have denied they improperly delivered letters, and Weiss was not available today for comment.

$2.5 Billion Pared Aid Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Appropriations Committee, hoping to break a logjam that has delayed congressional adjournment, approved today a foreign aid bill carrying $1 billion less than the administration requested

At the same time, the panel offered the possibility of further cuts by including an amendment that would bar economic and military assistance to India and Pakistan until they stopped fighting.

The committee recommended to the House $2.57 billion be provided for overseas aid during the fiscal year that began last July 1. President Nixon had

Orr Hearing Told Clerk's Orders Broke Police Command Chain

Fired Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr frequently used police clerk Marsha S. Kittelman — rather than his watch commanders — to issue orders to officers, thus breaking down the department's chain of command, a police sergeant testified in the latest hearing into Orr's dismissal. (Story on Mrs. Kittelman, page 12.)

Sgt. Melvin Dollahite testified Saturday that standard operating rules in effect when he joined the Fairfax force seven years ago included a chain of command, but that Orr often ignored it, issuing orders through Mrs. Kittelman instead.

Dollahite said, however, that Mrs. Kittelman had never tried to give him orders because "we had an understanding. She doesn't tell me what to do and, to my knowledge, never supersedes my orders."

The sergeant also said that Mrs. Kittelman's frequent absence from her desk left officers in the field unable to communicate by radio with the office.

Dollahite was among witnesses Saturday during inquisition into the operation of the police department before the Fairfax Board of Review to which Orr has appealed his firing.

The quasi-judicial proceedings in the wood paneled auditorium of the Fairfax Women's Club were a blend of informality and deadly earnestness as Dollahite and another witness, Patrolman James Davis, submitted to direct examination by City Atty. Wallace S. Myers and cross-examination by Orr's attorney, Leonard Shaw.

Dollahite backed up Davis's complaint that Davis had once been threatened by Orr, but — like Davis — Dollahite was unable to furnish details of the threat or of what gave rise to it, merely presenting a tableau in which Orr stood over Davis with his fists clenched.

Dollahite said the chief did not appear to be intoxicated, but he could not recall what Orr said to the patrolman. Davis asked him, Dollahite said, "what it was all about" after the episode ended.

Earlier Saturday, Davis had said he couldn't recall what Orr

Four San Francisco Unions Place Pickets At I-J Building

Four San Francisco unions that walked out in January, 1970, in sympathy with the typographical union which struck the Independent-Journal, began picketing the newspaper today, asking to return to work.

Seven pickets appeared outside the I-J building shortly before 9 a.m. vowing that picketing would continue until contracts are signed with the four unions that supported the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

They carried signs and passed out statements accusing the paper of trying to wipe out the unions. "The I-J chooses conflict instead of harmony. It substitutes its own dictatorial, high-handed treatment for fair even-handed, across-the-table negotiations," the document from the Newspaper Unity Committee of the unions charged.

The paper's general manager, Norwin S. Yoffie, said the paper will not negotiate with the four unions because they no longer represent employees.

The four are stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Union 29, Lithographers and Photoengravers International Union, Local 280, San Francisco Web Pressmen's Union 4 and Newspaper and Periodical Drivers and Helpers Local 921. All are located in San Francisco.

The unions received strike sanction Saturday from the Marin County Labor Council, according to John A. O'Leary, secretary of the stereotypers' and electrotypers' union. Today's picketing was the first since September.

The four unions asked to return in early October, shortly after the 20-month typographical union strike was declared ended by the National Labor Relations Board. (The board's Sept. 27 ruling followed unanimous rejection of the union by the I-J's composing room employees in a representation election.)

Yoffie's response to the October requests was: "As you know, all strikers have been replaced, and these include your members who went out on strike along with the LTU (typographers). There are no openings at the present time."

Pickets today circled the I-J building with signs claiming the unions had been locked out and censuring the paper for refusing to negotiate.

"We'd like to get back to work," one picket said. He said the unions are asking for contracts similar to those signed with other papers.

Contracts with the unions would have expired last winter, had they not already been abrogated when the unions' members had not walked off the job the year before, Yoffie said.

Yoffie said that due to changes in the operation of the paper, jobs held by the drivers and the stereotypers no longer exist.

The paper's figures indicate that of the total payroll of 185 persons, about 14 drivers, 10 or 11 pressmen, five stereotypers and one photoengraver refused to work during the typographical union strike. About six members of the four unions continued to work.

Some of the strikers from the four unions resigned following January of 1970 to take other jobs.

O'Leary and Frank Willie, secretary of the web pressmen's union, each said the unions walked out almost two years ago in sympathy with the typographers, not because of any grievance.

Members of the four unions and the typographical union appeared at the paper Aug. 19 to ask for their jobs back. They said then they were responding to a presidential call to end strikes and lockouts.

STRIKERS — Two pickets representing four striking San Francisco unions march around the Independent-Journal building. They were among seven pickets that began circling the paper today saying they want to recover jobs for about 30 union men who had been honoring the picket lines of San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

had said, other than, "If you feel I've insulted you, stand up."

Both witnesses described morale in the department as "low" during Orr's regime, and both criticized the way orders were relayed, evidence was held for safekeeping, radio procedures, training and alleged favoritism shown by Orr to Mrs. Kittelman.

During Dellahite's testimony, it was revealed that Orr unsuccessfully had sought city funds to rebuild the evidence room, even ordering photographs made of it to show the city council. Firemen and "every city employee" had access to the room, the board of review was told.

After Orr was fired by City Administrator Robert E. Crowe on Sept. 30, the evidence room was demolished and is being rebuilt, the city review board learned to its surprise. Board member Alfred F. Daubenfeld asked, as the session neared its end, if Dollahite could show the board the room.

"The evidence locker is being torn down," Crowe explained.

Dollahite said he might be able to locate the photos in department files.

During Dollahite's first stint on the stand — he will return when the hearing resumes at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow — the board for the first time got into another of the 26 charges Crowe brought against Orr. The chief had left the scene of a stake-out against a rumored shoot-out "at an unspecified time" for half an hour, and then returned and told other officers he'd had two or three drinks at a nearby home, Crowe said.

Dollahite could not recall the date of the episode, but said about seven Fairfax policemen including Orr had set up the stakeout to nip rumored plans for a burglary by a gang armed with shotguns."

Orr had left the hidden officers to visit the home of George Pagni, Dollahite recalled. At that time, Pagni was either mayor or a councilman, it was pointed out by Leonard B. Shaw, Orr's attorney.

"I did not observe any evidence of alcohol" when Orr returned to the stake-out, Dollahite said.

The officer, a seven-year veteran of the force, was promoted to sergeant in August. Asked to cite reasons for his claim of low morale in the department, he replied, "Failure on the chief's part to praise officers who'd done a good job," citing the case of Officer Jack Cooper who had received a commendation.

Since Orr's firing, Dollahite said, operating rules have been rewritten by the acting chief, Lt. Charles Grasso, and the three sergeants. The patrolmen received the new rules Friday, Dollahite said.

Black Intellectuals In Marin Conference

About 20 black intellectuals and activists from all over the U.S. as well as one from Canada gathered during the weekend at a three-day retreat in Mill Valley.

A spokesman for the Black World Foundation, headquartered in Sausalito, which called the conference, declined to name the exact location of the retreat but said it was in a private home.

The discussion centered around "where we are now and where do we want to go," the spokesmen said. She added that persons with knowledge in fields such as economics, politics, culture, ecology education, the family and military-technology, gave their views.

Following the retreat, one of the participants, Chuck Stone, told a press conference that "we're now in the phase of black consolidation."

Stone said the development of a collective black leadership was in "healthy" contrast to the "previous phase. . . of the single charismatic leader like Martin Luther King or a Whitney Young."

Dr. Nathan Hare, former black studies director at San Francisco State College and now president of the Black World Foundation, hailed the retreat as "one first step in a new and emerging role for black intellectuals toward a black cultural renaissance."

sought a $3.6 billion appropriation.

House leaders said the bill would be brought to the floor later in the week, despite the fact that Congress has not yet enacted a foreign aid authorization. Normally, an authorization —which sets a ceiling on spending —must come before an appropriation.

However sources said the Senate was unlikely to go along with what was generally interpreted as an attempted end-run around a battle being waged by Senate opponents of the administration's Vietnam policy.

The doves are insisting on keeping an end-the-war amendment in the foreign aid authorization. Besides tying up that legislation, the conflict has stymied adjournment plans and imperiled prospects for passage of the first major election campaign reform in 46 years.

Reed Schools Will Name Panel Members

The Reed School District board will appoint members to two committees — the sixth, seventh and eighth grade and the small schools fact-finding committees — when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Bel Aire School.

The board also will consider a request by the City of Tiburon which wants to use the music room at Del Mar for city council and other meetings.

Novato Will Get Report On Airports

The Novato City Council will hear a report on airport studies by the Association of Bay Area Governments at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown suggested the report because the study relates to the future of aviation in Marin and Novato is concerned with both Hamilton Air Force Base and Gnoss Field.

Angela Due In Court Wednesday

I-J Special Report

PALO ALTO — Angela Davis is due in court for the first time in this university city Wednesday, presumably for participants in the case to discuss a trial date.

The former university instructor was transferred last week to a jail here after Judge Richard E. Arnason ordered a change of venue to Santa Clara County. Her lawyers had unsuccessfully sought a switch to San Francisco.

Sheriff's officials here said today they did not know whether Wednesday's session would be in chambers or in open court.

It also was unknown whether the actual trial, delayed for almost a year, will be in Palo Alto or in San Jose. Arnason, the sixth judge in the case, has been assigned to continue with the case in Santa Clara County.

Miss Davis was jailed in Marin for almost a year after being arrested in New York in connection with the August 1970 shoot-out at the Marin Civic Center.

OBITUARIES

Frederick Bullock, 32, Stuntman

Funeral for Frederick (Dick) Bullock, former San Anselmo resident and Hollywood stuntman, will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Bullock, 32, of Sun Valley, Los Angeles County, who performed numerous daring feats for the movies, was killed last Wednesday in a traffic accident near Kingman, Ariz. He was born in Oakland, but had lived most of his early life in San Anselmo. He attended San Anselm's school, Marin Catholic High School and Sir Francis Drake High School where he played football and golf. Following high school, he served as a paratrooper in the Army for three years.

He was employed by Stunts Unlimited and was in demand for his feats on motorcycles and horses and for falling off buildings. He had appeared in many John Wayne movies, doing the dangerous scenes for that actor. His three latest movies were "Cactus," "To Save Your Life" and "The Bearcat."

He was a member of the Screen Actor's Guild and Stuntman's Association.

In addition to his mother, a Bay Area musician, he is survived by a son, Christopher Bullock of Glendale, and three sisters, Patricia Pickart of San Rafael, Barbara Bullock of Hawaii and Mary Kay Bullock of San Anselmo.

A memorial service was held this afternoon for him at Forest Lawn Chapel in Los Angeles.

LAUNCH DELAY — The explosion shortly after launch of an Air Force rocket carrying a top secret spy satellite caused NASA to postpone the launch of this rocket, the second Intelsat 4 communications satellite, which was to have used an identical booster. The Air Force Atlas-Agena rocket was destroyed when it veered off course late Saturday.

NASA Waits Word On Missile Failure

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Space Agency awaited word from the Air Force today on what caused the failure of a secret spy satellite launching to see if a further delay is needed in the launch of a communications satellite with a similar rocket.

The radio relay spacecraft had been set for launch tonight, but the shot was postponed when the Air Force disclosed Sunday that an Atlas-Agena rocket blew up shortly after launch late Saturday.

The explosion of the military rocket was hidden by dense clouds and Col. Davis Parrish, the launch director, declined to say what happened. There was no explanation for the Air Force's 16-hour delay in announcing the failure.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is using an Atlas-Centaur rocket to launch the 3,000-pound Intelsat 4 communications satellite. The Atlas first stage is identical to the one used by the Air Force and NASA officials want to make sure their booster does not have the same defect.

"We just don't know if there is an effect on us, we're not going to fly until we find out," a NASA spokesman said. "We're waiting to hear from the Air Force."

The military rocket was destroyed by radio command when it veered off course. Parrish said the fault was in the Atlas and that its debris fell into a "broad ocean area" and did not damage anything on Earth.

Unusual secrecy was placed on the mission and the Air Force did not even announce the launch had occurred until questioned by newsmen. The rocket's rumbling roar could be heard for miles around and its brevity indicated the failure occurred within a minute or two after launch at low altitude above the Atlantic.

The military spacecraft was the fifth in a series testing experimental sensors designed to detect and track missiles launched from Russia.

Sierra Club Votes Trim New Budget

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The conservationist Sierra Club has voted on a new trimmed budget and called for "extensive ecological planning" in housing developments and recreational facilities.

The Club's executive director told the weekend meeting of the board of directors that the group was spreading itself too thin and that a new statement of goals and priorities should be developed.

"The world needs to be saved, but the Sierra Club should not be gripped by the illusion that it can do it alone," said Michael McCloskey.

McCloskey's warning was made during a two day meeting in which directors nearly cut a three-year-old campus liaison program and $30,000 from its book programs in an effort to save money.

The club's membership has doubled in six years to 135,000 persons, MCcloskey said, but the agenda has multiplied "five or ten times" and "we are like an army trying to man a longer and longer front line."

McCloskey suggested massing forces and developing a program of priorities, looking at least five years ahead.

After the fiscal portion of the session, some 20 policy declarations were made, including opposition to the placement of housing developments or new towns on wild and relatively uninhabited areas.

Former Actor Neal Gets Out Of Jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—In 1951 Tom Neal was a succesful actor who had appeared in 180 films and had a movie-star mansion with swimming pool. Three years later he was a gardener in Palm Springs.

Today he becomes an ex-convict.

Violence brought him there.

Neal figured in one of Hollywood's most celebrated fistfights, and then was convicted of manslaughter in the death of his wife, who he said he accidentally shot and killed as they made love.

Neal's career collapsed after he battered Franchot Tone in 1951 in a brawl over sexy, young actress Barbara Payton. Tone was knocked out and had to be hospitalized for treatment of a brain concussion.

Neal said he was fighting for the woman he loved, and to defend himself. Tone threw the first punch, Neal said, but it missed. Miss Payton had been rotating her affection between them and he was angered to find them together, Neal said.

Miss Payton married Tone after the fight, but the marriage broke up only months later.

Although Tone went on working in movies until he died, the careers of Neal and Miss Payton were ruined. Before she died several years ago, Miss Payton had been arrested for prostitution, drunkeness and passing bad checks.

Neal found he had been blacklisted because of the scandal. He had learned something about gardening from two Japanese who cared for the two-acre grounds of his Bel-Air estate when he was a success.

He wound up clipping hedges in Palm Springs, took a third wife, and eventually worked up a landscaping business.

On April 1, 1965, his estranged wife Gail, 29, was killed by a .45-caliber pistol bullet in the head and Neal was brought to trial for murder. He testified that she held the gun at his head as they made love, angered because he had accused her of sleeping with other men, and that she was accidentally killed as they struggled for the pistol. Barbara Payton was a spectator at the trial one day. They waved at each other.

Neal was sentenced to 1-15 years for manslaughter, and was to be released on parole today, according to the California Institution for Men at Chino.

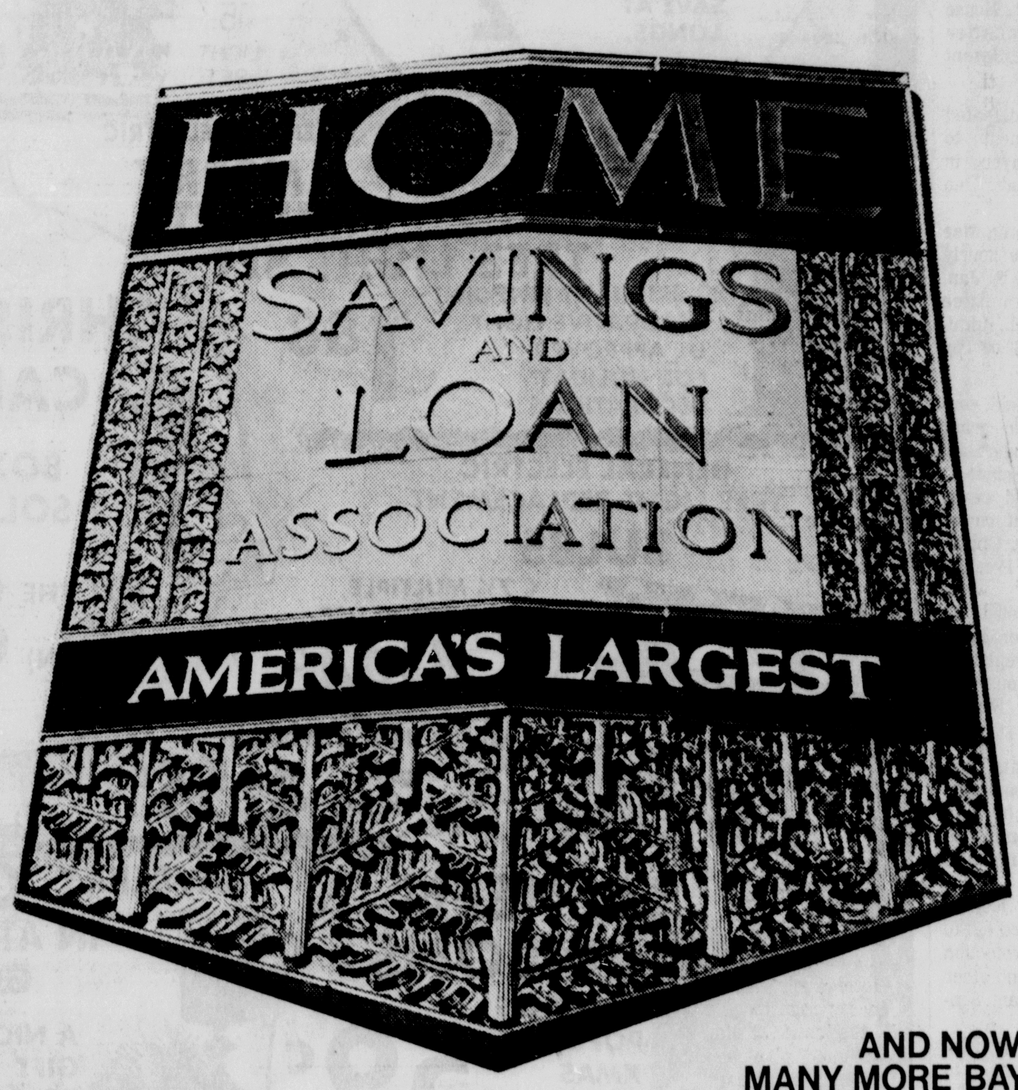

Neal has a job with a real estate and construction firm, but said recently he had seen his old agent while free on a pre-parole furlough.

"I've lived a lot. I've got more character now than in the old days," said Neal, 58. "And I've mellowed. When I see a fight nowadays I walk away from it. I'd like to take up acting again."

Cluster Housing Issue On Agenda

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider cutting the required acreage for cluster housing developments from 25 acres to one at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall.

The proposed ordinance is in conformance with a recommendation by the ad hoc committee which drew up the housing element to the town's general plan. Only a handful of parcels of more than 25 acres remain in town.

Also set for discussion is a request by the Mariner Cove Improvement Association calling for additional firemen to man both town fire stations on a 24-hour basis.

S. Sonoma Districts To Study Unification Vote

Representatives from 10 Southern Sonoma school districts will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Petaluma School Administration Building to review plans for a unification election to be held June 6.

New Theory On Cancer Cells

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seeds of cancer apparently are within the cells of all animals and the problem is to learn how they are triggered, how to find them and how to control them, a researcher declared Sunday.

Dr. George J. Todaro of the National Cancer Institute of Bethesda, Md., told a symposium the seeds are viruses and produce an enzyme that changes body cells' DNA into a malignant form.

He was speaking at a symposium on genetic chemicals and tumors which was sponsored by the American Society of Hematology and the Leukemia Society of America.

Center Is Listed For Nursing Home Complaints

The San Rafael Social Security office will serve as the Marin County center to receive complaints about substandard conditions in nursing homes.

Persons with information about instances of poor quality care, neglect, unsanitary or unsafe conditions can report by letter or telephone to the office.

The local office will see that the complaint is referred to the proper agency for investigation.

If desired, the name of the person filing the complaint will be kept confidential, according to Ed Leuin, district manager.

Auto Shop Theft

Cash totaling $14 was taken in a burglary of S and S Auto Body shop, 180 Gary Place, San Rafael, Saturday or yesterday.

Ojai Church Burns — Arson

OJAI (UPI)—A large portion of the Ojai Methodist Church was destroyed in an arson-caused fire which officials said bore similarities to three recent fires in a 25-mile radius.

Fire Capt. James Smith said the arsonist piled cardboard cartons beside the church and ignited them with matches. Damage to the Ventura County church was estimated Saturday at $50,000.

The blaze was set early Friday morning. Fires set the same way erupted Nov. 27 at an Ojai Safeway Market, at another Methodist church and a Safeway store last month in neighboring Santa Paula.

Councilman Quits In Rohnert Park

Rohnert Park City Councilman James W. Rogers has resigned because of increased responsibilities in the real estate business.

Rogers, a councilman for eight years, submitted his resignation Thursday. It was effective immediately. He said he had been promoted to managing broker for the Bart Mitchell Real Estate Agency and would no longer have time to devote to civic affairs.

Rogers, 39, served as mayor in 1965 and 1969.

Apartment Units To Be Studied

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting Tuesday at 8:30 a.m. at Civic Center, again will consider a proposed 334-unit apartment development for the ridge overlooking Strawberry.

The project, considered by the board two weeks ago, was returned to the architect after supervisors criticized the plan as "ridiculous and frightening."

The architect was requested to bring back additional renderings of the project — called Sea Port Hills — showing its size in relation to surrounding open space.

The two-stage project would concentrate development of the first phase on the ridgetop overlooking the Strawberry Shopping Center. When viewed from Highway 101, the apartment buildings would give the appearance of one long building across the skyline.

The second phase would be constructed on the slopes below.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

NIGHT MEETINGS —Will consider staff recommendations that the once-a-month night meeting schedule be changed to allow supervisors to call such meetings based on public interest on agenda items. The meetings have been criticized for a concentration of "boring" or noncontroversial items.

AGRICULTURAL ZONING — Will consider a request from the county planning department for authorization to hire a consultant to study the effect of low density zoning on lands in the county's agricultural preserve.

ROAD ALIGNMENT — Will consider requests from Bayside Acres residents that the county reconsider plans for the Point San Pedro Road widening project, expected to begin in April. Residents have complained that the county-approved plan —as opposed to an alternate — does not provide for safety.

DAVIS-MAGEE — Will hear a report on new legislation enabling the county to apply for state reimbursement for Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee court costs.

AMBULANCE FEE — Will consider revising ambulance fees charged persons using the county fire department's ambulance at Point Reyes station. The fee is currently $80 per trip, with new proposals reducing that amount in some cases to $37.50 plus $1.50 per mile.

TRANSIT — Will meet as the Marin County Transit District board at 8:30 a.m. to discuss implementation of commuter bus service by the Golden Gate Bridge District on Jan. 3, and the status of negotiations with Marin Transit Systems.

Pompidou May Use Net Jet

PARIS (UPI) — President Georges Pompidou is considering flying to the Azores for his meeting with President Nixon next week aboard the prototype Concorde supersonic airliner, a French radio station said today.

A spokesman for the Elysee Palace said he had no information on the report, but an official of the Aerospatiale Company, which is building the French version of the Anglo-French airliner, said "it is not impossible."

The report, by the state-run France-Inter Radio Network, said Pompidou wanted to demonstrate that he could get to the Azores twice as fast as President Nixon flying in a subsonic White House plane.

Instruments Taken

Musical instruments valued at $1,625 were taken between 11 and 11:10 p.m. Saturday from his car parked at 807 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, Jeffrey M. Staton, 21, of Hayward reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

Opposing Views On Jet Supply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad contradicted each other Sunday on the effect U.S. delivery of Phantom jets to Isael would have on the Mideast balance of power.

Mrs. Meir said the failure of the United States to provide the jets for the Israeli air force has created a "dangerous" situation" because Egypt is being supplied constantly with more and better arms while the delivery of planes to us has stopped."

But Riad said shipment of the jets would prolong the Mideast arms race. "They have asked for more Phantoms . . . and we will ask for more weapons and arms in order to liberate ourselves."

Both were interviewed on television. Mrs. Meir on NBC's "Meet the Press" and Riad on CBS's "Face the Nation."

Riad also charged that Israel is to blame for the failure of the Gunnar Jarring peace mission for the United Nations and the breakdown of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers' efforts to bring peace.

Mrs. Meir repeated Israel's position that it is willing to negotiate anything with the Arabs, particularly Egypt, but without and preconditions.

Jailed Teachers Vow To Stay Until Archdiocese Negotiates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Eleven striking lay teachers from Bay Area Roman Catholic high schools remained in city jail over the weekend and vowed to stay there until the Archdiocese agrees to binding arbitration.

The teachers were among 22 arrested Friday during a sit-in at the Archdiocesan chancery.

The eleven chose to be booked into jail rather than accept citations as did 10 others following the sit-in.

A 12th teacher booked, John Breen, 37, of San Francisco — a Marin Catholic High School teacher — was released on his own recognizance Friday night after he paid a $46 traffic warrant, bailiffs at San Francisco City Prison reported.

Breen and the others were to be arraigned on trespassing charges today in San Francisco Municipal Court.

Eight pickets were reported outside Marin Catholic today as the lay teachers' strike began its fourth week.

A spokesman for the Secondary Teachers Association, which struck seven high schools three weeks ago, said the AFL-CIO affiliate would file unfair labor practice charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

Bob Crosier, an official of the parent American Federation of Teachers, said the charge will be based on the premise that the Archdiocese has the money to meet the teachers' demand for higher pay. He said the teachers will seek permission to examine financial records.

"We are staying in jail to make it clear to the Archdoicese it cannot continue to sit back," said Jerry Killian, president of the association.

"It has to negotiate with us," he said.

The teachers were taken to the County Jail for Mass Sunday but walked out when they learned that no other City Prison inmates were attending.

"We didn't want any special privileges," Killian said.

A prison spokesman said the teachers were not afforded any provileges.

"No one else wanted to go," he said.

More than 50 striking teachers protested peacefully outside the Hall of Justice Saturday. Among the signs they carried was one reading: "Millions for cathedrals, but not one penney for teachers."

New Drugs Developed To Combat Viruses

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. George Gee Jackson finds the scientific prospect for really effective anti-virus drugs in general and anti-influenza drugs in particular to be quite good.

That's hopeful for future influenza seasons but not for people who come down with flu this winter. As of now, no drugs for curing the flu, once caught, exist in practical form.

The improved prospect is relatively new. As Jackson remarked, "for many years virologists held out little hope for development of a specifically anti-influenzal therapy or, for that matter, of specific antiviral agents of any kind."

Viruses become so intimately a part of the body cells they infect, it seemed impossible to attack them without attacking their hosts. But now, Jackson said, virology knows of five "mechanisms" for interfering with viral multiplication without undue harm to cells.

The quest is for drugs which do the trick readily against a wide range of infectious viruses. For each of the five theoretic "mechanisms" there now is an experimental druv or drugs of varying promise in varying stages of development. Hence the optimism of Jackson, an authority on infectious diseases and a professor of medicine at the University of Illinois.

One "mechanism" is to prevent viruses from synthesizing their nucleic acids. Another is to mess up the assembling of proteins derived from those acids into complete viruses. A third is to inhibit the ability of viruses to enter body cells. The remaining "mechanisms" are to inactivate viruses and to increase the resistance of cells to invasion.

Jackson warned physicians against looking forward to a "magic antiviral bullet." The very variety of possible approaches means a tedious development of a series of antiviral drugs each with a comparatively limited range of activity, he wrote in the technical journal, "Hospital Practice."

One of the drugs is available to all doctors by prescription. In Jackson's opinion doctors are not making enough use of it because they are "waiting for the ideal drug."

It is amantadine, a synthetic, which seems to prevent "A" type influenza viruses, including the Hong Kong variant, from entering body cells, but is not at all effective against the "B" type.

Another limitation is that it must be present in the body at the time of virus challenge. This means its chief value is that of a preventive of "A" influenza.

Flag Ban Fight Taken To Belli

CUPERTINO, Calif. (UPI)— A produce man says he will fight a city ordinance that prevents him from flying the American flag over his vegetable stand.

Walter Kohn recently was ordered to haul down 12 flags that cost him $400. He has taken his case to San Francisco attorney Melvin Belli.

Belli predicted the ordinance would be struck down in a court suit.

Kohn furled the American flag and 11 U.N. members" flags in defeat Saturday to avoid arrest.

"They're beautiful flags, don't you think?" He said. "I really hate to take them down."

The city ordinance for which he was cited prohibits "any moving sign surfaces or other advertising structures which are electrically or mechanically operated or wind activated, including flags, valances or streamers ..."

No Meeting

Soldiers Flush Out Irish Outlaws

By DONAL O'HIGGINS

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Mrs. Margaret Brannigan pulled her black wool shawl tight around her shoulders. She ignored the greetings from passersby, their heads bent against the sleet-laden November wind.

She was staring at a British army patrol moving slowly up Panton Street in the Lowr Falls, the heart of the Roman Catholic working class ghetto.

Suddenly she stiffened. The patrol had stopped. Combatclad soldiers rushed into a house Others took up firing positions outside it, scanning rooftops and street corners.

Exactly seven minutes later, the soldiers came out. They hustled a youth along with them. They put him aboard an armored car and sped away.

Another suspected member of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) had been "lifted."

The old woman turned away, shaking her head. "How did they know?" she asked of no one in particular. "How did they know to stop there?"

The same scene has been reenacted in many streets—the same question has been asked by many people.

In the bars of the Ardoyne, along the dull, featureless streets of Ballymurphy, Springfield Road and Whiterock, men and women were asking "How did they know?"

Since internment was introduced Aug. 9 in Northern Ireland in an effort to stamp out violence,the British army has claimed a steady flow of information was reaching it.

Over the past several weeks more than 1,100 persons have been arrested—the majority of them released after questioning — in army swoops on Roman Catholic areas.

Many of them were picked up in house-by-house combouts in large-scale army sweeps. But the overall pattern of the army's "search squads have moved in against selected houses. Suspects have been picked up evidently in line with a prepared list.

The army seems to know what it is looking for and where to look for it.

Senior British officers are openly pleased with the turn of events. "Internment is working —the information is coming to us," one said. "The city is becoming unsafe for the IRA — we are squeezing their bolt holes."

In the hardcore IRA areas, there were many who did not dispute it. Some of them conceded readily the IRA was being hurt.

"Mass arrests and interrogation is bound to produce results," one IRA source said. "Our task is to counteract it as quickly as possible."

IRA leaders say their "volunteers" were bound to talk under army questioning. "We expect them to tell us quickly what they have told the military," one IRA leader said. "In that way we can take steps to counteract it."

The relentless army pressure has forced the IRA to change its structure from that of a conventional army to one of individual cells, operating more or less independently of each other.

Previously the IRA was constituted along the chains of command of a regular military force. The chief of staff, aided by his own headquarters staff, directed overall operations. Below him were a number of battalions, each again with its own headquarters staff, which were assigned areas of operation.

Battalions were divided into companies which, in turn, were subdivided into sections.

Second Largest Foundation

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — The Robert Wood Johnson foundation, established in 1936 by the former chairman of Johnson & Johnson medical products firm, has become the nation's second largest foundation with assets of more than $1 billion, it was revealed Sunday.

A spokesman for the foundation said the founder, Robert Wood Johnson, left the bulk of his estate when he died three years ago, and that final accounting had only been completed recently.

The foundation had been relatively small, giving away only some $5 million since its inception mostly to support several local hospitals. Its huge addition from the Johnson estate makes it second only to theFord Foundation in total assets, and the only other foundation ever to have more than $1 billion in assets.

The spokesman also said the foundation had picked David E. Rogers, dean of the Johns Hopkins University Medical School, as its new president, to take office Jan. 15. The current president, Gustave O. Lienhard, will become chairman of the Foundation's Board of Trustees.

Johnson was the son of the founder of the medical firm, and has served as its president and chairman for more than 30 years.

Silver Dollars To Depository

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a four-month transfer operation that ends today, the Treasury finished moving 2.9 million rare silver dollars — some worth up to $200 each — to its silver bullion depository at West Point, N.Y.

Most of the coins were turned out at the old Carson City, Nev. mint between 1878 and 1891. They were moved as the first step in offering them for sale to the public about one year from now.

Public notice will be given before the sale and individual buyers will be allowed a maximum of one coin from each of the 10 categories. The sale prices have not yet been determined.

The last shipment will be made in a heavily guarded truck insured for $15 million.

Okay. Are we a restaurant, or an art gallery, or what. This question often gives our customers the opportunity to make smart remarks like the one above. The answer is that we are whatever you'd like us to be. If you like fine art better than eating, we are a fine art gallery. If, on the other hand, you'd rather eat than look at a lot of silly pictures, we're a fine continental restaurant. It's just a matter of taste. In either case, the taste is good.

Leaps From Bridge; Week's Toll Is Three

Two persons, one a decorated World War II Veteran, leaped to their deaths Saturday from the Golden Gate Bridge, bringing to three the number of span leaps last week, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the body of Lee S. Hager, 57, a Bronze Star recipient in Europe during the war, was recovered by the Coast Guard at noon after he disregarded the plea of a 10-year-old boy and jumped from the east side of the span near the south tower.

The patrol said Hager, of San Francisco, climbed over the railing at 11:45 a.m. Jeffery Burns, 10, of San Francisco, pleaded with him not to jump but Hager ignored him and leaped anyway, officers said.

About four hours later Delores Bolstad, of San Francisco, was seen by witnesses to walk to midspan, drop her purse on the sidewalk and jump, the patrol said. Her body was not recovered.

A young man who apparently jumped off the bridge Thursday but whose body was not found remained unidentified today, the San Francisco coroners officer reported.

The highway patrol said it was notified of a man standing on the east railing of the bridge at midspan about 4:27 p.m. Thursday. Witnesses said the man,who looked to be about 27 years old, jumped before officers could reach him.

He was described as about 5 feet 8 inches tall, 140 pounds, with brown hair and wearing a blue windbreaker and blue denim trousers.

Tables Turned On Burglar

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—A burglar at an Omaha home this weekend had the tables turned on him. Einer H. Simonsen, owner of the house, said he walked into his front room Saturday evening and surprised the burglar—who ran out a back door and left behind the television, radio and several appliances he had gathered.

Simonsen said he chased the man, described as about 20 with a beard, until he caught up with him several minutes later, and a scuffle broke out.

Although Simonsen lost the battle and the burglar got away, he said he got the thief's sweater, flashlight, cigarette lighter, gloves and a package of cigarettes.

Fire Damages Two Apartments

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two three-story apartment buildings on California Street were heavily damaged early today in a four alarm fire. Two residents escaped by rope from one of the flaming structures.

Seventy-one-year-old Albert Mouton, a retired printer, slid from the window on a rope he kept under his bed for just such an emergency.

"There were some fires in a place I lived in once in Los Angeles, so I bought me a rope just in case," Mouton said. He suffered rope burns on his hands.

Jack Miller, 57, also escaped from the third floor window by using Mouton' rope.

Besides the two men's rope burns, a half dozen others suffered minor injuries. Thirteen occupants fled when the four-alarm blaze broke out at 5:40 a.m. it was brought under control in 45 minutes. The cause was not immediately determined.

Leg, Hip Broken In Auto Accident

A Folsom woman was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today with a broken leg and broken right hip suffered in an automobile accident in Corte Madera yesterday.

Police said Mary A. Hess, 51, was injured when her car ran off Paradise Drive near Robin Drive at 8:35 p.m.

Ex-Judge Is Sentenced In Bribery, Conspiracy

STOCKTON (UPI)—Former Superior Court Judge Maxwell Willens was sentenced to prison today on three counts of bribery and one of criminal conspiracy.

The 62-year-old former jurist, convicted on the charges by a jury last June 23, showed no emotion as Superior Court Judge Richard Patton passed sentence. But his family, watching from the spectators section, burst into tears.

Willens was remanded immediately to the State Correctional Board to be sent to Vacaville Medical Facility, which will decide where he will serve the sentence.

Patton turned down a request for a stay of execution and a request for Willens' release on personal recognizance pending execution of the sentence.

Willens had spent several months at Vacaville underoing examination. Probation officers subsequently recommended he be let off with probation. But the State Attorney General's office pushed for a prison sentence.

Willens was convicted by a jury of seven men and five women after a seven-week trial.

The charges stemmed from a period from December, 1967, through April, 1970, while he was a municipal and superior court judge.

He was accused of engaging in a string of bribery incidents with Stockton furrier Albert Weisinger as the middle-man. Weisinger was convicted in a separate trial of aiding and abetting.

The charges alleged bribes of an auto and cash ranging from $200 to $5,000, in return for granting lighter sentences than justified to criminal court clients.

The judge also was found guilty of one count of conpsiracy to receive a bribe.

Willens, once the youngest lawyer in California when he was admitted to the bar at the age of 21, once served on the State Crime Commission.

More Milk For U.S. Servicemen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has agreed to provide servicemen with ample supplies of milk following complaints that milk consumption was limited on some bases.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said during the weekend that he received a clarifying letter on the milk situation from the Army. Reuss said men at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., Ft. Dix, N.J., and Ft. Bragg, N.C., reported the limitation.

The Army said the complaints were caused by misunderstanding a purchasing guideline designed to limit mess hall consumption of carbonated beverages.

Orr Hearing Witness AWOL From Her Job

Marsha E. Kittleman, key figure in hearings on the firing of Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, has been declared by the Fairfax city administrator to be absent without leave from her post with the police department. (See story on hearing, page 1.)

City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said Saturday that Mrs. Kittleman had not reported for duty as police clerk and matron since testifying at the hearing Nov. 29 and had refused to furnish acceptable medical certification of unfitness for work.

The administrator said she had sent a note from her physician saying that she should not return to work before Dec. 20, but had not kept an appointment for a verifying physical examination with the city's own physician.

"As far as I'm concerned, she's AWOL (absent without leave)," Crowe declared Saturday. "I'd order my own secretary to have a city physical if I thought" she was malingering, the official said. "But I'm not prepared to take any action at this time."

Asked if he planned future action, Crowe said, "I don't want to put myself into another box. I've already got one box," referring to the long-drawn hearings concerning Orr's firing.

"SMEAR YOUR clothes" was the instruction given to Lisa Byerly and David Shain while they finger painted during a seminar on fabric care. Just as in the television commercials, the children did mess up their clothes with paint. Then into the clothes washer went their clothes, while the children stood by in swim suits. For the result, see below. . .

THE POLYESTERS

Development, Uses And Care Of Man-Made Fabrics Related

By JOAN LISETOR

SAN FRANCISCO — To clean up the confusion about the care of polyester fabrics, Whirlpool Corp. and the Celanese Fiber Marketing Co. have joined forces and are presenting a series of seminars in cities across the country.

Friday at the Mark Hopkins Hotel representatives from both companies discussed the development, uses and care of man-made fibers.

As the appliance company's director of public relations, Ronald Gow, greeted reporters and home economics instructors, a young boy and girl stood before the audience finger painting. Both had trouble following the directions to wipe their grubby hands on their spotless polyester clothes, especially the girl, who complied very gingerly.

SATISFIED THAT THE clothes were sufficiently stained, Virginia Van Nostrand of the company's home service department ordered the children to strip. Giggling uncontrollably, they skinned down to swim suits and gave the clothes to Miss Van Nostrand to put into the washing machine, installed for the occasion in a ballroom of the elegant hotel.

Geraldine Sparks, manager of consumer and retail information for the fiber company, said the new era of washable knits, which includes dresses, men's suits, curtains, draperies and slip covers, might lead to the two-washing-machines, two-clothes-dryer family.

"Our dry cleaning loads are getting smaller all the time," she said.

Advantages of the woven and knitted fibers include strength, stretch and recovery, resistance to wrinkling, shrinking, bagging and fading, she said but there are disadvantages.

"They can pull and snag and are cold in the winter and hot in the summer," Miss Sparks said. "But we are searching for one super fiber."

The goal of fiber scientists, she said, is to find the fiber that combines all of the good qualities, and "that would allow us to go back to being one-washing-machine, one-clothes-dryer families again."

THE BASIC information that consumers need to launder washable knits, Mary Meighan of the appliance company explained, is to set the washing machine for a warm water wash and a cold rinse, but a permanent press cycle is important because it has a cooled down time prior to the rinse, and the slowness allows gentle agitation.

She recommended smaller loads to allow freer movement for less wrinkles in the dryer, which should be set on a low heat, permanent press cycle. Very important, she said, is that clothes not be over-dry.

"Clothes will retain shape if taken out of the dryer with some moisture," she said. "Sorting is important for proper laundering care. Sort by color and by weight, separating heavier garments from light weight to avoid over-drying. Since static electricity is inherent in man made fibers, be sure to use a fabric softener in the final rinse."

Oil stains, which have plagued man-made fibers, can be removed by applying liquid dry cleaning solvent to the wrong side of the garment on the area of the spot.

Miss Van Nostrand demonstrating by turning a pair of trousers wrong side out over a towel, applying the solvent and then applying a heavy duty liquid detergent. The detergent, which can also be a powder type made into a paste, will keep the solvent from forming a ring.

FOLLOWING THE demonstrations, a fashion show of polyester clothes for women, men and children showed the variety of interpretations given to washable knits.

Most of the dresses shown were in the $50 to $60 price bracket, according to the commentator, and it is very difficult to convince a woman who has paid that price for a garment that she can put it into a washing machine, she said.

Fashions included a fully lined all weather coat and a heavily ruffled after-five dress.

During the fashion show the irreverant dryer buzzed loudly, signaling the end of the cycle drying the moppet's once grubby clothes. The clothes were whisked off to the children, while someone in the audience wondered out loud if the poor dears hadn't caught their death of a cold shivering during the hour's presentation.

But the children reappeared looking healthy and clean as the proverbial whistle.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Get Behind Wheel Of Your Car —That's Way Cracker Crumbles

DEAR HELEN:

When I visited our son and daughter-in-law recently, I was mystified at what happened on a shopping trip with her.

She bought a box of crackers, individually packaged in four sections. She took each of these sections, put them into separate plastic bags which you get in the vegetable department, then into paper sacks.

When she pulled into her driveway, she stopped, laid the four bags containing the crackers one in front of each tire. Then she hopped back in the car, drove over the crackers and into the garage.

I looked aghast at the crushed packages lying behind her car only to have her smile and say,, "Instant cracker crumbs."

Well, I went home and sent them a blender for their anniversary. No dice.

Last week I was there again, and she made instant crumbs in her same old way. She says she likes the blender for other things, but her "car" way is faster and quicker for crackers, and besides there's no mess to clean up — and it's much more fun. Says she imagined the crackers were whoever she was angry with, and she got a lot of frustrations out of her system by smashing them. (Could it be me?)

I know there's a generation gap (she's 19) but this is an abyss. My husband is no help (his daughter-in-law can do no wrong). He just laughs and says, "If it works so well, why don't you do it that way too?" — M.I.L.

DEAR M.I.L.:

You've either got a wacky d-i-l or a wild imagination.

On second thought, maybe "tired crumbs" aren't such a bad idea. When a blender is too slow, a rolling pin too messy, just get behind the wheel — and that's the way the cracker crumbles. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You once reminded parents that their children aren't "owned" by them, but only borrowed for a little while.

For parents who need further reminding that they mustn't try to run their children's lives, here's a lovely bit of blank verse. Sorry, I don't know the author:

Your children are not your children.

They are the sons and daughters of life's longing for itself.

They come through you but not from you,

And though they are with you, yet they belong not to you.

You may give them your love but not your thoughts.

For they have their own thoughts.

You may house their bodies but not their souls,

For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow,

Which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams. — A READER

DEAR READER: (AND READERS:)

To print poetry without giving credit is like announcing "the winnah" as "whatzisname." I seldom do this, but liked the above piece so well I wanted to share it with all of you.

Will someone please give us the name of the author. Thanks. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can women ever really make it in politics when we're first-named so consistently? In our local elections, the men's names came out in headlines as "Smith, Green," etc., but the one woman who ran for office was consistently "Judith." I'll bet if Shirley Chisholm runs for President, it will be: "Nixon, Muskie, McCloskey, McGovern! . . . etc., etc., — and "Shirley." Why? — IRKED AGAIN

DEAR IRKED:

Because political writers are almost all male, too. Women in politics could stop this "pat on the head" approach, via friendly discussions with editors. — H.

'Typical' Diet Cause Of Heart Woes?

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Is the "typical" American diet the main reason behind the steady increase in heart and artery ailments that are killing people at a record rate?

In the absence of clearcut scientific proof one way or another, the question has been the subject of debate for many years. Like data on smoking and health, most of the evidence has been statistical, not sufficient to prove a direct cause and effect.

But the weight of the evidence is beginning to tilt in the direction of those who answer the question affirmatively. Recent reports from two organizations in the field, the American Heart Association and the American Health Foundation, support this point of view.

One report, presented at the annual meeting of the heart association earlier this month, concluded that monkeys fed the "typical" American diet for two years suffered three times as many heart and artery ailments as monkeys on a "prudent" diet.

The experiment was conducted by D. Robert Wissler at the University of Chicago. The "typical" diet included milk, eggs, roast beef, pork, chicken, cheese, butter, sugar, potatoes, carrots, cereal, fruit, cake and juice.

The "prudent" diet contained many of the same items but much less fatty substance and much less refined sugar. Calories were about one-third less.

Dr. Wissler said the monkeys in both groups loved the diets and gained considerable weight. He concluded that diets heavy in fats, sugar and calories cause a buildup of cholesterol in arteries and lead to restricted blood flow and eventual heart attacks and hardening of arteries.

A few days after the Wissler study was reported, the foundation issued a major statement urging extensive changes in the "average American diet" to help reduce heart disease. It urged that government, industry and health care organizations lead the way.

In a 37-page position paper, the foundation observed that coronary heart disease, an ailment rarely observed in 1918, now accounts for more than 50 per cent of the deaths of all males over the age of 40 in this country.

"In truth," says the foundation," an epidemic has struck. With sudden death as a major characteristic, prevention rather than treatment of coronary heart disease must be the goal."

The foundation then had these suggestions about diet:

—Decrease the total dietary fat to approximately 35 per cent of total daily calories.

—Change the dietary fat from predominantly saturated to unsaturated (most of meat fat is saturated, most vegetable fat is unsaturated).

—Reduce total calories.

—Reduce the intake of salt.

But the foundation also cautioned against changes in diet that are too drastic. It said "immoderate restrictions" on foods of animal origin "could adversely affect the over-all nutritional quality of the diet."

It explained that low-fat dairy products are as good sources of protein and calcium as full-fat dairy products. It added that lean pork is at least as good a source of protein and thiamine as fat pork.

The Classical Handbag Making Fashion Comeback

The front running style for the spring handbag is the classical bag, reports Women's Wear Daily.

The best looking are the feedbag and the shoulderbag shapes done in soft hopsacking touched up with heavy gold hardware and trimmed with contrasting calf leather.

They are also done in the shiny patents.

The shoulderbag is still a favorite, but others to gain fame for spring are the shirred pouched bag, such as grandmother used to carry, and the perennial clutch bag.

Newlyweds Will Live In Bolinas

The Mill Valley Community Church was the setting for the noon wedding Saturday of Barbara Mary Sanocki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Joseph McMahon, and John Milton Wooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Wooley, all of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Eric Wooley of Corte Madera, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, was matron of honor, and Eric Wooley served his brother as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sausalito Woman's Club. The couple will live in Bolinas.

Barbara and John were graduated from Tamalpais High School. Barbara holds a degree in social science anyd John a degree in civil engineering from San Jose State College. She is employed with the Automobile Mutual Insurance Company of America in Terra Linda, and he is self-employed as a builder in Mill Valley.

He is the brother of Alva and Toby Wooley of Mill Valley, Mrs. Loren E. Terzich of Angels Camp and Mrs. Peter Desalernos of Sacramento.

How To Dress Up Package Of Socks

How to dress up those packages of socks you will give for Christmas:

1. Take a clear glass beer stein and a small white styrofoam ball. Stuff the stein with a couple of pairs of mid-calf socks. Cut the ball in half and insert one of the halves into the glass, round side up, to resemble the "head" on a beer.

2. Get a large round ashtray for his desk. Buy him a half-dozen pairs of leisure socks in bright solid colors. Roll each pair of socks into a separate ball and pile them, pyramid-style, in the ashtray - as you would build a fruit arrangement. Stick gold leaves and della-robbia fruits between the sock balls, then envelope your creation in a large sheet of brightly colored cellophane.

3. Buy a new tacklebox for your fisherman. Fill with an assortment of heavy-weight outdoor socks and casual "Saturday" socks.

Sweaters or other knit garments of acrylic, nylon, or other man-made fibers are often completely machine washable. How successful machine washing will be depends on the bulk, construction, and decorations on a garment. To avoid tangling and catching on other items in the wash load, it is sometimes best to place really delicate knits in mesh bags. Most of these knits can be dried on rust-proof hangers.

Successful sewing starts at FABRIC LAND, 836 4th St. You will find a complete selection of fabric, accessories and sundries plus a complete drapery department. Sew gifts, trimmings and clothes for the Christmas Season. Open: 9:30 AM - 5:30 PM Mon-Tues-Thurs-Sat, 9:30 AM - 9 PM Wed-Fri, Noon-5 PM Sundays.

HELPFUL HINT:
Some sweaters of man-made fibers must be tumbledried to retain the beauty of their finished texture. Follow instructions on the garment for best results.

The New Reality

For the first time in a long time, fashion has a new reality, say fashion authorities at Celanese. The put-on, the pretense, have given way to definitive shaping, even though the shapes themselves are many and diverse. Lines are cleaner, clearer, purer. A new simplicity has taken over, making seasons past seem complicated, contrived, even chaotic by comparison. It appears that order has been restored.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

First-Class Playing Takes More Than Knowledge Of Probability

You need more than a knowledge of probability to play first-class bridge. The true expert notices all the table action, including the actions that don't take place. Today's hand shows the importance of noting what doesn't happen.

FIRST TRICK

South won the first trick with the queen of spades and felt reasonably sure that West had led from a long suit. Declarer's problem was whether to tackle the clubs or the diamonds first.

Either plan would work if East had the king of diamonds since a successful diamond finesse at any stage would give South four diamonds, three hearts and two spades. South therefore had to assume a losing diamond finesse.

A LOW CLUB

Leading a low club from the South hand would work if West had the ace of clubs because if West took the ace, declarer would get three club tricks and would not need the diamond finesse. If West played low, dummy would win a club trick and declarer could then go after the diamonds, abandoning the clubs. Even if East had the ace of clubs, South would make his contract if the suit broke 3-3.

PLAY FOR DIAMONDS

The play for diamonds first would work if East had the ace of clubs. The diamond finesse would lose, but West would have no further entry to his long spades.

Leading a club would give South a 2 to 1 chance for his contract; playing the diamonds first would give South only an even chance. A mere mathematician would therefore lead a low club from the South hand at the second trick.

SOUTH'S REACTION

But West had passed with utter unconcern over the opening bid of the one no-trump. South felt sure that this particular West would have considered a bid if he had held five spades to the ace-ten, the king of diamonds and the ace of clubs.

Therefore South led a heart to the king and led the nine of diamonds for a finesse. West won and set up his spades, but there was no further entry to the West hand; and South later knocked out the ace of clubs in safety.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 6
♥ - J 10 5 4 2
♦ - 5 3
♣ - A 10 9 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

Partner will probably pass, and you will be in a sensible part score contract. If partner raises hearts, you will go on to game.

ART REVIEW

Festival Fights Odds, Succeeds

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Despite weather, distance or competing events, an art festival lover will set forth undaunted, always hoping for a bargain from some favorite artist or craftsman, or for a delicious surprise in the way of a new talent and ideas.

Nor does having two festivals coincide mean having to make a choice. For in spite of the more familiar Sausalito Art Festival taking place concurrently, this weekend's second annual San Geronimo Art Festival drew even bigger crowds than the year before. Just how many came couldn't be determined because the festival charges no admission fee. But it was difficult to maneuver oneself inside the old school building. Classrooms and halls were thick with visitors, artists, homemade food, arts and crafts and the echo of happy, if not too accurate voices, gathered in an impromptu madrigal session accompanied by an old upright, cello and flute.

According to San Geronimo festival chairman Jean Berensmeier, it was also a freer spending crowd. Sales, she said, seamed more brisk than last year.

Before the festival began she and fellow directors were worried about the competition from the Sausalito festival.

"Ours was already scheduled for the same time as last year's when Sausalito decided to have theirs on the same weekend," Mrs. Berensmeier said. "The publicity was already out and people were primed for it. So we just went ahead."

She gave several reasons for the success in spite of the conflict. "Mostly it was word of mouth from happy people. We have things of genuine interest for kids, fantastic food and, above all, there are the little human things. For instance, if someone forgets their change from a sale, we run after them with it."

While the festival had all the things from stitchery to leather and from paintings to metal work that one might expect, some of the 58 contributors provided items which were different.

One exhibitor showed crash helmets covered-to-order in a ravishing range of velvets.

But most interesting was instrument-maker Richard Waters. He constructs "door harps," which are stringed chunks of wood designed to be bolted to doors. As the door is swung, swinging clappers play the strings. Even more unusual are his welded water drums into which rods of varying size are sunk. When struck or bowed they produce strange music which falls somewhere between Far East and far out. He thinks perhaps they might sound well coming from a haunted house.

Waters has sold several to musicians such as drummer Shelly Manne and to The Grateful Dead rock group. He has provided some for his own group, the Gravity Adjusters Expansion Band, uses them for its sessions of experimental sound.

It was probably just this kind of inventiveness, in addition to the good time, which lured many people back for San Geronimo's second annual event, in spite of the odds.

Bank Head Speaks On The System

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The nation's educational system "must produce individuals who have a basic understanding of how our society operates politically, economically and socially," the president of the world's largest bank declared today.

"Our children cannot hope to change the system or hope to create a better one without really understanding how the present system works," declared A.W. Clausen, Bank of America president.

In a talk before educators, Clausen also said a long-standing prejudice against vocational education has to be erased.

"We have to convince ourselves that it's better to be a good auto mechanic than a mediocre bank teller or, conversely, better to be a good bank teller than an indifferent mechanic—if that's your thing."

"We must upgrade the caliber and range of occupational education. And we must improve the quality of vocational counselling and teacher training."

Clausen's speech was prepared for a joint meeting of the Association of California School Administrators and the California School Board Association.

The banker noted that during the first half of this year 9,000 persons applied for jobs at the bank's employment office in the San Francisco headquarters.

"About two thirds of those who took our standard clerical skills test failed it outright," he said. "They lacked fundamental skills in reading, writing, mathematics and typing. And all too often, their lack of skills was coupled with a lack of understanding of what work was all about."

SOLOIST — Carole Castro Mauia, a second-year music student at College of Marin, will be soloist with the college's community orchestra Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. in the college Fine Arts Building. Music by Shostakovich, Mozart, Weber and Grieg is scheduled.

New 7-Cent Stamp To Honor Franklin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Benjamin Franklin, whose face has appeared on more postage stamps than any American except Washington, will be honored on a new 7-cent stamp to be issued next year.

The U.S. Postal Service said the new Franklin stamp is one of two to be printed for the new rate covering fourth class educational materials. Franklin, the nation's first postmaster, has appeared on more than 30 stamps since the government changed to uniform postage rates in 1847.

Intellectual Reach By String Quartet

By ROBERT NESS

The Marin Arts Quartet with pianist Robaline Meacham have shown that the string quartet can be one of music's crowning achievements. The concert yesterday afternoon at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club deserved its capacity audience of about 150 people.

Not satisfied with merely a polished performance, they reached far into the intellectual and emotional content of the Samuel Barber Quartet, the Mozart K. 575 Quartet, and the Cesar Franck Quintet for Piano and Strings.

The members of this quartet, Charles Meacham, Michael Gerling, violins; Lucien Mitchell, viola; and Jean Mitchell, cello, all possess rich velvety tones that were at all times perfectly balanced.

These musicians played with exceptional abilities in the Barber and Mozart, but it was in the Franck Quintet that they reached celestial heights.

Pianist Robaline Meacham joined the quartet for this extremely beautiful work. The quintet, cyclic in form, has an expressive theme that reappears in each of the three movements, each time becoming more and more poignant.

There is no question that Mrs. Meacham is a brilliant pianist and her ability to play ensemble music is phenomenal. At all times she was aware of the total sound — matching, blending, and protruding only when the music called for it.

The quartet responded in like manner. There was give and take between the strings and piano throughout the work. It was a total musical experience and everything worked.

The Barber quartet in itself is not terribly exciting. While the performance was articulate and well thought out, it could have had more drive.

The Adagio second movement, well known in its string orchestra version, actually worked less well with the more intimate group. There just is not the brute power to achieve the intensity needed for the climax.

The Mozart Quartet was exquisite. A transparency of texture was maintained throughout that was both sparkling and sublime.

Cellist Jean Mitchell's solo passage in the Trio of the third movement was exceptional in its expressiveness and was rightfully held within Mozart's strict rhythmic structure.

The allegretto fourth movement was a display of how well these musicians work together. Motivic passages are continually jumping about from instrument to instrument. It would be a disaster for a lesser group. With these musicians it became a unified and cohesive entity.

The Marin Arts Quartet will perform their next concert Feb. 6, 1972 with soprano Margot Power.

Mill Valley Concert Is Jammed To Rafters

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A big turnout of about 500 persons for yesterday afternoon's chamber music concert at the Mill Valley public library jammed the place to the rafters.

The estimate was difficult to make, for there were not enough seats, and in some sections of the library adults were standing or sitting on the floor and children were perched on bookcases.

Though the musicians were eight members of the San Francisco Symphony, they were not a well-known ensemble but a group assembled for this concert by clarinetist Philip Fath of Mill Valley. The others were Felix Khuner and Ervin Mautner, violins; David Smiley, viola; Andor Toth Jr., cello; Michael Burr, bass; Raymond Ojeda, Bassoon, and Ralph Hotz, French horn.

One of the concerts sponsored in the library periodically by the Mill Valley Library Association with the cooperation of local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO, this one was planned by Mrs. Virginia Shearer, president of Friends of the Library.

Possibly the big turnout was best explained by the success of the previous concerts in this free series, due both to excellent acoustics and a pleasant, informal atmosphere as well as the fine chamber music performed. Mill Valley is, in fact, becoming known for this kind of music.

The whole idea of breaking down barriers between audiences and performers by eliminating stages and formal dress is spreading and is to be encouraged in this kind of smaller and more intimate gathering. Both dressed comfortably, the musicians appeared to be enjoying themselves as much as the audience.

Highlight of the afternoon was Schubert's octet for string quintet, clarinet, bassoon and french horn, a long but entrancing work in six movements that held attention throughout. The work of this master lyricist was not only an ensemble of songful melodies but also gave almost every instrument its chance to sing individually. Balance was good with full-bodied string sound, but because of timbre the clarinet, marvelously agile, and the French horn in long sustained and singing passages were outstanding, even though occasionally the horn sound was not entirely pure and right on target.

The concert opened with a pleasing performance of the Haydn string quartet in E flat. For once the outer voices of the first violin and cello did not lead the inner voices of the viola and second violin, as so often happens in many otherwise good string quartets.

Spice of the program was one movement from Poulenc's Sonata for clarinet and Bassoon and one from Martinu's Duo for violin and cello.

Three R-Schools Taking New Name

The Three-R Schools will become Jameson Hall Schools as of Jan. 1.

The change in name was announced by James W. Kirchanski, director of the Three-R Schools in San Rafael, Santa Rosa and San Leandro, at a reception for parents of students Friday evening at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

The name "Three-R," Kirchanski said, will be retained for the summer tutorial and remedial programs conducted by the schools. The new name is loosely derived from Kirchanski's first name.

He said the name change was decided on because "Three-R. . . has become misleading in that it implies that we are not an innovative, flexible, outreaching school. That is not true. We are always innovating, experimenting, changing in an effort to achieve the best possible educational methods."

Kirchanski also announced affiliation of Jameson Hall Schools with the recently formed San Francisco Academy of Music and Fine Arts, which will provide scholarships at Jameson Hall in the arts and music and sponsor public appearances and tours for students.

The first two scholarship winners, Carol Tomlinson, 16, of San Rafael, and John Wittenberg, 20, of San Francisco, were presented in a violin concert at the reception. Both are students of William Pynchon, who heads the San Francisco academy.

A-Test Fallout In Barstow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—China's latest atmospheric nuclear explosion has produced slight levels of radioactive fallout in eight Western states, according to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

The highest level of fallout was measured at Barstow, Calif. but it was "less than 1 per cent of the annual amount that could be received from natural background radiation," the AEC said.

Other nuclear fallout was detected in Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Utah and Wyoming.

China exploded a 20-kiloton bomb at its LOP NOR test site Nov. 18. The radioactivity was detected in samples collected Nov. 21-27 by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Pollution Testing On Pitcairn Is.

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Air pollution tests are being conducted on Pitcairn Island, one of the most isolated places on earth.

The island is in the South Pacific, with Chile more than 2,500 miles to the east and Australia even farther away to the west. It is inhabited by 92 persons — descendants of Polynesian women and the British sailors who staged the famous mutiny on H.M.S. Bounty in the 18th Century.

The islanders last week began carrying out the tests on behalf of the atmospheric sciences research center of the State University of New York at Albany.

The purpose of the tests is to determine whether airpollution from the continents is invading the atmosphere above the oceans, reported the island's radio operator and acting head man, Tom Christian.

"I'll be taking the samples and tagging results for an indefinite period in the future. We will mail the findings each month, or as often as a ship bound for New York stops by here," reported Christian, a fifth generation descendant of Fletcher Christian, the British navy officer who led the mutiny by seamen of the Bounty against Capt. William Bligh.

San Rafael Man Is Booked On Charges

A San Rafael man was arrested Saturday after he allegedly scuffled with a Belvedere policeman who stopped him on suspicion of drunken driving.

Cornelius George Farley, 48, of 8 Sienna Way, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of drunken driving, interfering with an officer and battery. He was held in lieu of $1,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

His wife, Rolbina C. Farley, was booked on suspicion of being drunk in public and interfering with an officer. She was released on her promise to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Belvedere police said Officer James McCarty saw Farley's car run a stop sign at Beach and Main streets at 2:05 a.m.

When he stopped Farley on Tiburon Boulevard, McCarty said, the man became belligerent and began a scuffle. McCarty was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the right hand and foot, and chin, kneee and leg scrapes.

Police said Mrs. Farley also was arrested when she attempted to come to her husband's aid.

RCA Is Phasing Out One Field

NEW YORK (UPI)—As part of its phaseout of general purpose computer business, RCA Corp. announced Friday it was ending its magnetics products business, including disc packs, computer tapes and audio and video recording tapes.

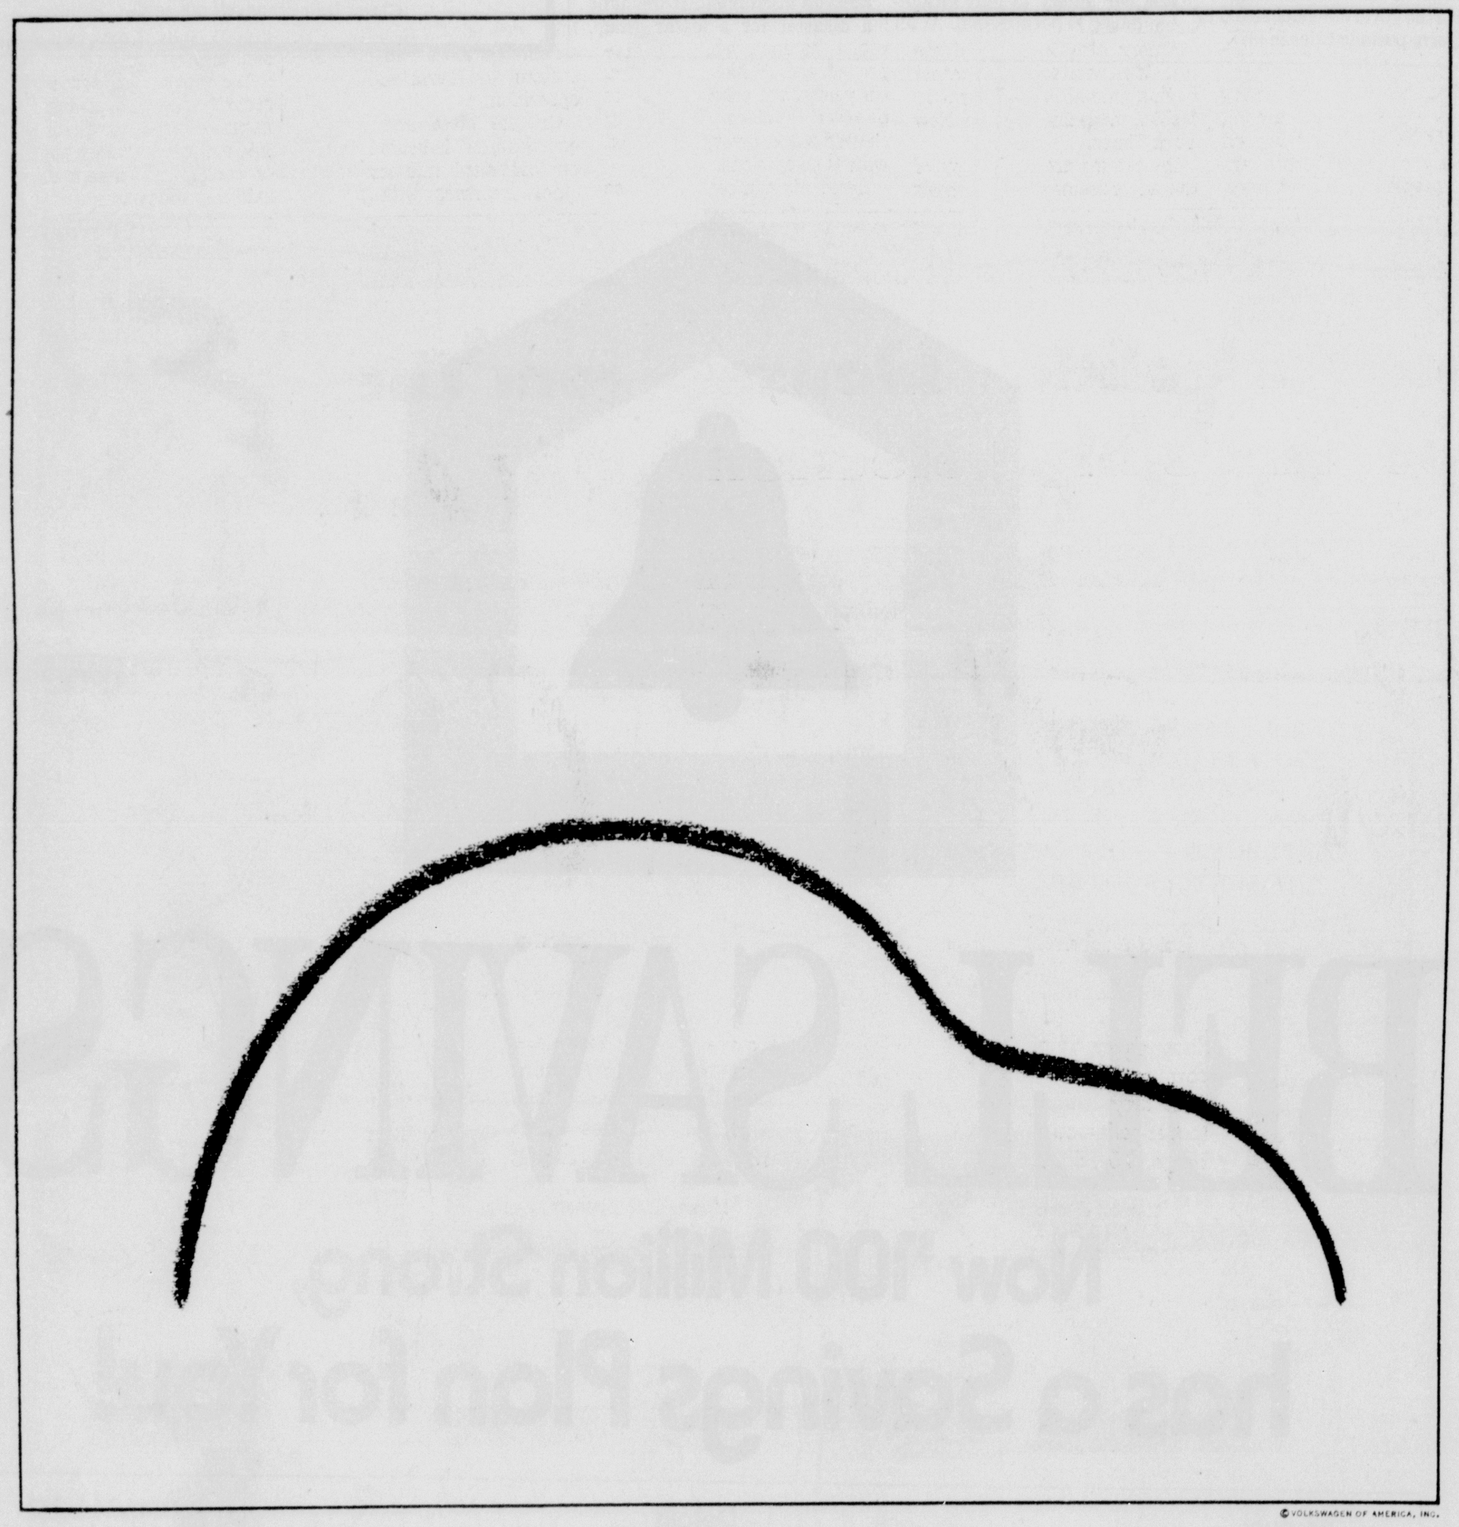

A total of 517 workers will be affected by Friday's action—213 at Indianapolis, 84 in other U.S. locations and 220 at Bryn Mawr, Wales. RCA also announced 85 persons had been laid off at the computer factory in Marlboro, Mass., reducing the work force there to 1,050.

Sign Uniformity Planners' Topic

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider regulations reguiring uniformity of signs at shopping centers in the city at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The commission will consider regulations for signs at seven shopping centers: Montecito, Northgate (units one through three), 175 Belvedere Street, Bret Harte and Loch Lomond.

With the regulations, to be enacted under the city's new sign ordinance, the city planning staff could consider sign applications without having to bring them to the commission for approval.

The shape of things to come.

Prediction
The Volkswagen Beetle will be around for years to come.

Prediction
Someone else somewhere will introduce a new economy car and there will be lots of excitement.

Prediction
The excitement will die down.

Prediction
As in the past, people who own old Volkswagens will trade them in for new Volkswagens because (we guess) they like Volkswagens.

Prediction
Our engineers will continue to improve the way the car works and our stylists will continue to be frustrated.

Prediction
Sometime in 1972, the Beetle will become the most popular single model automobile ever made in the world, bypassing the Model T Ford with production of over 15 million vehicles.

Prediction
We won't let that last prediction go to our heads.

Amory's Mission: Save Animals

By IRA KAMIN

"I used to write about Lady Astor's horse — now I write about The Horse."

Cleveland Amory — who has written three books on American high society and has weekly columns in TV Guide and Saturday Review — was referring to one of his major concerns, the plight of animals, wild and domestic. He was the guest of honor last night of the Marin St. Francis Animal Protection Society.

The society is a group of animal lovers which has started an adoption service for stray dogs and who say they want to educate the public about animal abuses.

Amory has been working for many years on what he calls animal rights with his own nonprofit group, The Fund For Animals.

The reception was held last night at the Larkspur home of Helen Galentiere, society president.

Amory is a large man with a shock of brown hair. In conversation, he touches whomever he's speaking with. The New York-based Amory seemed at one with the Marin animal lovers.

Although he feared many species of animals, among them the seal, may be beyond help, he said, "If there are other people in the country, getting together and meeting like we are tonight, showing they care about animals, maybe some hope exists.

"The trouble with animal lovers is they're too individualistic — they can't agree on anything. As soon as we get together, we start arguing about the different solutions to the inhumane treatment of animals — about vivisection, about spaying."

In Marin alone, 17,000 dogs and cats were put to death last year, according to the Marin County Humane Society, he noted.

Amory said that spaying should just be a stop-gap measure to the plight of unwanted dogs.

"The real solution is birth control," Amory said.

"If our organization is trying to do anything it's trying to establish a universal birth control for domestic animals, and secondly, to stop the abuse of farm animals.

"There are pigs whose legs have never touched the ground," Amory said. "They're making farm machines out of the animals."

Amory also is proud of the fund's advertisement against buying animal fur which ran in fashion magazines and the New York Times.

He carries around a copy of the advertisement which shows Doris Day, Amanda Blake, Jayne Meadows, Angie Dickinson and Mary Tyler Moore — all fund board members — dressed in imitation fur. On the opposite page, the five actresses give accounts of why they won't wear an animal skin. Doris Day confesses, "At one time, before I was aware of the situation, I did buy fur coats. Today when I look at them hanging in the closet I could cry."

Amory said "when there are only 240 snow leopards left, you have to start thinking about extinction."

Amory called the U.S. government the animals' worst enemy, accusing it of condoning "poisoning, hunting and trapping."

He said, "We're in the anticruelty business and any time we see cruelty being done, be it to a laboratory animal or a wild one, we have to do something about it."

Amory said he became interested in animals when he saw a bullfight in Nogales, Mexico following World War II.

"I saw then that you can't separate that abuse of animals from the poisoning of coyotes to bunny bopping with sticks and stones."

Amory said he would like to see the United Nations tackle animal problems.

Marinites Are Against Busing, Terra Linda High Poll Shows

According to an opinion poll taken by a government class at Terra Linda High School, Marinites are against busing students and in favor of opening schools on a year-round basis.

Students in the class taught by Donald Bowden questioned 470 registered voters in San Rafael, Terra Linda and Lucas Valley during October.

The poll showed 301 against busing as a means of achieving racial balance while 111 approved and 56 had no opinion. On year-round schooling on the quarter system, the tally showed 245 in favor, 129 against with 44 no opinions.

Residents numbering 250 also showed they believed tax money wasn't being used efficiently in schools while 137 believed it was.

Support of a four-lane panoramic highway to Point Reyes brought 328 negative responses with only 88 in favor. And 370 indicated that Marin County should be zoned to preserve land and prevent overpopulation while 54 disagreed. The tally showed 301 in support of an efficient mass transportation system for Marin with 118 in opposition.

On the state and national questions, 237 indicated support for continued military aid to other countries with 202 opposed; a margin of 361-60 voted approval for President Richard M. Nixon's trip to the People's Rebpublic of China, and 296 approved the seating of China in the United Nations while 101 opposed it.

On the wage-price freeze, 218 believed it is effective in halting inflation while 161 disagreed; 255 said they would not oppose legalized gambling to reduce state taxes, while 170 said they would.

The Marinites agreed that security should be strengthened in prisons by a margin of 305 to 108, and 217 said they approved of capital punishment and 206 said they did not.

Fast-Moving Mother Saves Drowning Son

A fast-acting Terra Linda mother saved her infant son from drowning Saturday, aided by San Rafael and Terra Linda firemen.

Mathew Arthur Fagan, 1 year old and "at the age where he crawls so fast," scooted away from a half-dozen adults at the David A. Fagan home at 806 Butternut Drive, and fell into the family swimming pool before anyone knew he was missing, his mother said.

"I happened, thank God, to look out the window and saw him fall in," Mrs. Fagan recalled. "I got to him first, and got him breathing again."

Firemen from both departments rushed to help the mother. Terra Linda Fireman Mark Worthen, 18, of 4 Trellis Drive, gave the infant a whiff of oxygen, and little Mathew began to cry lustily.

"Some of us were crying, too, with relief. It was a pretty emotional scene," an eyewitness said.

"The firemen were all very, very helpful," Mrs. Fagan reported. "It's so good to know that they were certainly the right people to call."

The child was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Water Unit Study Will Be Given

A San Francisco consultant firm will present to directors of the Marin Municipal Water District Wednesday a five-month study of the agency's management and employee structure.

The study, prepared by the firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget at a cost of up to $13,500, is expected to delve into criteria for choosing a successor to Dist. Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger, who is approaching retirement age, and ramifications of the district's entry into the sewage treatment business.

Staff changes — possibly including replacement of personnel in their present positions — also will be discussed in the report, and the district board has scheduled a closed meeting in addition to its regular session Wednesday to consider them.

Director John M. MacPhail Jr., a member of a district committee which has been working with the consultant firm, said copies of the report won't be available to board members, district staff or the public until Wednesday's meeting, set for 1:30 p.m.

He said representatives of the firm will discuss the report in detail at the open session. The closed meeting is scheduled for the evening.

Children's Programs At New Library

The new regional library in Corte Madera has announced a series of children's programs, which began Saturday. Most are scheduled for 4 p.m.

Programs include folk music, puppet shows and storytelling. Detailed information on these and other children's offerings may be obtained from the joint Corte Madera-County of Marin library at Tamalpais Drive and Stanford Street.

Restaurant Burglary — Strongbox Missing

The El Borro restaurant in Tiburon was burglarized of approximately $600 in cash yesterday by someone who broke a rear window to unlock the back door, Tiburon sheriff's deputies reported.

Officers said the building was entered between 11 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. yesterday. The restaurant's strongbox, containing the money, was the only item which appeared to be missing, deputies said.

Pacts On Sewers May Be Killed

The Stinson Beach County Water District board — at it's meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Community Center — will consider canceling agreements with engineers and other agencies that were involved in the sewage master plan that was killed in September.

Board member Proctor Jones said the board will receive resolutions for study that would cancel the district's contract with Brown and Caldwell Engineers as well as joint powers agreements with Bolinas and the Marin Municipal Water District.

The joint sewage disposal project, branded as "overkill" by many local residents, officially was killed by the state Water Resources Control Board which withdrew funding for the project.

Request On House To Be Considered

The Ross Town Council will consider a request to rebuild a nonconforming house when it meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at town hall.

Peggy P. Hodel of 40 Glenwood Avenue is asking a variance to allow her to make repairs to her home, which was damaged by fire, and build a carport in place of a garage.

Party Is Canceled

The Marin City Homeowners and Improvement Association's Christmas party, scheduled for Dec. 18, has been canceled, according to Flossie Berry, Association secretary. She said no new date for the event has yet been set.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Where Do Taxes Go? Largely For Overhead

Where does the money go?

That's what a lot of people are asking as they strive to meet the Friday deadline for payment of the first half of their 1971-72 property tax bills.

Many probably feel the same puzzlement expressed by Virginia Shearer in a recent "Second Thoughts" column in the weekly Mill Valley Record.

COMPLAINING ABOUT the steady increase in her taxes, she remarked that she saw no neighborhood improvement and no new services to account for it. She then compared what she receives for her taxes here with what she received for lower taxes in Minneapolis, where she formerly lived.

She noted that school plants cost more to operate where they must be heated for nine months, that Minneapolis has public skating rinks, 10 swimming beaches city-maintained, municipal canoe docks and moorage for sailboats. "Heavy snowfalls in Minneapolis bring out many, many snowplows," she continued. "... Garbage is collected without charge in Minneapolis."

These are the kinds of things one expects from his taxes — plus well-built and well-maintained streets, adequate police and fire protection, amenities such as parks and libraries — things that can be seen and felt.

BUT MOST of the tax bill doesn't go for these things.

The biggest share of taxes in Marin is taken by the schools — in Mrs. Shearer's case, Tamalpais High School, Mill Valley Elementary School and Marin Community College districts.

Of Tamalpais High School District's budget, more than 80 per cent goes for salaries and employee benefits. Most of this is for administrative and teaching staff. Maintenance and operation of plant account for about 6 per cent. Books total less than one per cent. All other instructional materials come to less than 5 per cent.

The situation is similar in the elementary school district, and differs in the community college district chiefly because of a special building tax.

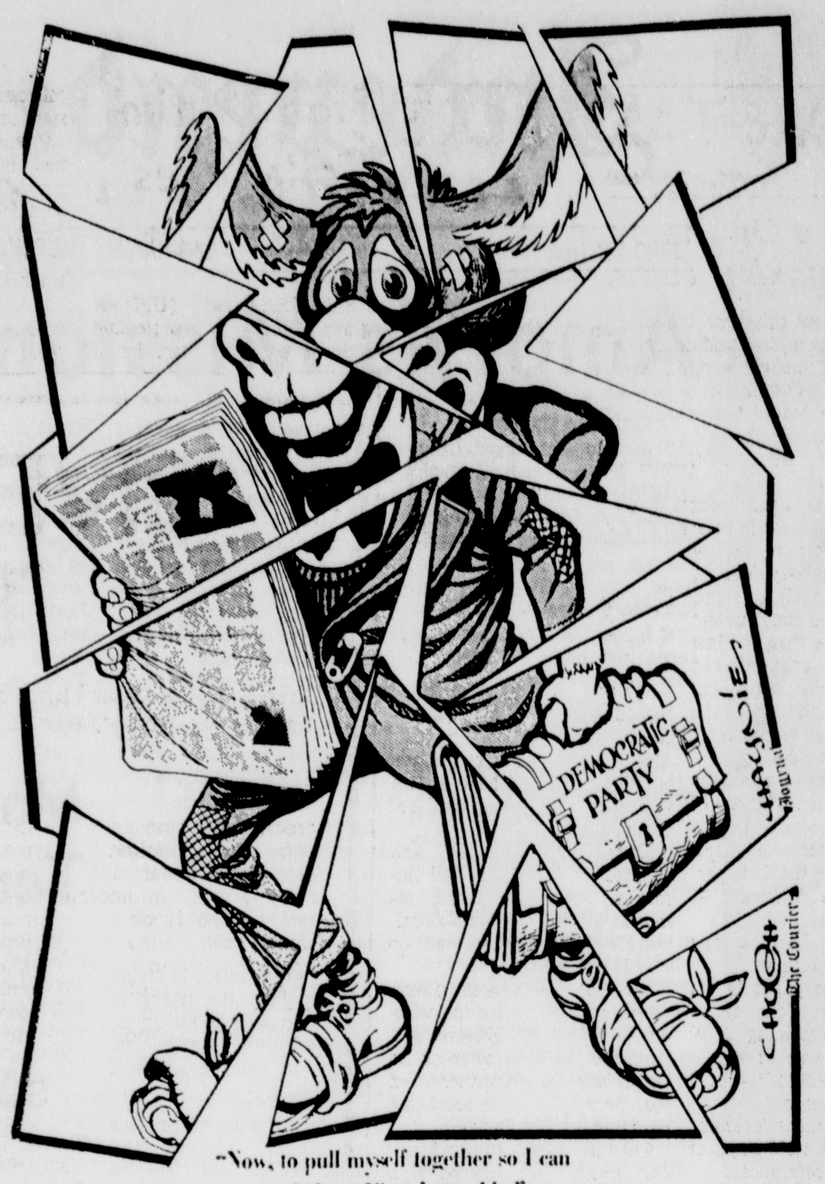

THE COUNTY GETS the next biggest share of the Marin tax take (although in Mill Valley, the city's share is almost equal to the county's).

A county budget breakdown shows 47 per cent for welfare, medical and health services; 21 per cent for courts, corrections and public protection; 10 per cent for roads and engineering; 4 per cent for capital improvements; 18 per cent for all other.

But a closer look reveals that much of the welfare-medical cost is paid through the state — affecting our income taxes but not our property tax. It shows also that much of that roads and engineering 10 per cent is for engineering, not for building roads; that the "all other" includes large amounts for planning and administrative staffs. If the budget share financed by the property tax is broken down, this "all other," along with courts and public protection, accounts for the major part.

SO WHERE DOES ALL that tax money go? Not where you can see it, for the most part. And not where it improves public services or provides more amenities, in considerable part.

Put in business terms, most of it goes for overhead. And the overhead is excessive in local, state and federal governments.

"Now, to pull myself together so I can read about Nixon's troubles"

By PAUL E. PETERZELL:

Behr Happy In Tahiti; Not Do, His Colleagues

Marin's freshman state senator, Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, graciously has loaded the guns of his future political opponents by taking off for Tahiti during the closing weeks of his first legislative session.

His departure raised eyebrows in the capitol, especially those of other legislators who figured he had not cornered the market on hard work. Everyone is tired after 11 months of struggling so vainly with the state's important problems.

BEHR'S ABSENCE was especially obvious last Wednesday when the Senate killed legislation that would have created a regional government in the Bay Area. The vote was 17 "aye" and 16 "no" on a motion that would have sent the legislation to the governor.

With 21 votes needed, Behr's vote alone might not have made the difference — but it could have helped. His support for the measure had been essential in earlier ballots when he still was around to vote.

Ironically, only one Republican voted for the legislation: Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco. He bucked intense pressure from conservative Republican groups against the bill.

The irony is that it is Marks whom Behr will face next year if they both run for re-election. Reapportionment lumped them into the same Senate district.

Marks is not likely to let the voters forget who stayed in school and who played hooky.

SAN FRANCISCO Supervisor Roger Boas, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Sixth District (which will include all of Marin by next year's election), has won an impressive supporter in Yvonne Westbrook, the 18-year-old black candidate who got almost 50,000 votes last month in her first bid for the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

She has not only endorsed him, but also will help organize campus campaigns aimed at college and high school students in San Francisco and Marin.

Boas needs credibility among the young, and Miss Westbrook's support should help him get it. A freshman political science major at University of San Francisco, she struck us as the sort of dynamic person who could gain Boas a lot of support if she works at it. As a starter, she has the youths who worked in her supervisorial campaign.

The district now is represented by Republican William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, who also will be out scratching for support among the growing army of young voters.

Politicians yet may conclude that the 18-year-old vote does not warrant special attention, but none will take that risk next year.

EVERYONE BUT the state Division of Highways knows that autos are a major source of air pollution, it seems. The division wants to build a new eight-lane freeway across San Mateo County, and asked 117 agencies and individuals to comment on its environmental statement that concluded the freeway would be a wonderful thing.

The 117 included such diverse bodies as the State Cemetery Board and the Adan E. Treganza Anthropology Museum — but not the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, which is supposed to be the agency responsible for air quality in the region.

Maybe the highway division knows something?

In a world that sits not on a powder keg, but on a hydrogen bomb, one beings to suspect that the technician who rules our world is not the master magician he thinks he is, but only a sorcerer's apprentice, who does not know how to turn off what he has turned on — or even how to avoid blowing himself up. — Joseph Wood Krutch.

Too Much Publicity For Redwood Teacher

I think it is utterly ridiculous that a county newspaper must put articles on Miss Blodgett and her job relations with Redwood High School on their headlines so often. Isn't there more interesting news blooming throughout the county and the world? I fail to see what is so interesting about her story that it demands front page headlines more than two times.

Articles of this nature should be put on the same page as the article on Mrs. Eisenhower visiting the hospital for her periodic physical checkup (I.J., Nov. 30, Page 11).

Some Oversights By Orr's Supporters

By now it must be painfully evident to other readers of the I-J, as well as us, that the few supporters of James Orr, former police chief of Fairfax, are indeed talkative, loyal (for a variety of reasons we're sure) and are sadly misinformed or ignorant of certain basic socio-governmental concepts, and the true facts of this case.

We have reached this conclusion, not from reading the I-J coverage of the hearings, which we consider to be quite fair and objective, but from reading the "Letters to the Editors". Some of which are from neither Fairfax residents, nor Fairfax taxpayers. Why? Has Mr. Orr run out of Fairfax supporters?

In the interest of good government, responsible press and objectivity, may we take this opportunity to draw the public attention to a couple of basic issues?

First, it seems eminently clear that the reinstatement of Mr. Orr to his former position would surely create a situation of untenable hardship for the vast majority of Fairfax residents. It would seem reasonable to assume that if the officers under his command found his personal character and his administration of the department sufficiently distasteful that they would put their personal welfare in jeopardy by making public testimony that they could never in the future serve comfortably under his leadership. They would seem to have no other alternative but to find employment elsewhere...

Secondly, the position of an official holding the public trust carries certain restraints and restrictions not suffered by the average citizen. Any person who accepts a position of public trust, especially in the field of law enforcement, accepts perforce the responsibility as well as the power. To be specific, Mr. Orr should never have allowed himself the luxury of any action that could even be misconstrued as morally debatable or socially questionable...

Thirdly, Mr. Robert Crowe, Fairfax city administrator, was chosen, by our city council, from numerous qualified applicants. In the short time he has held this position, the city itself reflects the excellent job he has done. The Council should be commended for their selection of Mr. Crowe. Unless we, as residents and taxpayers, support our city government and their actions, how can it function properly?...

Interior Department Takes Note Of Letter

Recently on a business trip to California, I had occasion to see a letter to the editor printed in your Nov. 13 issue regarding acquisition of land for the Redwood National Park. The letter was written by a Mrs. Valerie Higgins of Sleepy Hollow but no address was given in the newspaper.

I would like Mrs. Higgins to know of our appreciation of her interest in the activities of the Department of the Interior regarding establishment of the outstanding Redwood National Park. I thought she might be interested in some factual background concerning the park. I'm enclosing a letter which I ask that you forward to Mrs. Higgins (assuming you still have her address).

We hope that the type of concern expressed by Mrs. Higgins and our response will indicate to you and her the immense value that letters to the Editor can have in the processes of government.

U. P. INTERNATIONAL

In the matter of low-lead gasoline, the U. S. consumer is not putting his money where his mouth is.

A couple of years ago, a great hue and cry went up from the public (or at least, that vocal portion of it concerned about air pollution) demanding that oil companies "get the lead out" of gasoline.

Lead tetraethyl, a widely-used additive which raises the octane rating of gasoline and reduces engine knocking, was depicted by aroused environmentalists as a major villain in contamination of the atmosphere.

Responding to what sounded like a widespread public clamor, major oil companies rushed into production and distribution of low-lead or leadfree brands of gasoline.

AND DID THE AMERICAN consumer hasten to take advantage of this opportunity to do his part in combatting the air pollution he professes to fear so greatly?

He did not. In the jargon of the oil industry, low-lead gasoline has "bombed at the pump."

Finding that low-lead gasoline means lower performance or higher cost, or both, the vast majority of motorists are still filling their tanks with the usual brands of leaded gasolines.

Last year, only two per cent of the gasoline bought by American motorists was of the low-lead variety. Since many 1971 model automobiles were specifically designed to utilize low-lead gasoline, the oil industry is hopefully anticipating it will be able to sell a bit more of the stuff this year. But the most optimistic estimates turned up by a UPI survey put the probable 1971 consumption of low-lead gasoline at a modest 5 per cent of total gasoline sales.

THE ORIGINAL RATIONALE for removing lead from gasoline was that it contaminates the air. But the legs were cut off this argument by a recent report from the National Research Council stating that the amount of lead which gets into the air via gasoline "poses no identifiable threat to the general population."

Despite this finding, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) plans to issue next month regulations requiring that lead be removed from most gasolines on a gradual phase-out schedule over the next few years.

EPA now admits lead isn't a serious source of pollution, but it says lead would foul up the new gadgets which auto manufacturers are developing, at EPA's insistence, to reduce exhaust emissions of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons by 90 per cent. These antipollution gadgets, EPA has decreed, must be on all 1975 model cars.

THE ETHYL CORP., which manufactures the lead additive used in most gasolines, is feverishly working to save its market by developing a different type of exhaust emission control gadget, which will operate with leaded gasolines.

At this point, EPA seems to be siding with the Detroit designers and against Ethyl. But no one has yet figured out (1) how older cars, which require leaded gas, can be fueled if EPA outlaws the stuff entirely; or (2) how to make sure no leaded gas will get into 1975 model cars, which as presently conceived would be ruined by one wrong tankful; or (3) whether consumers are going to be happy with unleaded gasolines which will cost more (from 5.5 to 7 cents a gallon more, according to one study) to deliver the same amount of oomph and mileage motorists are now accustomed to get from leaded gasolines.

Nixon's New Game Plan Confounds The Rightists

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — If you are confused, think how the Young Americans for Freedom feel. Not to mention the editors of Human Events and the constituents of all the other old-line right-wing organizations, from Robert Welch in Belmont, Mass., to the proprietor of Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park, Calif.

Stubborn optimists among them no doubt have clung to the hope, these past months, that all the heresies Mr. Nixon is committing in foreign policy are mere window dressing, signifying nothing except a desire to get himself on television as another election year proceeds. Taking a trip to China, after all, and allowing China into the United Nations are simply symbols. There is nothing substantive about them, like Phantom jets or Sherman tanks or dollars and cents. It's just old Dick up to some more of his image management, keeping the radicals guessing, stealing their issues. He's still one of us, they whistled in the dark, the same Nixon who led the assault on the godless Communists in years gone by.

Isn't he?

THE NERVOUS QUESTION was whispered in private after the public outcry about all his transgressions had been issued, pro forma, for the record. And the answer came back just as quietly, not in the carefully spaced White House announcements before the cameras, which rationed out each fact about the president's forthcoming travels on a separate day for maximum "news" impact. It came in unphotogenic disclosures by officials with technical-sounding titles, and it was the substance that proved the symbolic presidential itinery abroad foreshadowed something real.

Not many Americans noticed when the State Department gave its blessings to participation by U.S. firms in construction of a giant truck assembly plant in the Soviet Union. But Young Americans for Freedom, an organization which never enjoyed life so much as when going down in flames with Barry Goldwater back in 1964, took careful note and spread the alarm.

Ronald F. Docksai, its current national chairman, sent out literature to "fellow anti-Communists" announcing a campaign called, "STOP Red Trucks," soliciting cash to finance efforts to block the sale of American equipment to the Russians.

"Not only could this plant be easily converted to production of tanks and other heavy military equipment, but, even as planned, these trucks are capable of carrying Communist soldiers, Communist ammunition, Communist fuel and Communist missiles. The Communists will sell these trucks to other countries like Cuba, North Vietnam, North Korea, Egypt and Red China," the flier declared (all quite accurately, except for the part about Russia selling trucks to China).

Naming the five firms principally involved in the deal, it trumpeted that "these firms need to feel the heat of public pressure now!

ALAS FOR RONALD DOCKSAI, even his urgent prose understated the case. Even while his appeal was in the mails, Maurice Stans, Mr. Nixon's secretary of commerce, was off in Moscow making deals to facilitate that dreaded "flood of other strategic equipment and other materials into the Soviet Union."

Stans said on departing the Russian capital that he had nailed down a contract for a $125 million exchange of products with the Russians. They will send us metals, mostly chrome. We will send them technology and equipment especially oil and mining machinery. Further talks will aim at bringing the Russians into the circle of trading partners enjoying "most-favored nation" tariff status with the United States, and multiplying the volume of trade between the two countries by 1975. The Russians, Stans said, are particularly interested in buying American machine tools and other sophisticated technological equipment.

Let me say it before Docksai can issue another call for help through the mails: Such equipment can indeed be used in a whole list of ways to manufacture not only trucks but also weapons. In fact, neither of us needs to tell the administration all this. It has been carefully considered and so has the shifting balance of world trade and military power. Further trade initiatives are forthcoming not only with the Soviet Union, but eventually with the Chinese as well.

And somewhere in the far reaches of the Kissinger-Nixon game plan, after any number of pragmatic fakes and quarterback options and double reverses intended to dazzle the world, there is a diagram that shows everything coming together triumphantly, at which point, Mr. Nixon will be carried off the field on almost everybody's shoulders, hailed as the peacemaker of the decade. At that point, if and when it is reached, the YAF and the John Birchers and their brethren will not be confused any more, just lonely.

Overtime Pay For Thinking? Mitchell Vetoes A Precedent

Ernest L. Graves, the tall, dapper and articulate Los Angeles attorney who has been appointed to represent San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee, provided a note of amusement in the usually dry county auditor's office last week.

In a bill submitted to the county, Graves listed a $400 expense under the title, "thinking." The cerebration was done from 3 a.m. to 5 a.m. on four different occasions, according to the bill.

Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, who must approve such bills, said "I quickly disallowed this item. I was afraid of a shattering precedent which could bankrupt the county.

"Imagina what would happen if we had to start paying all the county employees time-and-a-half for all the thinking they did after working hours," he added.

SPEAKING OF BILLS, Santa Clara County undoubtedly is going to spend some of the money recently appropriated for security in the Angela Davis case to correct what appears to have been a flaw on at least one occasion in the past.

County officials have been quoted as favoring holding the Davis trial in a courtroom in the building in which she is now jailed. Undoubtedly, they have noted that last month a man accused of burglary and attempted rape escaped from the same courtroom.

The escape took place when jailers sent up the wrong Mr. Johnson. Instead of an elderly occupant of a veterans' home accused of drunken driving, deputies sent the accused 24-year-old burglar.

As the judge exclaimed, "You're not the right Johnson," the 24-year-old bolted out of the courtroom "like a bullet" — in the judge's words. A single bailiff unsuccessfully chased him.

THE NUMBER of bicycles in Marin seems to be exceeded only by the number of bicycle thieves — maybe it's an equal number. After its predecessor was swiped, the bike at our house is now parked every night by its owner's bed — an occurrance that seemed unusual.

Recent visits to other homes, however, indicate that the family garage, front porch or walkway are no longer used for bike parking. The fancy new 10-speeds spend their off hours in family rooms, bedrooms, and even the living room in one house.

As for those who bicycle in San Francisco, the Civic Center is offering bargain rates — bikes may be parked all day for 25 cents. Someone has figured out this is about one-tenth what it costs to park a car for the same period of time.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

The Time Of The Year To Start Thinking Tax Returns

Every year about this time the wise man takes a look at his income and deductions for the year with the thought in mind that there may be some things which can be done before Dec. 31, 1971, to reduce his overall income and the tax that he must pay.

There is nothing wrong in this. Even the courts have said so:

"Over and over again courts have said there is nothing sinister in so arranging one's affairs as to keep taxes as low as possible. Everybody does so, rich or poor; and all do right, for nobody owes any public duty to pay more than the law demands: taxes are enforced exactions, not voluntary contributions. To demand more in the name of morals is mere cant." — Judge Learned Hand.

"The legal right of a taxpayer to decrease the amount of what otherwise would be his taxes, or altogether avoid them, by means which the law permits, cannot be doubted." — Justice Sutherland.

Senators also have a few things to say about this:

"The first nine pages of the Internal Revenue Code define income; the remaining 1,100 pages spin the web of exceptions and preferences." — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson.

That's what these columns are all about, the 1,100 pages of exceptions and preferences.

We hope to give you, during the remaining days of December, some ideas that may be helpful in reducing your 1971 tax bill.

Recycle Depot Shut On Holiday

Survival, Inc., which operates recycling depots at Marin's seven public high schools, has announced it will halt operations on Christmas and New Year's weekends. Operations will resume Jan. 8.

Materials accepted are crushed steel, bi-metal and aluminum cans with labels removed and bottles with aluminum rings and any lead or plastic removed.

Survival, the largest Marin recycling outfit since the withdrawal of Whole Systems Inc. from the recycling business, no longer accepts newspapers, but four dumps in Marin are being operated by a scavenger.

They are located at Sir Francis Drake and Redwood high schools, the Purity Market at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, and the Terra Linda Fire Department, 650 Del Ganado Road.

Stab Victim Colleagues Speak Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A group of teachers is protesting lack of public support for a colleague who was repeatedly stabbed by a parent.

"Neither the Board of Education, the teachers' association nor the press have done or said anything publicly to the community to indicate their support of Joan Hoskey, or any other teacher who might be subjected to similar attack."

"On the other hand, great press coverage has been given to the senseless accusations and ravings of her attacker ... Joan respected the individuality of each child and made it a point to know the children and their families. As for her being abusive and insulting, this is incongruous."

Mrs. Rose Marie Hardy, 34, the woman who stabbed Miss Hoskey and another teacher with an ice pick, is undergoing court-ordered psychiatric examination.

Mrs. Hardy told newsmen Miss Hoskey insulted her and shouted at her child in kindergarten.

Miss Hoskey remains hospitalized in serious condition.

GIVE YOUR CHILD THIS TEST

Have him read List I and then List II.
Note the number of words misread in each list.

LIST I		LIST II
green	nine	dirty	cage
egg	chicken	war	hundred
play	boat	base	fork
baby	grandmother	giraffe	broken
ten	seven	match	doctor
walk	yellow	young	kill
apple	bed	alarm	radio
three	street	music	decide
big	little	sweet	forgot
fish	school	pencil	spoon

A third grade child who can read most of the words in List I but few in List II has learned to read words one at a time by memorizing them as wholes (the look-say approach).

A child who has truly learned to read can read correctly almost all the words in both lists.

How well is your third-grader learning to read? A child cannot keep up in school by memorizing words.

Come to the Sullivan Reading Center to see how we teach reading skills. It's a good system. We'll even unconditionally guarantee your child's progress in our program, or return your money.

Give the test. Maybe the Sullivan Reading Centers should be helping your child to READ.

Tears All Around As Colony Closes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Truman Capote pushed aside his pasta and wept.

"I'll never eat spaghetti again," he said.

Mrs. Robert Considine, wife of the famous journalist, was upset also. She could not finish her meal.

The wake-life atmosphere Saturday night permeated the last meal to be served at The Colony, the Manhattan restaurant which for 50 years has catered to the rich and famous of the world.

Gene Cavallero Jr., whose father founded the restaurant as an immigrant from Italy, sat in the deserted bar Sunday under the huge blue and white striped tent which covers the room. The tent was put up as a joke in 1938 but the Duke of Windsor liked it so much the tent has remained.

"People don't dine these days, they simply eat," Cavallero said, puffing on a cigar. "But rather than turn The Colony into a hash house, I prefer to close."

Cavallero, who took over from his father 15 years ago, blamed "unrealistic terms in our union contracts" for forcing him out of business. He said raising prices would not be fair to his customers and cutting the quality of the food was unthinkable.

"The closing is sad for me because I had fondly hoped to hold the restaurant my father started for his grandchildren to continue operating, and maybe their children after them in the same high tradition," he said. "Anything less would not honor him, them or our devoted patrons."

About 150 of the restaurant's devotees showed up for the last dinner Saturday. Cavallero said letters announcing the closing will be sent to 5,000 to 7,000 other regular customers.

The demise of The Colony was the latest in a series of closings of famous New York restaurants. Among the ones to go this year were Toots Shor's and Whyte's, a landmark in the financial dinner.

The Colony was famous for its policy of cooking whatever the customer ordered, whether it was on the menu or not. But the cost ran high, with $50 being about the minimum for a dinner for two.

The Colony was a meeting place for men and their mistresses when Gene Cavallero Sr. bought it. Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt happened in by accident one day, told her friends about it and The Colony's fame was spread.

Over the years, everybody who was anybody came there to eat. John F. Kennedy came when he was a senator and President Nixon was one of the few persons allowed to bring a dog.

Jacquelin Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis ate there fore they were married and Cavallero claims he was the first to predict their marriage. The Colony fed 5,000 persons for three days when shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos christened his first supertanker. Mike Todd picked up food at the Colony to take to Elizabeth Taylor when she was recuperating in the hospital. Carol Channing brought her own organic food. The guest list ran from Archduke Franz Joseph to Frank Sinatra.

When Jimmy Walker was mayor he liked The Colony so much he made traffic on 61st Street eastbound so he could get there in a hurry and when he finished dinner he made it westbound so he could leave.

Cavallero said he had offers from New Orleans, Houston and California to open restaurants there and some of his New York friends say he should open a private club in Manhattan.

"This is not a funeral," he said, "I've been in this business since I was 12 years old and I don't intend to quit now."

Then, in the quiet bar, a far cry from its bustling heyday, Cavallero ate a plate of spaghetti and apple pie, topped off with Napoleon brandy.

One Badly Hurt In Cycle Wreck

One person was hospitalized and two others injured in accidents Saturday, California Highway Patrol reported.

Craig Talbot Minto, 19, of 300 Olema Road, Apt. 8, Fairfax, was reported in poor condition in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with a fractured pelvis and back injuries.

A passenger on his motorcycle, Sally Williams, 19, same address, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises.

Donald Bruce Bullock, 21 of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital for possible fractured left ankle.

Patrolmen reported that Minto and Miss Williams overturned on his motorcycle at 3:45 p.m. on the Fairfax-Bolinas Road four miles west of the Meadow Club.

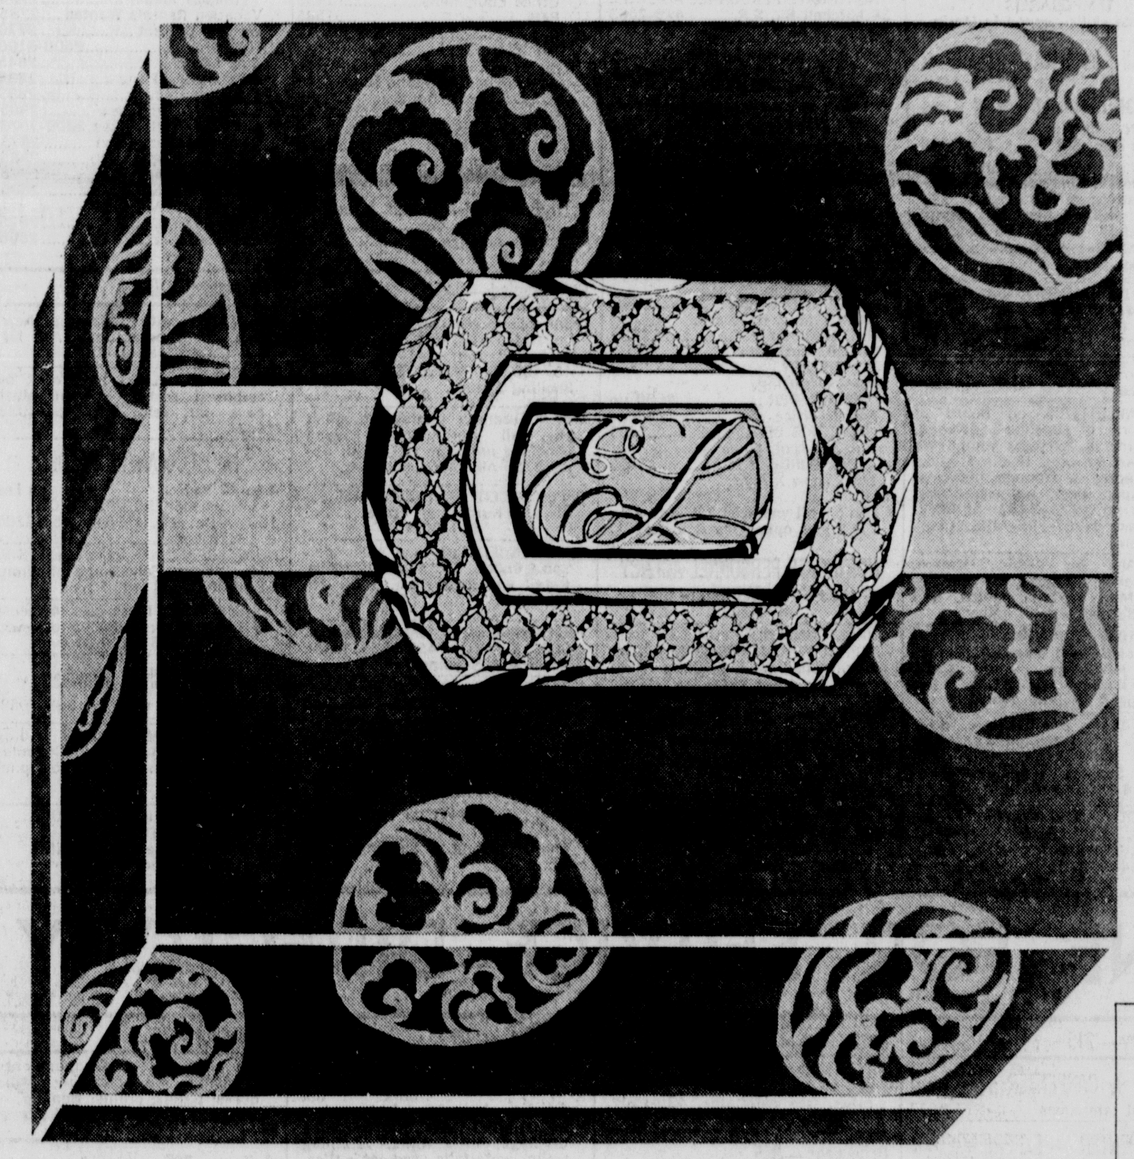

Bullock ran off a curve on Shoreline Highway two miles north of Stinson Beach at 3:30 p.m., patrolmen reported.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

The Question Of Giving Unwed Teen-Ager The Birth Control Pill

If you were a physician, would you give an unmarried teen-ager a prescription for the "pill"? A number of clinics in Birmingham, England, provide contraceptive advice and sex and social counseling for unmarried youngsters.

In the following case, a young man took his 16-year-old girl friend to one of these centers. Both of them wanted to avoid an unwanted pregnancy. The girl was mature for her age and the counselor, under the impression that they were planning to be married, wrote a prescription for birth control pills. She was told that it was clinic policy to notify the family physician in confidence by letter.

THE FAMILY PHYSICIAN told her father and needless to say, the love affair was broken off. At first, the mother couldn't believe what had happened. But she finally thanked God that her daughter had enough sense to protect herself. According to the report in the journal, Medical Opinion, the clinic charged the doctor with breach of professional confidence. Its main contention was that teen-agers won't go to a doctor (or clinic) if he relays confidential information to their parents. Modern youngsters want medical information, but want it without a dose of moralism and paternalism.

Firmly convinced that he was acting in the best interests of his patient, the family physician thought the parents ought to know what was going on. After all, it was against the will of God for unmarried girls to have sexual relations. If the teen-ager had only seen him first, he would have tried to talk her out of it. The medico was sincere but had no excuse for not speaking to the girl before he spoke to her father.

THE BRITISH licensing authority concluded that the doctor's action was not improper. However, the issue is by no means closed. Some question whether doctors have the right to make their own ethical decisions. In this country, a number of physicians will not give birth control advice to an unmarried woman.

HOT WEATHER THIRST

B. J. writes: During the hot weather I'm thirsty all the time — no matter how much water I drink. Can you explain this annoying condition?

REPLY

It is normal to be thirsty during hot weather, especially if you perspire profusely. It might be wise to have a urinalysis to determine whether diabetes is present, as thirst is one symptom of this disease. I assume you are not using too much salt.

BRAIN ARTERY DISORDER

J. N. writes: What is meant by a cerebrovascular accident?

REPLY

Stroke. The cause may be rupture of a brain artery (cerebral hemorrhage), blockage of one of these blood vessels (cerebral thrombosis), or a clot that travels from elsewhere in the body (cerebral embolism).

INTESTINAL CANCER

H.O.N. writes: What are the signs of a malignancy in the colon?

REPLY

Cancer is suspected whenever the individual develops definite changes in bowel habits (either diarrhea or constipation) or blood is noted in the stools. These symptoms never should be ignored.

Skydiver Quizzed In Hijack

SEATTLE (UPI)—It was a case of mistaken identity, but Bill Whitney admits he was almost a perfect suspect.

The 33-year-old champion skydiver was questioned over five hours by the FBI in their search for the man who hijacked a plane Nov. 24 and parachuted with $200,000 ransom.

Whitney said Sunday that he wears dark glasses, lacked a strong alibi, was coholder of the Northwest sky-jumping altitude record and looked remarkably like an FBI sketch of the skyjacker.

"I know a lot of jumpers up and down the coast. I understand a lot of them looked at that sketch and thought of me," he said.

Whitney, interrogated by FBI agents Thursday, said he didn't think the daring skyjacking feat was very difficult.

"I could have done it, yes, but I didn't," said the bachelor businessman, whose height, weight, age and complexion were different from those given the aerial bandit.

The skyjacker bailed out of a Northwest Airlines 727 jetliner after showing the stewardess what he said was a bomb and released the passengers in Seattle for $200,000 and four parachutes. The FBI said the man, who called himself "D.B. Cooper" could have jumped anywhere between Seattle and Reno, Nev., where the pilot had been ordered to go for refueling.

"If they ever make a movie of this, I'd be happy to play his part," Whitney said.

Marinite Is Booked

A 45-year-old man, who told San Rafael police he was trying to break up a Communist revolution, was arrested Saturday after he allegedly vandalized a San Rafael home and punched the homeowner in the face.

Bard Charles Nolan of Riverside was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of a variety of offenses and held in lieu of $625 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said Michael L. Duff of 134 Front Street, reported he awoke after midnight and heard noises coming from the upper part of his house. He went to investigate and found Nolan vandalizing a room and shouting incoherently about a communist plot.

Nolan had damaged Christmas decorations and a pair of phonograph speakers, police said, and had pulled a gas heater pipe from the wall.

He was booked on suspicion of assault, battery, disturbing the peace, malicious mischief, unauthorized entrance and resisting arrest, all misdemeanors.

'Caught' Plane Crashes In Strange Air Collision

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) —An air freight employe at the Raleigh-Durham Airport looked up in astonishment and saw a small private plane stuck in the landing gear of a Eastern Airlines jet.

It was "just like a hawk carrying a smaller bird," said Albert Purcell.

"Then, as I watched, the big plane appeared to spread its landing gear further and drop the little plane. I was seeing it, but I couldn't believe what I was seeing."

The two planes collided Saturday over N.C. Highway 54 as the jetliner approached for a landing. The single-engine Cessna Super Skywagon became tangled in the jet's landing gear, then plunged to the ground and exploded, killing its two occupants. The jet landed safely.

Federal aviation officials say it may be two weeks before they will be able to give a possible cause for the collision. The Eastern jet, flight 298 from Miami, landed without any injuries to its crew or its 23 passengers. The plane sustained minor damage.

Investigators Sunday checked the charred debris of the four-seater private craft, in which Raleigh attorney Willis Smith Jr., 51, son of the late U.S. Sen. Willis Smith and cochairman of President Nixon's re-election campaign in North Carolina; and David Eugene Upchurch of Morrisville died within sight of the airport control tower.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman in Atlanta said that investigators were "going over everything" to see what had led to the accident. William H. Collins, a National Transportation Safety Board official heading the probe, said Sunday he expected a preliminary report to be finished in about two weeks.

Collins said the accident team was looking into what had transpired on board both aircraft and in the control tower prior to the accident. He also indicated the officials would study the tower and jet's recordings as well as the jet's fuselage and the wreckage of the Cessna.

Airport Manager Henry Boyd said the collision was more "a coming into contact as opposed to slamming into each other."

The jet carried the Cessna with it for about three miles before the private craft disengaged at an altitude of 2,000 feet and plunged to the ground just off the main runway, exploding in flames.

Fairfax School Board To Meet

Trustees of the Fairfax School District, meeting at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at White Hill School, will discuss how to spend $3,110 paid to the district by the Marin Municipal Water District for a pipeline easement.

The board will consider using the funds to improve the playground at White Hill School. The easement, 20 feet wide and 1,200 feet long, is located at the school.

The board also will receive reports on enrollment in the district, in-service provisions and policy on charging fees for student activities.

Audie Murphy Bill To Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Audie Murphy, the World War II hero who made and lost a fortune in motion pictures before dying May 28 in an airplane crash, will become only the fourth individual commemorated by a Veterans Administration (VA) hospital.

A bill to name for Murphy a new $36 million VA hospital in San Antonio, Tex., was sent to the White House for President Nixon's signature after passing the Senate during the weekend. It cleared the House earlier.

The new 760-bed hospital is scheduled to be completed in December, 1973. A suitable memorial for Murphy, won 24 citations for bravery and wounds and a medal of honor, would be provided at the hospital under provisions of the bill.

Besides Murphy, the most decorated U.S. soldier in World War II, VA hospitals are named for Royal C. Johnson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Sam Rayburn.

We see the happy world of children at play, but we know, too, there exists at the same time a world of alienation and rejection. Troubled by these harsh contrasts, we ask the question "Why?" Why poverty in a land of plenty? Why loneliness in a world that would join hands? Why war when the impulse of the heart is to love? The aching chasm between the real and the ideal everywhere provokes the question . . .

WHY?

In a world looking for answers maybe God is the place to start. God is hope. God is now.

Raiders Bow To Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—Norm Van Brocklin figures the Kansas City Chiefs owe his Atlanta Falcons a favor.

"Kansas City should be inspired," Van Brocklin said after the Falcons upset the Oakland Raiders, 24-13 Sunday. "We did our part. Now, Hank Stram can put on his six-button Edwardian suit and do it for us."

To explain: Kansas City, now tied with Oakland in the AFC West after Sunday's action, tonight plays at San Francisco which leads the Falcons by one game in the NFC West. Next Sunday, Oakland is at Kansas City and Atlanta at San Francisco.

DEFENSE

Van Brocklin credited his defense, which stopped the Raiders three times inside the Atlanta 10, for the upset.

"If you play good defense, you've always got a chance to win," said Van Brocklin after watching the Falcons intercepted Daryle Lamonica passes at their goal line and at their five — and then hold for four downs after Oakland recovered a fumble at the Atlanta four yard line.

"That," said Van Brocklin of the goal line stand, "was a great great effort."

PLAN FAILS

However, Oakland running back Marv Hubbard, who gained 143 yards before having to leave the game late in the third period, apparently felt Oakland's offensive strategy caused those scoring failures.

"I think when the running game was going so well we should run down near the goalline," said an obviously disappointed Hubbard. "The off tackle play is what we should have tried. It's always gone well for us.

"I asked for the off tackle play near the goal several times but was ignored."

Although interceptions twice killed long drives, Oakland Coach John Madden agreed with the calls. "That's how we've always played," said Madden. "We always mix it up down at the goal line."

UNUSUAL

Blame it on the wet, near-freezing weather, or what you will, but the Atlanta-Oakland game was a bit unusual, to say the least.

Atlanta ran only three offensive plays (for four yards) in the first period but led 7-0 going into the final seconds thanks to a 60-yard fumble return by Tom Hayes. The Raiders got their only first-half score on a field goal by George Blanda with 17 seconds left in the first period as they couldn't get past midfield in the second period.

A 15-yard Bob Berry to Art Malone pass and a 41-yard Bill Bell field goal two seconds before intermission gave Atlanta a 17-3 halftime lead.

LEAD CUT

Period No. 3 was much like No. 1 as Oakland dominated play; scoring on another Blanda field goal and a 31-yard pass from Lamonica to Fred Biletnikoff to cut the Falcons' lead to 17-13 going into the final period.

Berry, who completed 12 of 18 passes for 220 yards, moved Atlanta in to their final 11-point margin and the goal line stand five minutes later wrapped it up.

FUMBLE

Dan Connors pounced on a fumble at the Atlanta four. Clarence Davis lost a yard in two carries, Lamonica overthrew Biletnikoff in the end zone and then Claude Humphrey threw Lamonica for a 10-yard loss.

SANTA ROSA IN FINALS

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Top-ranked El Camino (10-1) and Santa Rosa (10-1) meet Saturday at Memorial Stadium here for the junior college large division football championship of California.

Santa Rosa erupted for 21 points in the final period to whip San Joaquin Delta 39-15 Saturday night at Diablo Valley and capture the Northern California JC championship. El Camino clobbered Rio Hondo 51-36 at East Los Angeles.

PUSHY TYPES — Oakland Raider tight end Raymond Chester (87) and Atlanta safety John Mallory (22) attempted to knock each other aside after the white-jerseyed receiver latched onto a pass in the first half Sunday. The host Falcons prevailed 24-14 to knock the Raiders into a dead heat with the Kansas City Chiefs. (UPI Telephoto)

TONIGHT

49ers Host Kansas City

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Kansas City Chiefs are in better shape than San Francisco for their big match at Candlestick Park tonight but the oddsmakers don't think they can beat the 49ers.

Sportsmen have installed the 49ers two point favorites, but the Chiefs are carbon copies of the kind of team which San Francisco has had trouble with this season.

BROWN DOUBTFUL

Only defensive end Aaron Brown is doubtful for the Chiefs while San Francisco goes into the tussle with half a defensive backfield and a lot of doubts that it can move the ball against Kansas City's front four.

Because the Raiders dropped a 24-13 decision to the Atlanta Falcons Sunday, Kansas City is in a flat-footed tie with Oakland for the AFC West lead. A loss to San Francisco tonight wouldn't hurt all that much since the Chiefs would have a chance to retrieve it next Sunday when they host the Raiders.

MUST WIN

The 49ers, though, have their backs to the wall even though they are no worse than tied with Los Angeles for first in the NFC West. They must win tonight because a loss would put them in a position where they would need outside help to overhaul the Rams, with whom they are through playing for the year.

"We can't afford to lose," said San Francisco coach Dick Nolan on the even of the Kansas City game. "We're playing a tough club, a team which can do a lot of things well offensively and defensively. That means we can't make a single mistake because it might be the turning point."

Hank Stram, the Kansas City coach, wasn't as gloomy but he, too, emphasized the importance of tonight's game.

'GREAT POSITION'

"A victory would put us in great position," said Stram.

It would, too. In fact, the Chiefs could clinch the AFC West by beating the 49ers tonight and the Raiders next Sunday.

Len Rhode, San Francisco's veteran offensive tackle, is still hurting and is a doubtful starter tonight. Rookie John Watson of Oklahoma, who spelled Rhode in the second half of last Sunday's game against the Jets, will get the call if Len can't make it t the post.

While Rhode's loss could be a tough one, it's nothing compared to the San Francisco defensive backfield situation where three regulars are hurting and only one is a possible starter.

TRIO AILING

Cornerback Jimmy Johnson has a broken wrist and seems very doubtful, cornerback Bruce Taylor has a hip pointer and sprained shoulder and safety Mel Phillips has a tender ankle. Only Taylor appears to have a chance to play.

That leaves Nolan with three

PREP BASKETBALL

Deliberate St. Ignatius Holds On To Upset Tam

St. Ignatius High School, performing "Time Is On My Side" better than the Rolling Stones ever did, ruined Tamalpais High's invasion of San Francisco by upsetting the Indians Saturday night, 40-39.

San Marin never looked back in defeating Analy of Sebastopol, 67-44. In other action involving Marin County Athletic League teams, Novato fell to Petaluma, 65-50, and Marin Catholic lost to Cardinal Newman in Santa Rosa, 67-64, despite an incredible comeback.

"They (St. Ignatius) planned to kill one minute every time they got the ball," said Tamalpais coach Bernie Schneider. "I'd say they controlled the ball at least 70 per cent of the time."

The deliberate Wildcats led at halftime, 23-12, and hung on against a furious second-half rally by Tamalpais (now 2-1). Tam was never in position to win the game, although Will Garner cut the margin to one point with a field goal with two seconds left. Garner led all scorers with 20 points, hitting 10 of 11 from the floor.

Tam trailed, 17-12, late in the second quarter when Garner and forward Jared McFerrin contracted three fouls each and were temporarily benched. St. Ignatius went on a 6-0 spree to open the insurmountable gap.

Tam got to shoot only seven free throws, and made three. S.I. hit 14 of 23 from the line.

"We got aroused in the second half and hustled," said Schneider. "I think S.I. was trying to hold its lead rather than go for more."

San Marin (now 1-1) improved substantially over its opening-night loss and led from wire to wire against Analy.

"I'm pleased," said coach Andy Frauenhofer. "It was a good effort for our second game. The kids loosened up."

Lefthanded Hoza Wright hit his graceful jump shot three times in a row during a stretch that saw the Mustangs go from a 7-6 lead to a 21-11 advantage. Wright finished with 14 points and would've had more, but his shots weren't dropping. He made a variety of slick maneuvers on offense and defense.

Bart Saling came off the bench to tie Wright for scoring honors. "He did a fine, fine job," said Frauenhofer. "He really went to the basket for us."

Fred Doar, another lefty, contributed 10 points.

Normal starting guard Greg Mazeres, who reaggravated a back injury in pre-game warmups Friday night, missed last night's game and will be out indefinitely.

"Ron Zechlin did a good job at guard for us," said Frauenhofer, "but we'll really miss Greg. We're awfully thin without him."

Novato (now 1-3) made only two of 13 free throws against Petaluma, while the Sonoma Countians were sinking 15. That made up most of the margin.

Marty Moroski had another hot hand for the Hornets and finished with 25 points, the only bright spot for coach Jim Caranica.

"We haven't played up to our potential yet," said Caranica. "We didn't start to rebound until the third quarter, and we didn't penetrate their 1-2-2 zone. Defense wasn't too good, either."

Marin Catholic (now 1-2) trailed by 21 points in the third quarter, but suddenly caught fire and roared back to within one in the waning seconds. Dan Mahoney's potential game-winning shot with 12 seconds left was in and out of the basket.

"I'm really proud of them," said the Wildcats' interim coach, Bill Isetta. "The Cardinal Newman coach said it was the best comeback by a high-school team he's ever seen."

Jim Sullivan scored 21 points for Marin Catholic, and Mahoney added 10. The Wildcats led at the end of the first quarter, but had a two-for-19 shooting

Warriors Bombed By Phoenix

PHOENIX (UPI) —Coach Al Attles chewed out the Golden State Warriors after they lost by 36 points to the Phoenix Suns for their most humiliating loss of the season Saturday night in Oakland.

The Warriors paid heed and came back to lose only by 33 points, 120-87, to the same Suns Sunday night in this desert city.

Now the embarrassed Warriors go on regional television Tuesday night in San Diego against the Atlanta Hawks.

Barbara Weigandt of North Hollywood, Calif., captured the women's singles crown with a 7-6, 0-6, 7-5 upset of top-seeded Nancy Neeld of Albuquerque, N.M.

Cossacks Fall 110-62 To Visiting Cal State

Sonoma State's basketball worries continue.

The Cossacks scored fewer points all game than Cal State Bakersfield scored in the second half, and the result was a 110-62 defeat Saturday night in Rohnert Park.

Sonoma State, 0-2 on the year, lost its 27th straight game.

The taller visitors, who had three men at 6-feet-7 or better, shot 52 percent to Sonoma's 33 per cent and dominated both backboards as well. They had six men in double figures, including Ken Shiloh with 26 and Richard Ross with 24.

Henry Crawford led Sonoma with 11 points. "Jim De Laughter, who scored six, played a pretty good game, too," said Sonoma publicist Don Lumpkins.

The Cossacks play next on Friday at Fresno Pacific, 8 p.m.

SPORT NOTES

Sports Figures Meet In Gilmartin Parley

By RALPH CHATOIAN

My former boss really got a shocker Friday night. It came in the form of 80 very familiar faces who threw a surprise testimonial dinner for him. Jim Gilmartin, who resigned as I-J sports editor a few months back, was one surprised guy.

Friends turned out who had known Jim during his 25 years of running the ol' playpen section of this newspaper. Some of the friends went back further than that, to his days as a kid in Fairfax.

One of Jim's backers came through a snowstorm for the Nave Lanes dinner. It was Nick Kobseff, who for years ran things at Rancho Nicasio and is now a restaurant owner in McCloud, Shasta County.

THERE WAS Arleigh Williams, former athletic director at College of Marin and now dean of students at Cal. Harry Pieper, present athletic director at Marin, was there, and Marin head coach Dick Read. There was Jim's old coach at San Rafael High, Paul Brown. High school coaches like Bob Troppmann, Carl "Red" Brown, men who used to coach, like Irving "Red" Diamond, Angelo Colombo.

There were ex-big league ball players who grew up on Marin sandlots, like Joe DeMaestri and Art Schallock. Old barefooted place kickers like Gordon Tovani. It was quite a group and I can't try to name them all.

IT WAS a fun night. When Arleigh left, he was wearing a wig that had been good for a lot of laughs for Milt Schwartz. When Marin Catholic athletic director Gary Hughes left he had $3 from Troppmann, that fighter for short hair, to pay for a hair cut.

It was also a touching night. Jim heard a lot of fine words as Don Collins passed a microphone around the room to give all a chance to have their say. As Jim found out that night, he's made a lot of friends during his years as I-J sports editor. They turned out to say, "Thanks, Jim, for a job well done."

I HAD been a sports writer for nine years under Gilmartin and there were a lot of fun times and a lot of hard working times. I learned a lot about this game from Jim, and as his successor, I hope I can use these things learned.

He did a lot for sports in Marin County during the last quarter century and it was fitting the guys he wrote about gave him his special night.

It was a special night for a special guy. Good luck, Jim.

San Francisco Defeats UCLA

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The University of San Francisco defeated UCLA, 6-2, at Kezar Stadium Saturday to win the NCAA Western Regional soccer championship.

The victory advanced the Dons to the finals at Miami, Dec. 28-30 as one of the tourney's last four teams from a starting field of almost 1,000 eligible schools.

Marin Tars Thrash Nevada Frosh, 96-67

"The kids decided to go out and play a ball game."

With those words, College of Marin basketball coach John Panagakis summed up the Tars' 96-67 victory over the University of Nevada-Reno freshmen Saturday night in Reno.

"We went back to the motel after Friday night's game (won by the Tars, 84-80) and sacked out," said the coach, who claimed his team was weary after the long bus ride to Reno. The rest apparently helped, because Marin jumped on top Saturday and was never headed.

Former Novato High School star Joe DeMaestri had his first big scoring night as a Tar, netting 21 points. "They (Reno) were overplaying our guards," said Panagakis. "DeMaestri drives well, and he just beat their man one-on-one to the bucket." He hit eight of 19 shots.

Joe Smith and Ed Herrnberger scored 15 points each for Marin, while Joe Casteel and Roosevelt Green contributed 12 apiece. All five Tar starters scored in double figures.

"We stayed with our offense and ran it well," said Panagakis. "Also, we kept our ball-control errors down."

The Tars' next game will be tomorrow at 8 p.m. against Consumes River in Sacramento.

UCLA, Cal, Washington Off Fast In Cage Play

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

What do UCLA, California, Washington, Long Beach State and St. Mary's have in common?

A fast start in the 1971-72 basketball season as mirrored in their 2-0 records. And to those who hoped this just might possibly be an off-year for perennial national champion UCLA, forget it.

The Bruins have scored 211 points in both games, the latest a 106-72 win over Iowa Saturday night. Big sophomore center Bill Walton cleared the boards and holdover Henry Bibby hit for 31 points to pace the Bruins.

USC, stung by Arizona State in its opener, routed the University of San Francisco 102-82 behind Paul Westphal's 31 points, 12 assist and eight rebounds. The Trojans are given the best chance of catching the Bruins this season.

Ranger Threesome Aids New York Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The GAG Line is proving anything but a joke to National Hockey League rivals of the New York Rangers.

As applied to the veteran line of Vic Hadfield, Jean Ratelle and Rod Gilbert, GAG stands for Goal-A-Game, and the trio has been more than living up to the new appellation.

Gilbert, Ratelle and Hadfield, who have been skating together for about six years, each scored a goal within a 4:06 span of the second period to break up a tie contest Sunday night and carry the Rangers to a 6-3 victory over the Vancouver Canucks.

With Ratelle also picking up three assists, Gilbert two and Hadfield one, the GAG Line earned nine points for the night to boost its league-high total to 127. It was the sixth time in 25 games this season that each member of the line has had a goal, and the trio shows a total of 53 goals.

"GAG Line?" Asked Ratelle, the quietest member of the line. "That's a funny name for a line, but as long as we score you can call us anything."

Hadfield, who attributes the phenomenal success of the line this season to more sophisticated passing, suggested a better name.

"Wait till we win the Stanley Cup," said the team captain, "then you can call us the Stanley Cup line."

The victory boosted New York back into undisputed possession of first place in the East, two points ahead of idle Montreal and the Boston Bruins, who climbed into a second-place tie by beating the Pittsburgh Penguins, 5-3.

The Chicago Black Hawks reduced their margin to three points behind first-place Minnesota in the West by routing the Los Angeles Kings, 7-0, while the North Stars were dropping a 3-1 decision at Buffalo, and in other games Sunday night the St. Louis Blues edged the Detroit Red Wings, 2-1.

Vancouver twice took one-goal leads in the opening period on shots by Dale Tallon and Wayne Connelly, but Jim Neilson and Walt Tkaczuk drew the Rangers even. Then the GAG Line did its damage midway through the second session to give New York a comfortable margin.

John McKenzie's goal with 2:48 left in the game broke a 3-3 tie and gave Boston its winning margin against Pittsburgh. Ken Hodge, who had not scored a goal in 13 games, scored his second goal of the evening into an open net with nine seconds remaining for the clincher. Phil Esposito collected a goal and two assists to give him 44 points and a one-point lead over Hadfield in the scoring race.

Chicago scored four goals in the first period, more than enough margin as Gary Smith registered his second shutout of the season by turning aside 30 Los Angeles shots. Bobby Hull and rookie Darryl Maggs each scored two goals for the Black Hawks.

Rookie Craig Ramsa scored the first three goals of his NHL career to provide Buffalo with all its goals and hand Minnesota only its fifth setback of the season and its first against an expansion team. Danny Grant scored the only North Star goal in the opening minutes of the game.

Hockey Teams Win Three

It was a weekend of either feast or famine for the Marin Amateur Hockey Club with three lopsided victories and two big defeats.

The Squirts beat San Francisco, 7-1; the Pee Wees beat Santa Rosa, 6-2; and the Bantams beat Belmont, 5-1. Defeats were sustained by the Mites at the hands of Santa Rosa, 11-0, and by the Bantams in Berkeley, 8-0.

Nebraska Wins 12th In 11 Grid Contests

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Nebraska is the first team to win 12 games in an 11-game schedule.

The top-ranked Cornhuskers wrapped up their regular season with their 12th victory Saturday night but the NCAA, which only allows college teams to play 11 games, will list their record officially as 11-0.

That's because Nebraska's 453 romp past Hawaii in Honolulu isn't officially recognized by the NCAA. But it was still a great vacation in the sun and the surf for the Cornhuskers after the tough test against Oklahoma and before the Orange Bowl classic against Alabama.

Nebraska frolicked to a 24-3 halftime lead and coasted in during the second half. Quarterback Jerry Tagge teamed up on an 80-yard scoring play to tight end Jerry List after Dave Mason ran 28 yards with an intercepted pass for the Cornhuskers' first touchdown and the rout was on.

In a game that had a bit more significance, Tennessee took advantage of Conrad Graham's 76-yard run with a fumble recovery and Bobby Majors' 44-yard run with a punt return to stun Penn St. 31-11.

The loss was the first of the season for Cotton Bowl-bound Penn St. and was a blow to the Nittany Lions' pride. Penn St. claimed it deserved a higher ranking but the loss ended the Lions' arguments.

Majors scampered for 151 yards on punt and kickoff returns for Tennessee. The Volunteers, now 9-2, are headed toward a Liberty Bowl showdown on Dec. 20 against Arkansas.

Syracuse wound up with a 5-51 record by downing Miami of Florida 14-0. The victory saved coach Ben Schwartzwaler from his first losing season since 1949.

Roger Praetorius and Ron Page scored the two touchdowns on runs of 10 and seven yards.

Water Polo Crown Won By DeAnza

CONCORD (UPI) —DeAnza College won the California state junior college waterpolo championship Saturday night by defeating Orange Coast, 11-8.

Long Beach City finished third in the tourney with San Mateo fifth. Long Beach defeated Fullerton, 7-6, while San Mateo ousted College of the Sequoias.

Oklahoma, which went to Stillwater, Okla., while Nebraska was basking in the sun in Hawaii, didn't have any more trouble than the Huskers did. Oklahoma routed Oklahoma St. 58-14 as Jack Mildren ran for two touchdowns and passed for another and Greg Pruitt ran for two more.

The Sooners, who meet Auburn in the Sugar Bowl, scored nine times in their 13 possessions.

In other games, San Diego St. routed North Texas St. 44-28 while Bethany College topped Missouri Valley 17-14 in the 23rd annual Mineral Water Bowl and Cal Lutheran whipped Westminster (Pa.) 30-14 to capture the NAIA's Division II national title.

There will be seven bowl games this Saturday. Tennessee St. meets McNeese St. in the Grantland Rice Bowl, Louisiana Tech faces Western Michigan in the Pioneer Bowl, Boise St. meets Chico St. in the Camellia Bowl, Carson-Newman meets Fairmont, W.Va., in the Share Bowl, Florida A&M meets Kentucky St. in the Orange Blossom Classic and Arkansas Tech battles Livingston, Ala., in the NAIA division I title game.

Russi Wins Ski Descent

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland — Bernhard Russi of Switzerland, the world downhill ski champion, won the "white ribbon" descent here yesterday in the first event of the new World Cup season.

The 23-year-old engineering draftsman from Andermatt spearheaded a brilliant Swiss performance. His teammates Walter Tresch and Michel Daetwyler placed third and fourth and Rene Bertold and Jean-Daniel Daetwyler eighth and tenth.

Thus the Swiss men laid firm claim to the downhill team title and to medals in the Winter Olympics in Sapporo, Japan, in February.

Heini Messner and veteran Karl Schranz of Austria were second and fifth respectively. Messner was only five hundredths of a second slower than Russi, which meant not much more than a ski tip.

VAIL, Colo. — Spider Sabich of Kyburz, Calif., top money winner on the pro skiing circuit last year, made a clean sweep yesterday of the first pro ski meet of the season by winning the slalom event of the Samsonite Classic.

Football

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. — Minnesota Vikings split end Al Denson says he has decided to make a stand, even if it means getting "blackballed" from professional football.

After starting in only three games this year, Denson was placed on the "move list" Saturday, so he failed to show up for practice Saturday afternoon, was suspended by the Vikings, and flew back to Minneapolis.

MONTOGMERY, Ala. — Bill Pederson of Rice University will be head coach of the Gray team in the 34th annual Blue-Gray football game Dec. 28, the Blue-Gray Association said Saturday.

Basketball

PITTSBURGH — Denver Rocket coach Alex Hannum says he will ask the American Basketball Association to suspend Pittsburgh forward John Brisker as a result of a fight in the Rocket-Condor game. "It was the cheapest shot I've ever seen in basketball," Hannum said.

Marathon

CULVER CITY — Bill Scoby of Arcata, Calif., chopped two minutes off the course record yesterday to finish first of 650 runners in the Western Hemisphere Marathon Championship, a pre-olympic test for distance runners. His time was two hours, 15 minutes and 21 seconds, breaking the old mark of 2:17:11 set by Peter McArdle of Ireland in 1962.

General

TEANECK, N.J. — Roosevelt Brown, a former New York Giant tackle, was critically injured in an auto accident here last night when he swerved to avoid hitting another car, careened across an opposite lane and struck a tree a few feet off the road.

Police said Brown was thrown into the passenger side of the car and struck the windshield with his head. He was listed in critical condition and was undergoing surgery.

Hockey

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Glen Sonmor, University of Minneosta hockey coach, confirmed reports that he has met with officials of the St. Paul franchise of the new World Hockey Association about the possibility of becoming coach.

"That's not for publication," parried big Claude so the question was put to Lamonica who completed only 12 of 31 passes while fending off the game-long rush.

"He just said, 'I've been trying all day to get to you; well, I finally did.' "

Nicklaus Ahead

By DAVID L. LANGFORD

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)— Boyish-looking Bert Yancey, who trailed Jack Nicklaus by one stroke going into today's final round of the $150,000 Walt Disney World Open golf tournament, couldn't suppress a smile when he heard Nicklaus was unhappy with his game.

"It must be nice to lead a tournament and feel you're playing terribly," said Yancey, who carded a 70 Sunday to put him in sole possession of second place with a 10-under-par total of 206.

Nicklaus, finishing this year's PGA tour with a roar, sloshed around Disney's 6,924-yard Magnolia course under a dismal drizzle and picked up a pair of birdies which gave him a 70 and put him at 11-under-par 205 for the tournament.

AWFUL

"It was terrible," said Nicklaus, who seems unstoppable in his drive to overtake Lee Trevino as the season's top money-winner. "I couldn't believe my wedge play. It was awful, absolutely terrible."

Deane Beman shot a hot 66 and new comer Lanny Wadkins carded a 69 to move into a third place tie at nine-under-par 207.

And Arnold Palmer, who is third on the money list and $29,000 behind Trevino, posted another 70 to put him at eight-under 208 along with Lou Graham, Frank Beard and Dwight Nevil.

BIG 3

Golf's current big three—Nicklaus, Trevino and Palmer— all decided against entering next week's $130,000 Bahamas National Open at Freeport. Thus Trevino's record $229,552, which he has already pocketed this tour, will stand or fall when Disney dishes out the prize money today.

All three had waited until the last minute before making up their minds.

Nicklaus admits he would like the honor of being the golfer who has won the most money in a single season. He's just $16,000 behind Trevino and almost certain to pick up a nice bundle today.

BAHAMAS OUT

But, he said Sunday, "I feel if I don't win tomorrow I don't deserve to be the top money winner. So I've decided not to go to the Bahamas."

Trevino, who has won the U. S., British and Canadian Opens in his most spectacular tour to date, said he is simply "mentally worn out" and needs a rest.

Palmer, who has a slight chance of overtaking the merry Mexican, also said he wouldn't go to the Bahamas, even with the $30,000 Disney first-place prize up for grabs.

Nicklaus, who has been upset with his iron shots and hitting a few practice balls after each round, said "everybody played awful" Sunday.

But he didn't blame the weather for his uninspired round.

Pittsburgh Beaten; Memphis Victorious

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The West had it over the East Sunday night in the American Basketball Association.

In the only two games played, Denver tripped Pittsburgh 118-114 and Memphis downed Virginia 117-113. The scheduled contest between Carolina and the Floridians at Tampa, Fla., was postponed.

Ralph Simpson's 32 points led Denver past Pittsburgh and kept the Rockets a half game behind third place Memphis in the West Division. Pittsburgh's loss dropped the Condors out of a tie for third place in the East with New York and the Floridians.

George Thompson led all Condor scorers with 28 points after Pittsburgh high scorer John Brisker was ejected for fighting with 9:51 remaining in the first period. Brisker squared off with Art Becker of the Rockets.

Wendell Ladner pumped in 27 points for Memphis, 22 of them in the second half when the Pros overcame a 58-51 halftime deficit. Ladner also collected 15 rebounds while teammates Gerald Govan and Wilbert Jones picked off 21 rebounds each.

Charlie Scott and Julius Erving accounted for practically the entire Squires' offense. Scott tallied 38 points, 31 of them in the first half, and Erving netted 36.

Davenport Rehired By Phoenix Giants

PHOENIX (UPI) — Jim Davenport, former infielder with the San Francisco Giants, has been rehired as manager of the Phoenix Giants of the triple-A Pacific Coast League.

"The players gave their maximum for Jim, and that's something you don't always find these days," said general manager Rosy Ryan in announcing the rehiring of the 38-year-old manager.

Ex-Pirate 'Fair'

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Harold "Pie" Traynor was listed in fair condition Sunday after being treated for a respiratory ailment at Allegheny General Hospital. The 72-year old former third baseman of the Pittsubrgh Pirates was treated for a similar ailment several months ago at the hospital.

Oregon State Wins

TUCSON (UPI) —Oregon State piled up 83 1-2 points to 74 for runnerup Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo to win the University of Arizona invitational wrestling tournament over the weekend. John Caccia of Idaho State, which finished third with 69 1-2 points, was the tournament's outstanding wrestler.

healthy backs—Rosey Taylor, Johnny Fuller and Mike Simpson. Nolan has been toying with the idea of using three down linemen, five linebackers and three backs in certain pasing situations, like third and long.

'NEW'

He also promises something new in the way of offense. Until now the San Francisco offense has been one of the most simple and predictable in the NFL—Vic Washington on quick openers, Ken Willard for the shorter, up the middle slants and John Brodie passing long to Gene Washington and short to Ted Kwalick.

"We have something cooking in the way of offense," said Nolan. "It may not work but it might be worth a try. At this stage of the season you have to try anything and hope something will work."

The Kansas City offense, geared around the passing of Ken Dawson and the running of Ed Podolak and Wendell Hayes, is one of the most difficult in the NFL to defend against because the Chiefs use a complex set of formations and run and pass from all of them.

The game will get underway at the unusual time of 6 p.m. PST. That was done to accomodate national tevision but could cause one of the greatest traffic jams in Bay Area history, since people will be trying to get into Candlestick Park at the same time thousands of others will be leaving their offices for home.

D.B. Carm Wins

SAN MATEO (UPI) —D.B. Carm won the $25,000 added San Mateo Stakes at Bay Meadows Saturday by six lengths and became the big favorite for the $100,000 added Juvenile Stakes on Dec. 18.

Cleveland Browns Clinch Crown

Miami, Vikings, Lions Fall In Day Of Upsets

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The field in the race to the Super Bowl apparently doesn't include a super team.

It was somehow symbolic that on a day when the Miami Dolphins, Minnesota Vikings, Oakland Raiders and Detroit aLions were all beaten, the Cleveland Browns clinched the first playoff spot Sunday with a somewhat less than imposing 7-5 record.

The day of upsets left only one pro football team —Miami —with less than three losses and the Dolphins, who were just starting to be touted as the team of the future, weren't exactly super in a 34-13 licking at the hands of —imagine —the New England Patriots.

TITLE WON

Cleveland was able to claim the Central Division AFC title with a 7-5 mark after edging Cincinnati 31-27 because Pittsburgh, now 5-7, lost to Houston 29-3. If both teams finish at 7-7 Cleveland is still the champion because it has wound up its division schedule with a 5-1 mark while Pittsburgh is 3-2 with a game left.

But explaining the rest of the playoff picture is like trying to figure out Phase II. There are four clubs—Miami, Baltimore, Kansas City and Oakland —still vying for the other three spots in the AFC. Six clubs —Dallas, Washington, Minnesota, Detroit, San Francisco and Los Angeles —are prime contenders for the four spots in the NFC and Atlanta still has an outside shot.

CLOSE

Things are so close that the lead in both the NFC and AFC West will be at stake tonight when San Francisco meets Kansas City.

In the other three upsets besides New England's conquest of Miami, Philadelphia stunned Detroit 23-20. San Diego shocked Minnesota 30-14.

Baltimore moved within a half-game of Miami by blanking Buffalo 24-0. Los Angeles moved into a virtual tie with San Francisco by whipping New Orleans 45-28 and Washington remained a half-game behind Dallas by downing the New York Giants 23-7.

In the games in which neither team is a contender, Denver topped Chicago 6-3 and St. Louis tied Green Bay 16-16.

Cincinnati jumped to a 20-7 lead against Cleveland but the Browns fought back and eventually won the game on Leroy Kelly's four-yard touchdown run with 1:48 left in the game. Bill Nelsen hit on 14 of 28 passes for 244 yards and two TDs for the Browns.

BIRTHDAYS

Jim Plunkett, who celebrated his 24th birthday Sunday, and his old Stanford receiver Randy Vataha—who was 23 Saturday—celebrated with a pair of TD passes to give New England its victory over Miami. The Patrior victory snapped Miami's eight-game winning streak. Ailing Bob Griese played for the Dolphins but was lifted in the third period after Larry Carwell's 53-yard touchdown return of a Griese pass.

Minnesota had put together back-to-back 12-2 seasons but the Vikings were beaten for the third time in 1971 when San Diego exploded for 20 points in the final period. John Hadl's five-yard TD pass to Mike Garrett started the rally and two Dennis Partee field goals and Pete Barnes 36-yard touchdown run with an interception finished it.

LISKE PASSES

Pete Liske's five-yard TD pass to Kent Kramer with one minute left gave Philadelphia the victory over Detroit and spoiled the Lions' chance to capitalize on Minnesota's loss. Fifty-three seconds before the Liske-Kramer score, Detroit—which trailed 16-0 at halftime—had taken a 20-16 lead on Greg Landry's five-yard TD run. Tom Dempsey, who kicked his record 63 yarder against the Lions last year, had three field goals including a 52-yarder.

Houston intercepted three Terry Bradshaw passes to set up a 16-point surge in the first half and beat Pittsburgh. Tackle Leo Brooks intercepted a pass to set up a touchdown and safety John Charles set up two field goals with a pair of thefts.

ELLISON SIZZLES

In other games, Larry Brown scored two touchdowns and Curt Knight kicked three field goals in Washington's wn over the Giants; Willie Ellison scored on an 80-yard run, Travis Williams returned a kickoff 105 yards and Roman Gabriel threw three TD passes in the Los Angeles victory over New Orleans; Norm Bulaich's one-yard TD run and Johnny Unitas' first TD pass of the year sparked Baltimore past Buffalo; Jim Turner's 33 and 37 field goals offset Mac Percival's 34-yarder as Denver topped Chicago and Tim Webster's 27-yard field goal as the gun sounded lifted Green Bay to its tie with St. Louis.

TAKE THAT — Philadelphia Eagle right cornerback Nate Ramsey (24) appeared ready to stomp Detroit wide receiver Earl McCullough (25) into the ground. Actually, the veteran secondary performer was trying desperately to avoid landing on the vulnerable flankerback after McCullough slid under Ramsey to try for an errant Greg Landry pass. The Eagles upset the Lions 23-20.

Cincinnati Reds Obtain Uhlaender For Wilcox

CINCINNATI (UPI) —The Cincinnati Reds today acquired outfielder Ted Uhlaender from the Cleveland Indians in a trade for pitcher Milt Wilcox.

The announcement was made jointly by Reds general manager Bob Howsam and Indians general manager Gabe Paul.

Uhlaender, 32, was the American League's 10th leading hitter in 1971 with a .288 average. Howsam said he expects Uhlaender to add depth to the outfield and balance the club with his lefthanded hitting.

The Baylor University graduate broke into baseball in 1961 and crashed the majors in 1965 with the Minnesota Twins. He was traded to Cleveland after the 1969 season and has played regularly with the Indians since then.

Wilcox, 21, spent 1971 playing with both the Reds and their Triple A farm club in Indianapolis. He was 2-2 with the Reds, sporting a 3.35 ERA in 43 innings, and was 8-5 at Indianapolis.

The young righthander was signed by the Reds in 1967 and joined the club after an impressive year at Indianapolis in 1970. He pitched in both the championship series and the 1970 World Series.

Lakers Get 17th Consecutive Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

We all know that records are made to be broken, but NBA teams insist on belaboring the obvious and the fans love it.

The New York Knickerbockers of 1969-70 highlighted their world championship season by establishing the record for consecutive wins with 18.

The diamond in the Milwaukee Bucks' championship tiara last season was a 20-game win streak.

17th STRAIGHT

Now, the Los Angeles Lakers —hoping to continue the pattern set by their predecessors—have won 17 in a row as they enjoy a six-game advantage over Seattle in the Pacific Division of the Western Conference.

The Lakers copped No. 17 Sunday night with a 123-107 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers as Jerry West and Happy Hairston evenly divided 40 points to lead five teammates who hit in double figures.

Los Angeles widened a 54-49 intermission lead to 90-71 with a turnaround third quarter which saw Hairston collect 10 points as the Lakers connected on 15 of 23 field goal attempts.

DEPTH

The great Laker depth was the deciding factor once again as Wilt Chamberlain continued his herculean defensive efforts with 27 rebounds and quarterbacked a football-style fast break, winging long scoring feeds to "receivers" West and Gail Goodrich.

Goodrich finished with 19 points, 14 of which came in the first quarter. Chamberlain added 17, Jim McMillan 15 and Flynn Robinson and Pat Riley 10 each. Gary Gregor collected 20 for 4-21 Portland.

Los Angeles must beat Houston on Dec. 8, Golden State on Dec. 9 and Phoenix on Dec. 10 to equal the record. If that happens, the Lakers get a chance to set the new mark on Dec. 12 in a home contest against Atlanta.

SEATTLE WINS

The Seattle SuperSonics kept pace with the Lakers with a 99-91 triumph over stubborn Cleveland. The Cavaliers hung tough until the final 4:10 of the contest when a basket by Don Kojis and a pair of free throws by Don Smith wiped out an 84-81 Cleveland lead and put Seattle ahead to stay.

Lenny Wilkins tossed in 27 points to lead Seattle while Butch Beard hit on 22 for the Cavs.

What's Going On With Airlift Int.?

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have 2,000 shares of Airlift International purchased for $5,000. It has been de-listed and it is my understanding that the company is in bankruptcy. Can you give me information as to what is going on? — C. R.

A. Shares, which were de-listed by the American Stock Exchange, are currently trading over-the-counter at about 50 cents. Company will request stockholder approval at the Dec. 15 annual meeting of an increase in the corporate equity structure. If approval is granted it will clear the way for a proposed exchange of the now outstanding 6½ per cent and 5¾ per cent debentures into two new classes of convertible preferred stocks. Some 90 per cent of bondholders would have to approve the exchange.

Airlift issued unaudited operating statistics for the first fiscal quarter of the year to end next September. Net income was equal to 2 cents a share. Auditors questioned whether Airlift should have used accounting methods usually reserved for a going concern. Interest arrearages on the two debenture issues amount to about $1.4 million.

Q. I have a large loss in Anaconda. Can the company make it without their Chilean mines or compensation for them? — J. W. Q. — Would you advise selling Anaconda? I need income. — A. J.

A. Chile's increasing participation in Anaconda's mines was apparent in revenues beginning in 1970. In 1970 these properties still accounted for 42 per cent or $1.31 of earnings. As of July this year expropriation was complete and compensation appears highly problematic. North American mines produced 282,413 tons of copper, Chilean capacity was 500,000 tons annually. A sizeable amount of silver, gold, uranium, lead and aluminum are also produced by Anaconda.

Militating against the company has been a prolonged strike and the reduced worldwide copper price. Although a settlement has been reached with labor, the increased costs — about $1.20 an hour — will put an additional squeeze on profit margins. Increasing emphasis and expanded capacity in other metals should gradually replace Chilean losses. However no early dividend resumption is anticipated and A. J. is advised to accept the loss.

Turnover Heavy In Early Hours

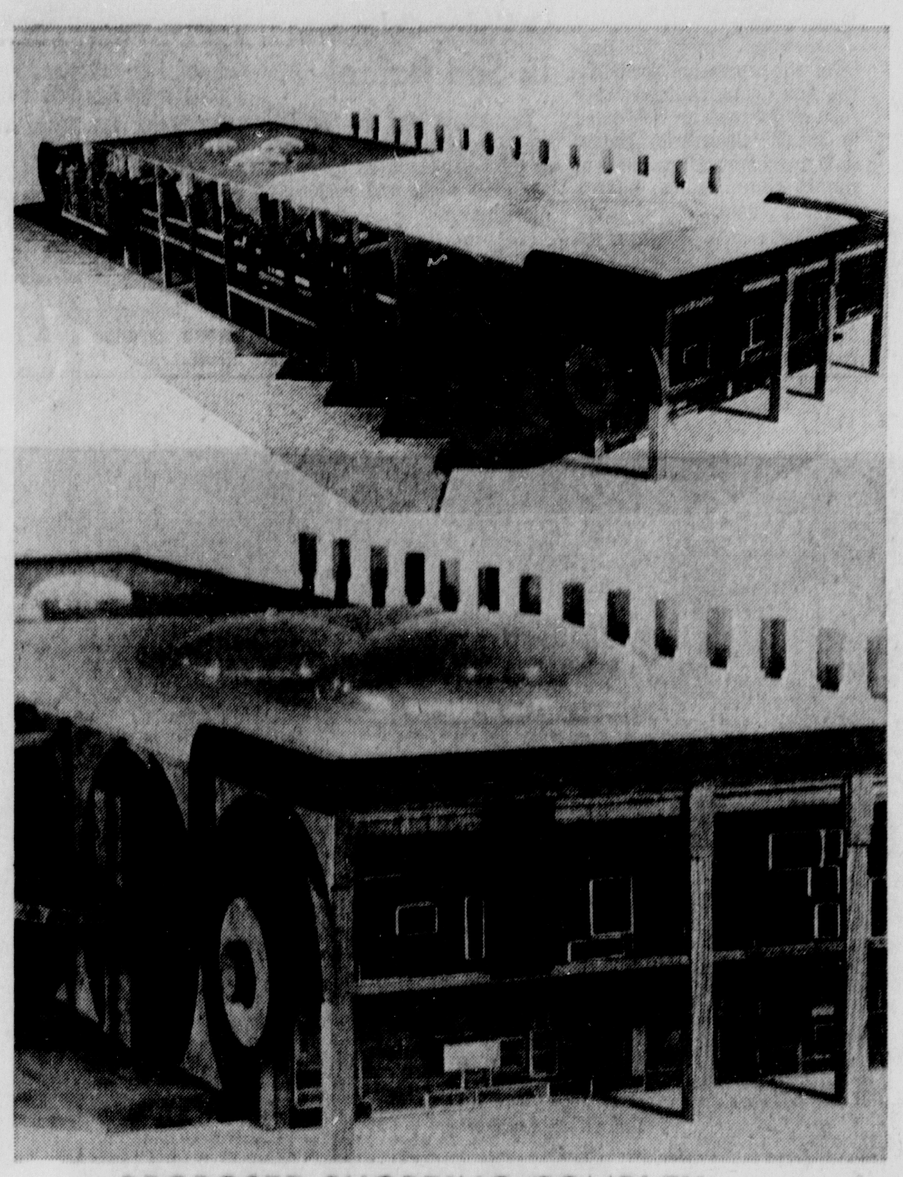

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were strong through the second hour of trading today but below early levels. Turnover was heavy.

Helping bolster the list was the decision by the Federal Reserve Board last Friday to lower to 55 per cent from 65 per cent its margin requirements for purchasing stocks. The rule means that people buying stocks need only pay 55 per cent of the purchase price and may obtain credit for the remaining 45 per cent.

Advances held a wide margin over declines. General Motors bucked the trend. It lost ly on 47,000 shares, Champion Home Builders also slightly higher on 40,000 shares, and Sequoia Industries fractionally higher on 39,000 shares.

PROPOSED SHOPPING COMPLEX —

This is a model of the former Brown's Furniture Store on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley redesigned by architects William Weber Kirsch and Barry M. Resichmann. Inside will be an assortment of open shops lighted through the dome skylights shown on the roof. Entry to the building will be from boardwalks at the front and each side. Miller Avenue facade will feature a glass window mosaic. (See "Other People's Business" elsewhere on this page.)

Distributor Firm Registers Increase

SEATTLE (BW) — Trailer Equipment Distributors Inc. registered net income of $312,301 and earnings of $1.06 per share on $8,100,377 in total revenue for the year ended Sept. 30, report company spokesmen.

The 1971 results are based on a nine-month fiscal reporting period and are compared to net income of $138,998 and earnings of 47 cents per share on $5,723,444 in revenue for the same nine months, unaudited, during 1970.

Property Agents Group Votes 204-75 For Union

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The state Association of Real Property Agents has voted 204-75 to affiliate with the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, AFL-CIO, MEBA offices report.

President Bill Thornton of the real property agents group said the election result "carries us over the threshold of a new era."

"The runaway victory came as no surprise," Thornton said. "Our members displayed unity, mature judgment and support of the best interests of their association."

MEBA president Jesse M. Calhoun hailed the affiliation vote as "one more indication that the 'sleeping giant' — the public employee —is aware of the need to affiliate with a professional organization."

Coast Toy Makers Are Gloomy

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Although retailers in the West have mixed opinions as to how the Christmas season will shape up profitwise, West Coast toy manufacturers for the most part are gloomy.

Hit by a slack in consumer spending and the dock strike, companies like Mattel and Eldon Industries Inc. are bemoaning drops in sales in the first nine months of the year and the impact it is having on earnings this year, according to California Business magazine.

Neither company expects to earn a profit in its current fiscal year and the outlook for the fourth quarter points to a continuing downtrend.

But talk on Wall Street by a number of analysts indicates returning optimism in Mattel's long-run outlooks with some estimating fiscal 1973 may be a record year for the toy manufacturer.

Mattel blames the fact retailers and wholesalers carried-over higher than normal inventories at the end of last year and general weakness in the economy, in addition to the dock strike.

Mattel has seen its stock go from a high this year of $52¼ to a low of $18⅝ where it is currently selling.

Also battered by the West Coast dock strike is Eldon Industries, of Hawthorne. Toys account for about two-thirds of sales and are the primary reason Eldon lost $184,000 or 17 cents a share on sales of $8.45 million. Both profits and sales were down from the similar period of 1970.

One company that has managed to avoid the problems encountered by Mattel and Eldon is Revell of Venice, Calif.

Revell manufactures plastic model toys and in the third quarter netted $30,000 or 5 cents a share, up from losses in last year's third quarter of $210,000 or 35 cents a share. Sales, however, dipped to $4.62 million from $5 million.

Old Brown's Furniture Building Soon To Be 'Old Brown's Store'

A shopping complex under one roof — with each shop open to the other and where it is possible to wander about, buy and browse as you would in a department store — is planned for the former Brown's Furniture building on downtown Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

The two-story structure, located at 30 Miller Avenue and vacant for about 30 months, is now in the hands of Mill Valley real estate investor and developer Frederic A. Baker, Greenbrae electric contractor George Martinez and Michael Lerner, owner of Changing Faces in Sausalito.

They propose to take its 22,000 square feet and transform it into a unique open-type bazaar, with huge skylights in the roof and openings in the second floor so light will penetrate both levels. Architects William Weber Kirsch and Barry M. Reischmann have been working on this for months. Bids will be submitted this week and remodeling should get under way by the middle of January.

Baker, Martinez and Lerner expect to attract high-class shops and they have already lined up a number of tenants. Within the building will be a grocery store, bakery, bicycle shop, plant store, book store, an American Indian collection, two restaurants for lunches and dinners, antique and art shops and other retail facilities. Adding to the open market atmosphere will be walkways, comfortable seating areas and probably puppet shows, guitar players and strolling minstrels. Tenants will recycle their own wastes and there will be offstreet parking.

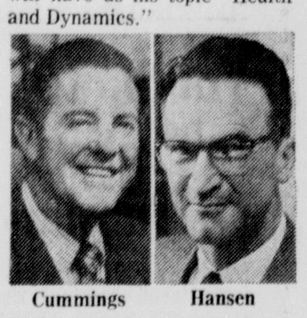

Name of the center, expected to cost approximately $500,000 will be Old Brown's Store. An opening is expected by spring.

SIERRA NATIONAL BANK which has eight branches in Sonoma and Marin counties, is now observing open hours from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

THE MARIN DIVISION of Anthony Schools of San Francisco (real estate and insurance) has moved to larger offices at 4380 Redwood Highway, Northgate Industrial Park. Previous address was 4280 Redwood Highway. Lease was negotiated by Dohemann and Co.

ROBERT CUMMINGS, star of stage, screen, radio and television and a resident of Belvedere, will be guest speaker at tomorrow morning's breakfast meeting of the Marin County Board of Realtors at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

A vice-president of Holiday Magic, he now heads a new firm, Bob Cummings, Inc. He will have as his topic "Health and Dynamics."

Cummings Hansen

CHRISTIAN HANSEN of Corte Madera has been appointed a special project director by the Insurance Services Office and will direct a task force developing a fire rating program for countrywide use. Now manager of the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau schedule department, he will assume his new job Feb. 1 in New York City. He joined the bureau in 1946, was made assistant manager of the schedule department in 1955 and manager in 1962.

AN OPEN HOUSE will be held for classroom visitors by the Montessori School, 620 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda tomorrow between 4 and 5 p.m. Mrs. John Lord of Ross Montessori Schools is administrator.

THE DECORATIONS GUILD at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross will have its Candy Cane Christmas Greens sale next Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A MOBILE HOME PLAN EXECUTED

TOLEDO, Ohio — A unique housing plan in time of disaster:

The Ohio Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Association is prepared to dispatch fleets of mobile homes to disaster areas within hours. The state has 20 mobile home manufacturers, all of whom have agreed to take part in the program.

Director of the organization, Gene Kenner, explains:

"If tragedy strikes any place in Ohio, and people are homeless, we can have as many as 200 mobile homes in the area in from five to seven hours. Eventually, we will have a national disaster network."

Youth, 18, In Probe Of Burglary

An 18-year-old youth was arrested Friday by San Rafael police on suspicion of burglary but his partner escaped after attempting to run down an officer in his car, then vaulting a fence into a creek.

Booked at Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today was Arthur Michael Farmer, of no known address.

Police identified his accomplice as John William Green, 17, of 25 Hayes Street, San Rafael.

Officers said they were patrolling Latham Street at 11:40 p.m. when they saw Farmer walking toward a parked auto carrying an armful of clothing.

They said Farmer began running when he saw the police, but was captured and arrested. Green, who was sitting in the parked auto, then started his car and pulled away from the curb, almost hitting Officer Brandon, who had to leap out of the way.

Brandon got into his patrol car and chased Green along Hayes Street to Second Street. Police said Green pulled up in front of the Music Box Restaurant, 1618 Second Street, and escaped by running down a nearby alley and leaping over a six-foot fence into a creek.

Police said the car Green was driving had been borrowed earlier in the day and that items found in the car were believed to have been stolen from the apartment of Peter Martens, 25 Hayes Street.
